AIRLINER'S FIERY CRASH KILLS 27

Kefauver Due To Throw Hat In Ring Today

DiSalle Postpones His Announcement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Supporters of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), encouraged by reports of a Kefauver boom in the Northwest, said tonight they expect he will formally announce his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination within 24 hours.

National Kefauver-for-President headquarters here strongly hinted the crime-hunting senator will make the announcement at a news conference called for 3 p. m., E. S. T., tomorrow.

In another political development, Price Director Michael V. DiSalle announced a 24-hour postponement in disclosing whether he will seek the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate seat now held by Republican John W. Bricker of Ohio. He had been expected to speak out today.

DiSalle, wise-cracking former mayor of Toledo, O., told newsmen he will announce his decision at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Reports Circulate

New reports circulated that the White House was (a) urging DiSalle to remain as price chief and (b) offering him another important post to keep him in the government.

Kefauver himself did nothing to discourage predictions that he would toss his hat into the ring quickly.

Returning to the nation's capital by plane from Miami, Fla., Kefauver noted that both his name and that of Sen. McMahon (D-Conn) were entered yesterday in the Illinois Democratic primary on April 8

"Sen. McMahon is a good friend and an able man," Kefauver told newsmen. "Competition is a good thing. It should make for a race in fine spirit."

Besides the Illinois primary, backers of Kefauver have indicated they plan to enter his name in the Nebraska primary on April 1.

No Primaries For "Mac"

In Seattle, Wash., reports of a Northwest boom for Kefauver coincided with an apparently growing feeling among some Democrats that President Truman may not seek re-election.

Chairman Harry Henson of the Washington State Democratic Committee said the Democrats there will throw their support to Kefauver if Mr. Truman decides against running again.

On the Republican side of the picture, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reemphasized today that he will not permit his name to be entered—at least with his consent—in any of the presidential primaries.

The general asked that his name be withdrawn from the Illinois GOP primary. State officials said they would do so as soon as they received a notarized request from him.

Blizzard Whips Northern States

[By The Associated Press]

A crippling blizzard whistled across the northern states Tuesday from the Rockies to the Great Lakes. A cold wave followed on its heels.

Nine persons were missing in South Dakota where driving snow piled up on the highways faster than snow plows could push it aside. All had started out on highway trips.

Two motorists were killed on icy streets in Chicago.

Winds reached 50 to 60 miles an hour in South Dakota, 50 miles an hour in North Dakota and 30 to 45 miles an hour in Iowa.

Most highways were blocked tight in the Dakotas after five to 10 inches of new snow. Snow plowing was halted in many areas until winds subside. Paths were filling in as fast as the plows could open them.

Hundreds of schools were closed in Minnesota and the Dakotas.

250,000 Servicemen Shifted From Korea

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—More than 250,000 servicemen have been transferred from Korea to other assignments, the Pentagon reported today.

Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defense, advised chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate Armed Services Committee that promises to rotate all combat personnel who fought in Korea during the winter of 1950-51 "not only have been carried out but exceeded."

Patterson's Loss Is "Tremendous," Truman Declares

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—President Truman tonight described Robert P. Patterson as "a great American and a great public servant."

Mr. Truman issued a statement on the death of Patterson in a plane crash at Elizabeth, N. J.

"My personal loss is tremendous," Truman said. "Our country has lost a man who understood with all his mind and heart the true meaning of our form of government and our way of life and who was willing to fight for them with all the great fists God gave him."

War With Russia Is Not Imminent, "Ike" Believes

European Unification Convention Is Urged

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED POWERS IN EUROPE, Jan. 22 (AP)— Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower published officially today his belief that war with Russia is not imminent.

But he declared North Atlantic forces must be built up and a constitutional convention should be called to unify Europe as part of a great combination of spiritual, economic and military strength to gain permanent security and end the cold war.

He believes Russian leaders realize it would be "very foolish" to start a global war now, but cannot say what they might do in the future. Barring a shooting war, the West is likely to win the cold war, he added.

Talks To Correspondents

The statements of the commander of North Atlantic pact forces were made yesterday to correspondents accredited to his headquarters near Paris in an informal talk followed by a period of questioning. His remarks were released for publication only today and some of them were deleted. They concerned high policy matters primarily.

Eisenhower said nothing about the fact he has been made a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, and the reporters were asked to put no questions on political matters. None did.

He spoke without notes and answered all questions "off the cuff."

Ike Makes Other Points

He made these other points:

1. No nation can expect any other, including the United States, to carry the "entire burden" of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

2. He does not consider Britain a part of Western Europe, and efforts to include her in a federation of Europe and a unified European army would be a "stumbling block rather than a help" because of her world-wide responsibilities.

Carlsen Denies Cargo Not Properly Loaded

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Capt. Henrik Kurt Carlsen testified today it was a wild storm and not improper cargo loading that sent the freighter Flying Enterprise to the Atlantic's bottom.

The skipper, who kept a lonely watch on the ship for two weeks, appeared at a Coast Guard hearing and defended his steamship against some criticism that penetrated the acclaim for his heroism. He did not mention the critics.

Some members of his crew in their testimony before the board of inquiry had criticized the way 1,271 tons of pig iron cargo were stowed.

Hamann Expelled

BONN, Germany, Jan. 22 (AP) — West Germany announced tonight it has expelled Dr. Karl Hamann, minister of supply and trade for Communist East Germany and several aides.

Hamann had entered at Fulda and falsely registered as a farmer.

U. S. Officials Say Armistice Still Possible

Hold Deadlocks Are Not Hopeless

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP) — United States officials taking a new look at the Korean truce negotiations came up today with the conclusion that there is still a reasonable prospect for agreement.

That view takes account of these opinions:

1. The present deadlocks over prisoner exchange and a ban on airfield buildup are not necessarily hopeless. The Reds have given up on tough issues in the past and American concessions on some points may be possible.

2. Despite the irritation of many sessions of repetitious talk and the part of the Reds, patience on the United Nations side will not run out for many weeks. The talks, according to the best estimates here, may go on as much as two months or more, so far as the United Nations are concerned.

These ideas lead to a third possible conclusion which authorities seem to prefer not to go into at the moment. This is that in the spring, unless there is a cease-fire in Korea, there will be a new Korean crisis requiring major decisions as to what the U. N. allies want to do about the war.

TRUCE HELD UP TO REDS

MUNSAN, Korea, Wednesday, Jan. 23 (AP)—The official spokesman for the United Nations command said today he saw no end to the deadlock in Korean truce negotiations unless the Communists make "some substantial gesture" toward compromise.

There was no hint Tuesday that either the Reds or the Allies would back down from the firm position they have taken on truce supervision and prisoner exchange issues.

However, negotiators, wearied by repeated arguments, resumed their Panmunjom sessions at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Tuesday, EST).

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, the U. N. spokesman, declared: "We hope the Communists finally will come to the realization that the U. N. command position is a firm one, and that they will make some substantial gesture toward meeting the U. N. settlement."

WEATHER HALTS FIGHTING

SEOUL, Wednesday, Jan. 23 (AP)—Snow, low clouds and fog brought the Korean fighting almost to a standstill Tuesday.

Communist jets stayed in Manchuria for the first time in a week. U. S. Sabre jets patrolled North Korea without a challenge.

Northwest of Korangpo on the western front, an Allied patrol killed 10 Communists in a short skirmish. Three light Communist probes were repulsed with the help of artillery northwest of Kunhwa on the central front.

Florida Airplane Crash Kills Five

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 22 (AP)—A Lockheed Lodestar on a local test flight lost altitude after taking off on the 20th Street side of Miami's busy International Airport today and spun to earth on the 36th Street side, killing all five persons aboard.

Port Director A. B. Curry said the pilot apparently lost altitude when his right engine failed and attempted to bring the ship in on the busy side of the field, where most regularly-scheduled flights land and take off.

Donald A. Nelson, ramp supervisor, said he saw the plane come nosing in about 100 feet off the runway. It plunged down and exploded and burned on the ground off the side of the runway, near the Eastern Air Lines terminal.

"It looked as if the pilot was trying to avoid other planes on the runway," Nelson said.

The plane belonged to Aerodex, Inc., a maintenance firm.

FTC Acts Against Concern In "Torch Sweater" Case

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission today charged a Philadelphia manufacturer with marketing "highly inflammable" sweaters described by the agency as "dangerous and unsafe to wear."

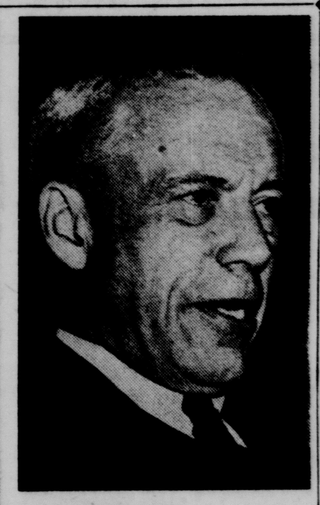
The complaint was filed against Albert H. Fisher and Vincent De Ritis, trading as Fisher and De Ritis, and headquartered at 12th and Carpenter Streets, Philadelphia.

It was the first federal accusation leveled in the "torch sweater" case, which began to hit the headlines earlier this month when some persons complained their sweaters exploded into flame at the touch of a match.

The FTC had said earlier it intended to look into the situation and prosecute anyone found guilty of violating federal laws.

The Philadelphia concern was accused of failing to disclose the nature of the sweater fabric, which FTC said was brush rayon and not wool. FTC said purchasers might have been led to believe from trade marts that it was made of rayon.

Fisher and De Ritis were directed to answer the complaint within 20 days and to appear for a hearing here March 3 before FTC Examiner Everett F. Haycraft.



INFERNO—Firemen battle the flaming ruins of Elizabeth, N. J., homes into which an airliner crashed yesterday, killing 27 persons, including former War Secretary Robert P. Patterson (above). All 23 aboard the plane died in the fiery plunge while the bodies of three children were recovered from the charred debris of their homes. A mother of two of the children is missing.

Elizabeth, N. J., Homes Turned Into Inferno

Ex-War Secretary Patterson Victim

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 22 (AP)—A rain-lashed airliner dived with a flaming roar into a heavily populated residential area here today killing all 23 aboard, including former War Secretary Robert P. Patterson.

At least three other persons—and probably a fourth — perished in their homes when the silver plane rammed into a small apartment house, bringing the total death toll to at least 27.

The bodies of three children were recovered tonight from the charred debris. A mother of two of them is missing.

Earlier, Police Capt. Nicholas Migliore said the official list showed 31 dead but he later revised the figures downward to 27. He speculated, however that the toll would go higher.

The twin-engined American airliner, attempting to land by radar, thundered out of the fog and smashed into the three-story frame building at 345 p. m. (EST). The Convair exploded like a bomb.

Flames shot through two adjacent dwellings and turned the entire closely-built residential section into a crackling inferno of fire and flying debris.

Plane Narrowly Misses School

Screams came from the burning buildings.

The Buffalo-to-Newark plane, caught in heavy fog and rain, narrowly missed Battin High School for girls as it rocketed down over Williamson Street, 2.8 miles short of Newark airport.

The crash ripped the frame dwelling into splinters, and turned an adjoining three-story brick apartment house and a frame duplex house into a sea of flame.

Hours later, 21 bodies had been recovered from the tangled wreckage.

Patterson, 60 year old, had been in Buffalo today on a private law case and had boarded the plane after a last-minute decision to cancel his train reservation.

The 18 plane passengers also included John F. Chester, 45, public relations director of the Carrier Air Conditioning Company of Syracuse, N. Y. Chester was a former general business editor of the Associated Press and a war correspondent during World War II.

In addition to the 18 passengers, the plane carried a crew of three and two company personnel.

City's Second Air Disaster

The fog-curtained plane, being "talked down" by a ground radar observer, skimmed over the Battin school rooftop before it crashed 200 yards away. Some 1,000 girl students had been dismissed only 45 minutes before.

The raging fire, for a time, threatened the entire area, and kept rescue workers at a distance.

Some residents, near hysteria, dashed out of the blazing buildings. One small boy ran screaming, his clothing afire until a bystander stopped him and put out the flames.

By nightfall, all the fire was under control, and platoons of rescue workers clawed through the great, smoking heaps of wreckage in search of more victims.

Two major plane crashes have occurred here in a little over a month.

Only 38 days ago—on Dec. 16—a non-scheduled Newark-to-Florida transport plane crashed about a mile away from the scene of today's tragedy killing all 56 persons aboard.

U. S. Turns Down Soviet U. N. Deal As "Blackmail"

PARIS, Jan. 22 (AP)—The United States today rejected as "blackmail" a Russian proposal that five more Communist countries be given United Nations membership in return for clearance of nine applicants favored by the West.

The American stand was announced in the 60-nation Political Committee by U. S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross despite increasing pressure on the United States behind the scenes to accept the Russian program for such a one-package deal.

Road "Which Has No End"

"Blackmail is always sought in installments and new pretexts for demanding it can always be found," Gross said. "Let us not, through frustration brought about by Soviet abuse of the veto, start down the muddy road which has no end."

The Political Committee is debating a Peruvian proposal which would ask the Security Council to reconsider applications for membership, and have the applicants present evidence showing their qualifications.

The Soviet Union favors the admission of Outer Mongolia, described by Gross as a "shadowy, synthetic" state; Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania and Albania. None has received the majority required to pass the Security Council.

Vetoed Eight Named In Deal

The Soviet Union previously has vetoed eight applicants named in the proposal deal—Italy, Austria, Finland, Ireland, Portugal, Jordan, Ceylon, Nepal.

The 14th applicant is Libya. Her case has not been acted upon.

Gross reminded the committee that Russia's proposal left out the Republic of (South) Korea, which also has been vetoed by Russia. Gross said the republic is fighting against Russian-backed aggression from North Korea and Communist China and he emphatically favors its admission.

John Fox Reportedly Gains Control Of WU

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP) — A former Boston bond salesman, John Fox, has become the largest stockholder of Western Union Telegraph Co. and financial circles here said today that, with associates, he probably had acquired control of the firm.

Fox, 45-year-old financier, could not be reached through his New York office for comment. A Western Union spokesman said the company "is in no position to challenge the accuracy" of the report.

The publicity-shy former Bostonian has been one of the larger stockholders for some time and has been increasing his holdings.

Hood-Wearing Gunmen Rob Bank Of $24,907

WESTBROOK, Me., Jan. 22 (AP)—Two fast-working gunmen who brought Manila shopping bags to carry their loot held up a bank near Portland today and got away by automobile with $24,907.

Arthur Whittaker, 55, manager of the Westbrook Trust Company's Cumberland Mills branch, said he was alone when two men entered at 2 p. m. (EST) wearing knitted hoods over their faces.

Whittaker said one robber covered him with two pistols while the other leaped over a partition, shoved the manager into a corner and opened the unlocked vault.

Ousted Tax Collector Convicted Of Bribery

Delaney Faces Prison Term, Fine

BOSTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Denis W. Delaney, ousted Massachusetts collector of internal revenue, tonight was convicted on all of six counts in two indictments charging he accepted $7,500 to influence tax decisions and falsely certified as paid $180,497 in tax liens.

The conviction carries a possible maxium sentence of 18 years imprisonment and fines of $37,500.

The jury deliberated seven hours and 15 minutes.

The balding 58-year-old Delaney stood staring at the jury while the verdict was reported.

Judge Wyzanski announced that he would wait a report from the probation officer on Delaney before pronouncing sentence. He said he did not believe this would occur this week.

Meanwhile, he continued Delaney's bail of $2,500. Delaney, visibly shaken, shook hands with his counsel and a small group of friends who clustered about him.

Delaney was tried on two indictments, each containing three counts.

The first charged solicitation and receipt of bribes totalling $7,500 from Daniel Friedman, New York insurance man, who testified he gave Delaney half of fees paid him for straightening out clients' tax difficulties.

The second indictment charged Delaney with certifying falsely that tax liens totalling $180,497 had been satisfied. The three counts in this indictment referred to the tax cases of Samuel and Eva Merker of Haverhill, involving a $34,599 tax lien; Morris Leavitt, also of Haverhill, a $10,609 lien; and the Merker Counter Co., Inc., also of Haverhill, a $135,329 lien.

Icy Road Almost Ends Taft's Tour

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 22 (AP)—Icy highways came within inches of putting an end today to the two-day Wisconsin tour of Sen. Taft.

The car carrying the Republican presidential aspirant spun completely around twice on the slick pavement 10 miles south of here and wound up facing in the opposite direction only scant inches out of the path of a big semi-trailer coming from the other way.

"I was scared for a minute, like we all were, but it turned out all right," said Taft after the party arrived here for a reception officially opening his state campaign headquarters.

10 More Killed In Tunisia Riots

TUNIS, TUNISIA, Jan. 22 (AP)—Rioting at the port of Sousse today boosted to 28 the known death toll in a week of clashes between independence-seeking nationalists and police of this French North African protectorate.

Col. Norbert Durand, Arabic-speaking French military commander of the Sousse region, and nine Tunisians fell at that city of 25,000 on the Gulf of Hammamet 70 miles southeast of Tunis.

French sources gave this account of the outburst:

Durand tried to calm a crowd of demonstrators bent on attacking the European quarter. He had almost succeeded when two revolver bullets dropped him to the ground. Tunisians then rushed on the colonel with clubs. Police and troops fired.

(In Paris, the French National Assembly endorsed Premier Edgar Faure's new cabinet by an unusually heavy vote within a few hours after the news arrived. Faure won support for a middle of the road policy in Tunisia, 396 to 220. He said French officials will resume talks with Tunisian leaders with a view to granting them more home rule, but "there will be no abandonment, no departure by France from Tunisia.")

Toronto Strike Settled

TORONTO, Jan. 22 (AP)—Toronto's 19-day transit strike was settled late today. It was announced streetcars and buses will begin running at 5 a. m. tomorrow.

British Envoy Barred By Iran

TEHRAN, Iran, Jan. 22 (AP)—Iran today slammed the door in the face of Robert Hankey, former private secretary to British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, and refused to accept him as Britain's ambassador.

The rejection was announced on a national "patriotic" holiday called by nationalistic Moslems to celebrate another blow at the British—the closing yesterday of all nine British consulates in this country.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government was expected to use the latest anti-British gesture as a propaganda weapon in the elections which began in Tehran today and will continue tomorrow and Thursday. Tehran is choosing 12 of the 136 members of the lower house of parliament.

Heir To Jell-O Millions Plunges To His Death

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 22 (AP)—Orator F. Woodward, 66, heir to the Jell-O millions, leaped to his death today from a window of his $1,600-a-month suite on the eighth floor of the Hotel Sheraton.

His nurse who said he had been suffering from asthma, reported that he went to the window after asking her to get him some lemon and soda. She said she grabbed his pajamas but could not hold on.

Coroner Cornelius P. Danehy gave a verdict of suicide.

Farmer-Vested Crop Controls Backed By Taft

MONROE, Wis., Jan. 22 (AP)—Sen. Taft said tonight that agricultural production controls, when necessary, should be carried out by farmers themselves and not vested in Washington.

"In an emergency it may be absolutely necessary to impose production controls, but when it is done, it ought to be kept as far away as possible from Washington and in the hands of the farmers themselves," Taft said in a speech prepared for delivery at a Chamber of Commerce dinner.

The Ohio Republican presidential candidate addressed an audience of cheesemakers, farmers and business people in this Southwestern Wisconsin cheese producing center.

He said:

"I think there is undoubtedly a point at which the government must step in to protect the farmers against the kind of depression which let them go through the wringers so many times in the past."

The government's place in agriculture, however, he said, as in other fields of activity, should primarily be that of offering advice and assistance.

"At times a reasonable price support will require production controls, although certainly they should be avoided, except in serious emergencies, he added.

"If we have any such controls, however, they ought to be exercised as far as possible by the farmers of each community.

"In the long run, however, I believe very strongly there must not be production controls outside of a very limited number of products, except in serious emergency situations, because they lead inevitably to the government trying to tell every farmer what he can raise and what he can not raise."

Taft said he believed "very strongly in the cooperative principle."

Pilot Dies Three Blocks From Home

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 22 (AP)—The American Airlines plane which crashed here today carried the pilot into a mass of flaming wreckage just three blocks from where he had been residing.

Capt. Thomas J. Reid, 31, a native of this city, had been planning to move to a new home on St. Valentine's Day, his father-in-law, Alexander Poczkowski, said.

Reid, his wife, Henrietta, and their two children, Mirande, 3, and Robin, 18 months, had been living with the Poczkowskis while the new house was being built in Point Pleasant, on the North Jersey Shore.

Elizabeth's Mayor Demands Newark Airport Relocation

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 22 (AP) — Mayor James T. Kirk demanded tonight relocation of Newark airport "regardless of the cost" to remove an "'umbrella of danger" from this city of 112,000. Two major plane crashes have occurred here in a little more than a month.

New Jersey's two senators and a representative in Washington asked also for an investigation of today's American Airlines plane crash and of facilities at Newark airport.

"I don't know how many of these heartbreaking occurrences" must happen before authorities will take action, Mayor Kirk said.

The Convair plane, with 23 occupants that crashed near the heart of the city today, set fire to several homes and narrowly missed hitting a girl's high school.

Just 38 days ago, a big Florida-bound, non-scheduled C-46 caught fire after a takeoff from the airport and crashed into the shallow Elizabeth River, killing 56 persons. It was the nation's second worst commercial plane disaster.

That crash was less than a mile from the scene of today's accident.

Newark airport "was not properly located in the first place," the mayor said, and "regardless of cost it should be moved. We want it taken away from us!"

Dulles Says Japs Want A-Controls

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—John Foster Dulles assured senators today that Japan, the only nation ever subject to atomic attack, would have little chance or desire to produce atomic weapons.

The Japanese are fully aware of the horrors of atomic warfare, Dulles said, and would be eager to endorse a worldwide system of control over atomic weapons.

Testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Dulles also made these points:

1. Some Pacific nations have shown a "reluctance" to line up with the United States in a counterpart of the North Atlantic alliance for the defense of Western Europe.

Partly for that reason—and because of strategic problems no plans are being made now for a master Pacific defense pact.

2. Japan has agreed, in a binding exchange of notes with the United States, to make facilities available to United Nations forces in the event of trouble in the Japanese area.

U. S. Officials Say Armistice Still Possible

Hold Deadlocks Are Not Hopeless

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP) — United States officials taking a new look at the Korean truce negotiations came up today with the conclusion that there is still a reasonable prospect for agreement.

That view takes account of these opinions:

1. The present deadlocks over prisoner exchange and a ban on airfield buildup are not necessarily hopeless. The Reds have given up on tough issues in the past and American concessions on some points may be possible.

2. Despite the irritation of many sessions of repetitious talk and the part of the Reds, patience on the United Nations side will not run out for many weeks. The talks, according to the best estimates here, may go on as much as two months or more, so far as the United Nations are concerned.

These ideas lead to a third possible conclusion which authorities seem to prefer not to go into at the moment. This is that in the spring, unless there is a cease-fire in Korea, there will be a new Korean crisis requiring major decisions as to what the U. N. allies want to do about the war.

TRUCE HELD UP TO REDS

MUNSAN, Korea, Wednesday, Jan. 23 (AP)—The official spokesman for the United Nations command said today he saw no end to the deadlock in Korean truce negotiations unless the Communists make "some substantial gesture" toward compromise.

There was no hint Tuesday that either the Reds or the Allies would back down from the firm position they have taken on truce supervision and prisoner exchange issues.

However, negotiators, wearied by repeated arguments, resumed their Panmunjom sessions at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Tuesday, EST).

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, the U. N. spokesman, declared: "We hope the Communists finally will come to the realization that the U. N. command position is a firm one, and that they will make some substantial gesture toward meeting the U. N. settlement."

WEATHER HALTS FIGHTING

SEOUL, Wednesday, Jan. 23 (AP)—Snow, low clouds and fog brought the Korean fighting almost to a standstill Tuesday.

Communist jets stayed in Manchuria for the first time in a week. U. S. Sabre jets patrolled North Korea without a challenge.

Northwest of Korangpo on the western front, an Allied patrol killed 10 Communists in a short skirmish. Three light Communist probes were repulsed with the help of artillery northwest of Kunhwa on the central front.

Florida Airplane Crash Kills Five

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 22 (AP)—A Lockheed Lodestar on a local test flight lost altitude after taking off on the 20th Street side of Miami's busy International Airport today and spun to earth on the 36th Street side, killing all five persons aboard.

Port Director A. B. Curry said the pilot apparently lost altitude when his right engine failed and attempted to bring the ship in on the busy side of the field, where most regularly-scheduled flights land and take off.

Donald A. Nelson, ramp supervisor, said he saw the plane come nosing in about 100 feet off the runway. It plunged down and exploded and burned on the ground off the side of the runway, near the Eastern Air Lines terminal.

"It looked as if the pilot was trying to avoid other planes on the runway," Nelson said.

The plane belonged to Aerodex, Inc., a maintenance firm.

John Fox Reportedly Gains Control Of WU

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP) — A former Boston bond salesman, John Fox, has become the largest stockholder of Western Union Telegraph Co. and financial circles here said today that, with associates, he probably had acquired control of the firm.

Fox, 45-year-old financier, could not be reached through his New York office for comment. A Western Union spokesman said the company "is in no position to challenge the accuracy" of the report.

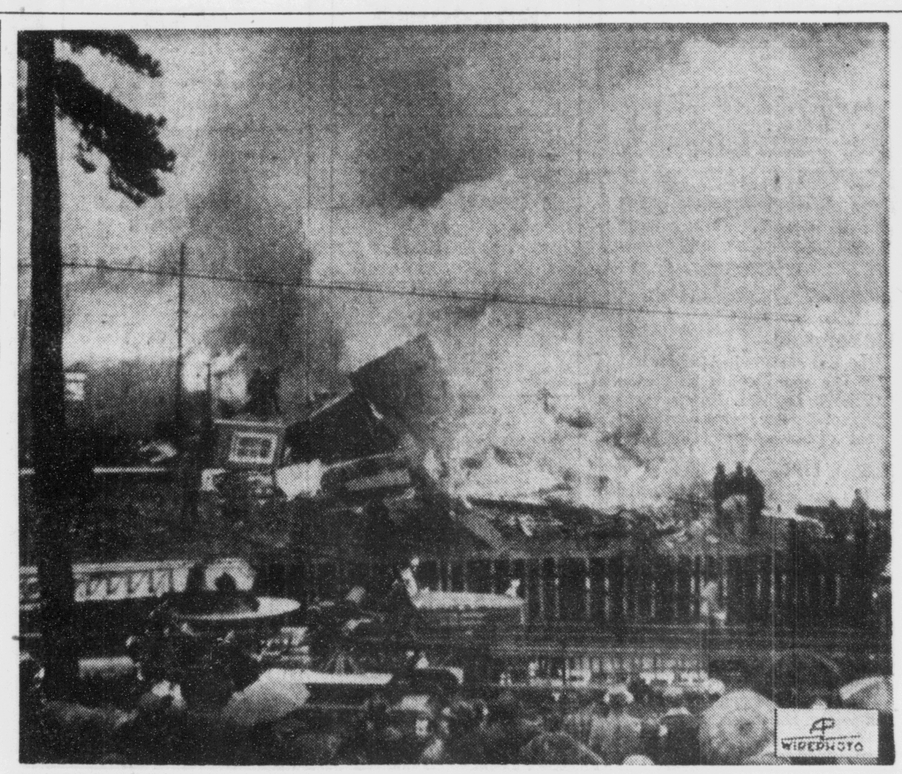
The publicity-shy former Bostonian has been one of the larger stockholders for some time and has been increasing his holdings.

Hood-Wearing Gunmen Rob Bank Of $24,907

WESTBROOK, Me., Jan. 22 (AP)—Two fast-working gunmen who brought Manila shopping bags to carry their loot held up a bank near Portland today and got away by automobile with $24,907.

Arthur Whittaker, 55, manager of the Westbrook Trust Company's Cumberland Mills branch, said he was alone when two men entered at 2 p. m. (EST) wearing knitted hoods over their faces.

Whittaker said one robber covered him with two pistols while the other leaped over a partition, shoved the manager into a corner and opened the unlocked vault.



INFERNO—Firemen battle the flaming ruins of Elizabeth, N. J., homes into which an airliner crashed yesterday, killing 27 persons, including former War Secretary Robert P. Patterson (above). All 23 aboard the plane died in the fiery plunge while the bodies of three children were recovered from the charred debris of their homes. A mother of two of the children is missing.

Elizabeth, N. J., Homes Turned Into Inferno

Ex-War Secretary Patterson Victim

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 22 (AP)—A rain-lashed airliner dived with a flaming roar into a heavily populated residential area here today killing all 23 aboard, including former War Secretary Robert P. Patterson.

At least three other persons—and probably a fourth — perished in their homes when the silver plane rammed into a small apartment house, bringing the total death toll to at least 27.

The bodies of three children were recovered tonight from the charred debris. A mother of two of them is missing.

Earlier, Police Capt. Nicholas Migliore said the official list showed 31 dead but he later revised the figures downward to 27. He speculated, however that the toll would go higher.

The twin-engined American airliner, attempting to land by radar, thundered out of the fog and smashed into the three-story frame building at 345 p. m. (EST). The Convair exploded like a bomb.

Flames shot through two adjacent dwellings and turned the entire closely-built residential section into a crackling inferno of fire and flying debris.

Plane Narrowly Misses School

Screams came from the burning buildings.

The Buffalo-to-Newark plane, caught in heavy fog and rain, narrowly missed Battin High School for girls as it rocketed down over Williamson Street, 2.8 miles short of Newark airport.

The crash ripped the frame dwelling into splinters, and turned an adjoining three-story brick apartment house and a frame duplex house into a sea of flame.

Hours later, 21 bodies had been recovered from the tangled wreckage.

Patterson, 60 year old, had been in Buffalo today on a private law case and had boarded the plane after a last-minute decision to cancel his train reservation.

The 18 plane passengers also included John F. Chester, 45, public relations director of the Carrier Air Conditioning Company of Syracuse, N. Y. Chester was a former general business editor of the Associated Press and a war correspondent during World War II.

In addition to the 18 passengers, the plane carried a crew of three and two company personnel.

City's Second Air Disaster

The fog-curtained plane, being "talked down" by a ground radar observer, skimmed over the Battin school rooftop before it crashed 200 yards away. Some 1,000 girl students had been dismissed only 45 minutes before.

The raging fire, for a time, threatened the entire area, and kept rescue workers at a distance.

Some residents, near hysteria, dashed out of the blazing buildings. One small boy ran screaming, his clothing afire until a bystander stopped him and put out the flames.

By nightfall, all the fire was under control, and platoons of rescue workers clawed through the great, smoking heaps of wreckage in search of more victims.

Two major plane crashes have occurred here in a little over a month.

Only 38 days ago—on Dec. 16—a non-scheduled Newark-to-Florida transport plane crashed about a mile away from the scene of today's tragedy killing all 56 persons aboard.

U. S. Turns Down Soviet U. N. Deal As "Blackmail"

PARIS, Jan. 22 (AP)—The United States today rejected as "blackmail" a Russian proposal that five more Communist countries be given United Nations membership in return for clearance of nine applicants favored by the West.

The American stand was announced in the 60-nation Political Committee by U. S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross despite increasing pressure on the United States behind the scenes to accept the Russian program for such a one-package deal.

Road "Which Has No End"

"Blackmail is always sought in installments and new pretexts for demanding it can always be found," Gross said. "Let us not, through frustration brought about by Soviet abuse of the veto, start down the muddy road which has no end."

The Political Committee is debating a Peruvian proposal which would ask the Security Council to reconsider applications for membership, and have the applicants present evidence showing their qualifications.

The Soviet Union favors the admission of Outer Mongolia, described by Gross as a "shadowy, synthetic" state; Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania and Albania. None has received the majority required to pass the Security Council.

Vetoed Eight Named In Deal

The Soviet Union previously has vetoed eight applicants named in the proposal deal—Italy, Austria, Finland, Ireland, Portugal, Jordan, Ceylon, Nepal.

The 14th applicant is Libya. Her case has not been acted upon.

Gross reminded the committee that Russia's proposal left out the Republic of (South) Korea, which also has been vetoed by Russia. Gross said the republic is fighting against Russian-backed aggression from North Korea and Communist China and he emphatically favors its admission.

Ousted Tax Collector Convicted Of Bribery

Delaney Faces Prison Term, Fine

BOSTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Denis W. Delaney, ousted Massachusetts collector of internal revenue, tonight was convicted on all of six counts in two indictments charging he accepted $7,500 to influence tax decisions and falsely certified as paid $180,497 in tax liens.

The conviction carries a possible maxium sentence of 18 years imprisonment and fines of $37,500.

The jury deliberated seven hours and 15 minutes.

The balding 58-year-old Delaney stood staring at the jury while the verdict was reported.

Judge Wyzanski announced that he would wait a report from the probation officer on Delaney before pronouncing sentence. He said he did not believe this would occur this week.

Meanwhile, he continued Delaney's bail of $2,500. Delaney, visibly shaken, shook hands with his counsel and a small group of friends who clustered about him.

Delaney was tried on two indictments, each containing three counts.

The first charged solicitation and receipt of bribes totalling $7,500 from Daniel Friedman, New York insurance man, who testified he gave Delaney half of fees paid him for straightening out clients' tax difficulties.

The second indictment charged Delaney with certifying falsely that tax liens totalling $180,497 had been satisfied. The three counts in this indictment referred to the tax cases of Samuel and Eva Merker of Haverhill, involving a $34,599 tax lien; Morris Leavitt, also of Haverhill, a $10,609 lien; and the Merker Counter Co., Inc., also of Haverhill, a $135,329 lien.

Icy Road Almost Ends Taft's Tour

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 22 (AP)—Icy highways came within inches of putting an end today to the two-day Wisconsin tour of Sen. Taft.

The car carrying the Republican presidential aspirant spun completely around twice on the slick pavement 10 miles south of here and wound up facing in the opposite direction only scant inches out of the path of a big semi-trailer coming from the other way.

"I was scared for a minute, like we all were, but it turned out all right," said Taft after the party arrived here for a reception officially opening his state campaign headquarters.

10 More Killed In Tunisia Riots

TUNIS, TUNISIA, Jan. 22 (AP)—Rioting at the port of Sousse today boosted to 28 the known death toll in a week of clashes between independence - seeking nationalists and police of this French North African protectorate.

Col. Norbert Durand, Arabic-speaking French military commander of the Sousse region, and nine Tunisians fell at that city of 25,000 on the Gulf of Hammamet 70 miles southeast of Tunis.

French sources gave this account of the outburst:

Durand tried to calm a crowd of demonstrators bent on attacking the European quarter. He had almost succeeded when two revolver bullets dropped him to the ground. Tunisians then rushed on the colonel with clubs. Police and troops fired.

(In Paris, the French National Assembly endorsed Premier Edgar Faure's new cabinet by an unusually heavy vote within a few hours after the news arrived. Faure won support for a middle of the road policy in Tunisia, 396 to 220. He said French officials will resume talks with Tunisian leaders with a view to granting them more home rule, but "there will be no abandonment, no departure by France from Tunisia.")

Toronto Strike Settled

TORONTO, Jan. 22 (AP)—Toronto's 19-day transit strike was settled late today. It was announced streetcars and buses will begin running at 5 a. m. tomorrow.

British Envoy Barred By Iran

TEHRAN, Iran, Jan. 22 (AP)—Iran today slammed the door in the face of Robert Hankey, former private secretary to British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, and refused to accept him as Britain's ambassador.

The rejection was announced on a national "patriotic" holiday called by nationalistic Moslems to celebrate another blow at the British—the closing yesterday of all nine British consulates in this country.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government was expected to use the latest anti-British gesture as a propaganda weapon in the elections which began in Tehran today and will continue tomorrow and Thursday. Tehran is choosing 12 of the 136 members of the lower house of parliament.

Heir To Jell-O Millions Plunges To His Death

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 22 (AP)—Orator F. Woodward, 66, heir to the Jell-O millions, leaped to his death today from a window of his $1,600-a-month suite on the eighth floor of the Hotel Sheraton.

His nurse who said he had been suffering from asthma, reported that he went to the window after asking her to get him some lemon and soda. She said she grabbed his pajamas but could not hold on.

Coroner Cornelius P. Danehy gave a verdict of suicide.

Farmer-Vested Crop Controls Backed By Taft

MONROE, Wis., Jan. 22 (AP)—Sen. Taft said tonight that agricultural production controls, when necessary, should be carried out by farmers themselves and not vested in Washington.

"In an emergency it may be absolutely necessary to impose production controls, but when it is done, it ought to be kept as far away as possible from Washington and in the hands of the farmers themselves," Taft said in a speech prepared for delivery at a Chamber of Commerce dinner.

The Ohio Republican presidential candidate addressed an audience of cheesemakers, farmers and business people in this Southwestern Wisconsin cheese producing center.

He said:

"I think there is undoubtedly a point at which the government must step in to protect the farmers against the kind of depression which let them go through the wringers so many times in the past."

The government's place in agriculture, however, he said, as in other fields of activity, should primarily be that of offering advice and assistance.

"At times a reasonable price support will require production controls, although certainly they should be avoided, except in serious emergencies, he added.

"If we have any such controls, however, they ought to be exercised as far as possible by the farmers of each community.

"In the long run, however, I believe very strongly there must not be production controls outside of a very limited number of products, except in serious emergency situations, because they lead inevitably to the government trying to tell every farmer what he can raise and what he can not raise."

Taft said he believed "very strongly in the cooperative principle."

Pilot Dies Three Blocks From Home

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 22 (AP)—The American Airlines plane which crashed here today carried the pilot into a mass of flaming wreckage just three blocks from where he had been residing.

Capt. Thomas J. Reid, 31, a native of this city, had been planning to move to a new home on St. Valentine's Day, his father-in-law, Alexander Poczkowski, said.

Reid, his wife, Henrietta, and their two children, Mirande, 3, and Robin, 18 months, had been living with the Poczkowskis while the new house was being built in Point Pleasant, on the North Jersey Shore.

Elizabeth's Mayor Demands Newark Airport Relocation

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 22 (AP) — Mayor James T. Kirk demanded tonight relocation of Newark airport "regardless of the cost" to remove an "umbrella of danger" from this city of 112,000. Two major plane crashes have occurred here in a little more than a month.

New Jersey's two senators and a representative in Washington asked also for an investigation of today's American Airlines plane crash and of facilities at Newark airport.

"I don't know how many of these heartbreaking occurrences" must happen before authorities will take action, Mayor Kirk said.

The Convair plane, with 23 occupants that crashed near the heart of the city today, set fire to several homes and narrowly missed hitting a girl's high school.

Just 38 days ago, a big Florida-bound, non-scheduled C-46 caught fire after a takeoff from the airport and crashed into the shallow Elizabeth River, killing 56 persons. It was the nation's second worst commercial plane disaster.

That crash was less than a mile from the scene of today's accident.

Newark airport "was not properly located in the first place," the mayor said, and "regardless of cost it should be moved. We want it taken away from us!"

Dulles Says Japs Want A-Controls

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—John Foster Dulles assured senators today that Japan, the only nation ever subject to atomic attack, would have little chance or desire to produce atomic weapons.

The Japanese are fully aware of the horrors of atomic warfare, Dulles said, and would be eager to endorse a worldwide system of control over atomic weapons.

Testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Dulles also made these points:

1. Some Pacific nations have shown a "reluctance" to line up with the United States in a counterpart of the North Atlantic alliance for the defense of Western Europe.

Partly for that reason—and because of strategic problems no plans are being made now for a master Pacific defense pact.

2. Japan has agreed, in a binding exchange of notes with the United States, to make facilities available to United Nations forces in the event of trouble in the Japanese area.

Weather Forecast
Partly cloudy, rather windy and colder today; fair and colder tomorrow.

AIRLINER'S FIERY CRASH KILLS 27

Kefauver Due To Throw Hat In Ring Today

DiSalle Postpones His Announcement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Supporters of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), encouraged by reports of a Kefauver boom in the Northwest, said tonight they expect he will formally announce his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination within 24 hours.

National Kefauver-for-President headquarters here strongly hinted the crime-hunting senator will make the announcement at a news conference called for 3 p. m., E. S. T., tomorrow.

In another political development, Price Director Michael V. DiSalle announced a 24-hour postponement in disclosing whether he will seek the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate seat now held by Republican John W. Bricker of Ohio. He had been expected to speak out today.

DiSalle, wise-cracking former mayor of Toledo, O., told newsmen he will announce his decision at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Reports Circulate

New reports circulated that the White House was (a) urging DiSalle to remain as price chief and (b) offering him another important post to keep him in the government.

Kefauver himself did nothing to discourage predictions that he would toss his hat into the ring quickly.

Returning to the nation's capital by plane from Miami, Fla., Kefauver noted that both his name and that of Sen. McMahon (D-Conn) were entered yesterday in the Illinois Democratic primary on April 8.

"Sen. McMahon is a good friend and an able man," Kefauver told newsmen. "Competition is a good thing. It should make for a race in fine spirit."

Besides the Illinois primary, backers of Kefauver have indicated they plan to enter his name in the Nebraska primary on April 1.

No Primaries For "Mac"

In Seattle, Wash., reports of a Northwest boom for Kefauver coincided with an apparently growing feeling among some Democrats that President Truman may not seek re-election.

Chairman Harry Henson of the Washington State Democratic Committee said the Democrats there will throw their support to Kefauver if Mr. Truman decides against running again.

On the Republican side of the picture, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reemphasized today that he will not permit his name to be entered—at least with his consent—in any of the presidential primaries.

The general asked that his name be withdrawn from the Illinois GOP primary. State officials said they would do so as soon as they received a notarized request from him.

Blizzard Whips Northern States

[By The Associated Press]

A crippling blizzard whistled across the northern states Tuesday from the Rockies to the Great Lakes. A cold wave followed on its heels.

Nine persons were missing in South Dakota where driving snow piled up on the highways faster than snow plows could push it aside. All had started out on highway trips.

Two motorists were killed on icy streets in Chicago.

Winds reached 50 to 60 miles an hour in South Dakota, 50 miles an hour in North Dakota and 30 to 45 miles an hour in Iowa.

Most highways were blocked tight in the Dakotas after five to 10 inches of new snow. Snow plowing was halted in many areas until winds subside. Paths were filling in as fast as the plows could open them.

Hundreds of schools were closed in Minnesota and the Dakotas.

250,000 Servicemen Shifted From Korea

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—More than 250,000 servicemen have been transferred from Korea to other assignments, the Pentagon reported today.

Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defense, advised chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate Armed Services Committee that promises to rotate all combat personnel who fought in Korea during the winter of 1950-51 "not only have been carried out but exceeded."

Patterson's Loss Is "Tremendous," Truman Declares

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—President Truman tonight described Robert P. Patterson as "a great American and a great public servant."

Mr. Truman issued a statement on the death of Patterson in a plane crash at Elizabeth, N. J.

"My personal loss is tremendous," Truman said. "Our country has lost a man who understood with all his mind and heart the true meaning of our form of government and our way of life and who was willing to fight for them with all the great fists God gave him."

War With Russia Is Not Imminent, "Ike" Believes

European Unification Convention Is Urged

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED POWERS IN EUROPE, Jan. 22 (AP)— Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower published officially today his belief that war with Russia is not imminent.

But he declared North Atlantic forces must be built up and a constitutional convention should be called to unify Europe as part of a great combination of spiritual, economic and military strength to gain permanent security and end the cold war.

He believes Russian leaders realize it would be "very foolish" to start a global war now, but cannot say what they might do in the future. Barring a shooting war, the West is likely to win the cold war, he added.

Talks To Correspondents

The statements of the commander of North Atlantic pact forces were made yesterday to correspondents accredited to his headquarters near Paris in an informal talk followed by a period of questioning. His remarks were released for publication only today and some of them were deleted. They concerned high policy matters primarily.

Eisenhower said nothing about the fact he has been made a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, and the reporters were asked to put no questions on political matters. None did.

He spoke without notes and answered all questions "off the cuff."

Ike Makes Other Points

He made these other points:

1. No nation can expect any other, including the United States, to carry the "entire burden" of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

2. He does not consider Britain a part of Western Europe, and efforts to include her in a federation of Europe and a unified European army would be a "stumbling block rather than a help" because of her world-wide responsibilities.

Carlsen Denies Cargo Not Properly Loaded

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Capt. Henrik Kurt Carlsen testified today it was a wild storm and not improper cargo loading that sent the freighter Flying Enterprise to the Atlantic's bottom.

The skipper, who kept a lonely watch on the ship for two weeks, appeared at a Coast Guard hearing and defended his steamship against some criticism that penetrated the acclaim for his heroism. He did not mention the critics.

Some members of his crew in their testimony before the board of inquiry had criticized the way 1,271 tons of pig iron cargo were stowed.

Hamann Expelled

BONN, Germany, Jan. 22 (AP) — West Germany announced tonight it has expelled Dr. Karl Hamann, minister of supply and trade for Communist East Germany and several aides.

Hamann had entered at Fulda and falsely registered as a farmer.

FTC Acts Against Concern In "Torch Sweater" Case

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission today charged a Philadelphia manufacturer with marketing "highly inflammable" sweaters described by the agency as "dangerous and unsafe to wear."

The complaint was filed against Albert H. Fisher and Vincent De Ritis, trading as Fisher and De Ritis, and headquartered at 12th and Carpenter Streets, Philadelphia.

It was the first federal accusation leveled in the "torch sweater" case, which began to hit the headlines earlier this month when some persons complained their sweaters exploded into flame at the touch of a match.

The FTC had said earlier it intended to look into the situation and prosecute anyone found guilty of violating federal laws.

The Philadelphia concern was accused of failing to disclose the nature of the sweater fabric, which FTC said was brush rayon and not wool. FTC said purchasers might have been led to believe from trade marts that it was made of rayon.

Fisher and De Ritis were directed to answer the complaint within 20 days and to appear for a hearing here March 3 before FTC Examiner Everett F. Haycraft.

Road "Which Has No End"

"Blackmail is always sought in installments and new pretexts for demanding it can always be found," Gross said. "Let us not, through frustration brought about by Soviet abuse of the veto, start down the muddy road which has no end."

The Political Committee is debating a Peruvian proposal which would ask the Security Council to reconsider applications for membership, and have the applicants present evidence showing their qualifications.

The Soviet Union favors the admission of Outer Mongolia, described by Gross as a "shadowy, synthetic" state; Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania and Albania. None has received the majority required to pass the Security Council.

Vetoed Eight Named In Deal

The Soviet Union previously has vetoed eight applicants named in the proposal deal—Italy, Austria, Finland, Ireland, Portugal, Jordan, Ceylon, Nepal.

The 14th applicant is Libya. Her case has not been acted upon.

Gross reminded the committee that Russia's proposal left out the Republic of (South) Korea, which also has been vetoed by Russia. Gross said the republic is fighting against Russian-backed aggression from North Korea and Communist China and he emphatically favors its admission.

John Fox Reportedly Gains Control Of WU

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP) — A former Boston bond salesman, John Fox, has become the largest stockholder of Western Union Telegraph Co. and financial circles here said today that, with associates, he probably had acquired control of the firm.

Fox, 45-year-old financier, could not be reached through his New York office for comment. A Western Union spokesman said the company "is in no position to challenge the accuracy" of the report.

The publicity-shy former Bostonian has been one of the larger stockholders for some time and has been increasing his holdings.

Hood-Wearing Gunmen Rob Bank Of $24,907

WESTBROOK, Me., Jan. 22 (AP)—Two fast-working gunmen who brought Manila shopping bags to carry their loot held up a bank near Portland today and got away by automobile with $24,907.

Arthur Whittaker, 55, manager of the Westbrook Trust Company's Cumberland Mills branch, said he was alone when two men entered at 2 p. m. (EST) wearing knitted hoods over their faces.

Whittaker said one robber covered him with two pistols while the other leaped over a partition, shoved the manager into a corner and opened the unlocked vault.

Ousted Tax Collector Convicted Of Bribery

Delaney Faces Prison Term, Fine

BOSTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Denis W. Delaney, ousted Massachusetts collector of internal revenue, tonight was convicted on all of six counts in two indictments charging he accepted $7,500 to influence tax decisions and falsely certified as paid $180,497 in tax liens.

The conviction carries a possible maxium sentence of 18 years imprisonment and fines of $37,500.

The jury deliberated seven hours and 15 minutes.

The balding 58-year-old Delaney stood staring at the jury while the verdict was reported.

Judge Wyzanski announced that he would wait a report from the probation officer on Delaney before pronouncing sentence. He said he did not believe this would occur this week.

Meanwhile, he continued Delaney's bail of $2,500. Delaney, visibly shaken, shook hands with his counsel and a small group of friends who clustered about him.

Delaney was tried on two indictments, each containing three counts.

The first charged solicitation and receipt of bribes totalling $7,500 from Daniel Friedman, New York insurance man, who testified he gave Delaney half of fees paid him for straightening out clients' tax difficulties.

The second indictment charged Delaney with certifying falsely that tax liens totalling $180,497 had been satisfied. The three counts in this indictment referred to the tax cases of Samuel and Eva Merker of Haverhill, involving a $34,599 tax lien; Morris Leavitt, also of Haverhill, a $10,609 lien; and the Merker Counter Co., Inc., also of Haverhill, a $135,329 lien.

Icy Road Almost Ends Taft's Tour

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 22 (AP)—Icy highways came within inches of putting an end today to the two-day Wisconsin tour of Sen. Taft.

The car carrying the Republican presidential aspirant spun completely around twice on the slick pavement 10 miles south of here and wound up facing in the opposite direction only scant inches out of the path of a big semi-trailer coming from the other way.

"I was scared for a minute, like we all were, but it turned out all right," said Taft after the party arrived here for a reception officially opening his state campaign headquarters.

10 More Killed In Tunisia Riots

TUNIS, TUNISIA, Jan. 22 (AP)—Rioting at the port of Sousse today boosted to 28 the known death toll in a week of clashes between independence-seeking nationalists and police of this French North African protectorate.

Col. Norbert Durand, Arabic-speaking French military commander of the Sousse region, and nine Tunisians fell at that city of 25,000 on the Gulf of Hammamet 70 miles southeast of Tunis.

French sources gave this account of the outburst:

Durand tried to calm a crowd of demonstrators bent on attacking the European quarter. He had almost succeeded when two revolver bullets dropped him to the ground. Tunisians then rushed on the colonel with clubs. Police and troops fired.

(In Paris, the French National Assembly endorsed Premier Edgar Faure's new cabinet by an unusually heavy vote within a few hours after the news arrived. Faure won support for a middle of the road policy in Tunisia, 396 to 220. He said French officials will resume talks with Tunisian leaders with a view to granting them more home rule, but "there will be no abandonment, no departure by France from Tunisia.")

Toronto Strike Settled

TORONTO, Jan. 22 (AP)—Toronto's 19-day transit strike was settled late today. It was announced streetcars and buses will begin running at 5 a. m. tomorrow.

British Envoy Barred By Iran

TEHRAN, Iran, Jan. 22 (AP)—Iran today slammed the door in the face of Robert Hankey, former private secretary to British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, and refused to accept him as Britain's ambassador.

The rejection was announced on a national "patriotic" holiday called by nationalistic Moslems to celebrate another blow at the British—the closing yesterday of all nine British consulates in this country.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government was expected to use the latest anti-British gesture as a propaganda weapon in the elections which began in Tehran today and will continue tomorrow and Thursday. Tehran is choosing 12 of the 136 members of the lower house of parliament.

Heir To Jell-O Millions Plunges To His Death

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 22 (AP)—Orator F. Woodward, 66, heir to the Jell-O millions, leaped to his death today from a window of his $1,600-a-month suite on the eighth floor of the Hotel Sheraton.

His nurse who said he had been suffering from asthma, reported that he went to the window after asking her to get him some lemon and soda. She said she grabbed his pajamas but could not hold on.

Coroner Cornelius P. Danehy gave a verdict of suicide.

Farmer-Vested Crop Controls Backed By Taft

MONROE, Wis., Jan. 22 (AP)—Sen. Taft said tonight that agricultural production controls, when necessary, should be carried out by farmers themselves and not vested in Washington.

"In an emergency it may be absolutely necessary to impose production controls, but when it is done, it ought to be kept as far away as possible from Washington and in the hands of the farmers themselves," Taft said in a speech prepared for delivery at a Chamber of Commerce dinner.

The Ohio Republican presidential candidate addressed an audience of cheesemakers, farmers and business people in this Southwestern Wisconsin cheese producing center.

He said:

"I think there is undoubtedly a point at which the government must step in to protect the farmers against the kind of depression which let them go through the wringers so many times in the past."

The government's place in agriculture, however, he said, as in other fields of activity, should primarily be that of offering advice and assistance.

"At times a reasonable price support will require production controls, although certainly they should be avoided, except in serious emergencies, he added.

"If we have any such controls, however, they ought to be exercised as far as possible by the farmers of each community.

"In the long run, however, I believe very strongly there must not be production controls outside of a very limited number of products, except in serious emergency situations, because they lead inevitably to the government trying to tell every farmer what he can raise and what he can not raise."

Taft said he believed "very strongly in the cooperative principle."

Pilot Dies Three Blocks From Home

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 22 (AP)—The American Airlines plane which crashed here today carried the pilot into a mass of flaming wreckage just three blocks from where he had been residing.

Capt. Thomas J. Reid, 31, a native of this city, had been planning to move to a new home on St. Valentine's Day, his father-in-law, Alexander Poczkowski, said.

Reid, his wife, Henrietta, and their two children, Mirande, 3, and Robin, 18 months, had been living with the Poczkowskis while the new house was being built in Point Pleasant, on the North Jersey Shore.

Elizabeth's Mayor Demands Newark Airport Relocation

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 22 (AP) — Mayor James T. Kirk demanded tonight relocation of Newark airport "regardless of the cost" to remove an "umbrella of danger" from this city of 112,000. Two major plane crashes have occurred here in a little more than a month.

New Jersey's two senators and a representative in Washington asked also for an investigation of today's American Airlines plane crash and of facilities at Newark airport.

"I don't know how many of these heartbreaking occurrences" must happen before authorities will take action, Mayor Kirk said.

The Convair plane, with 23 occupants that crashed near the heart of the city today, set fire to several homes and narrowly missed hitting a girl's high school.

Just 38 days ago, a big Florida-bound, non-scheduled C-46 caught fire after a takeoff from the airport and crashed into the shallow Elizabeth River, killing 56 persons. It was the nation's second worst commercial plane disaster.

That crash was less than a mile from the scene of today's accident.

Newark airport "was not properly located in the first place," the mayor said, and "regardless of cost it should be moved. We want it taken away from us!"

Students Plan Tour Of Plant

Approximately 50 Allegany High School students will be taken on a tour of the Potomac Edison River Plant today at 1:30 p. m.

George M. Hitchcock, city smoke abatement engineer who will accompany them, said the tour is a part of a study of smoke abatement. He said he expected to show them the problems facing the abatement department here.

On Thursday at 9 a. m., the Western Maryland Railway will begin testing six new multiple jet units at Maryland Junction in an effort to solve the abatement problem.

Hitchcock said the multiple jets will be tested on two units, stationary boilers and locomotives. While the junction is out of city jurisdiction, it is hoped the jets will enable the units coming within the scope of the city ordinance to meet its restrictions.

Hitchcock asserted it was through the "cooperative spirit" of the Western Maryland to make smoke abatement a reality that the tests are made possible.

The City Smoke Advisory Board was scheduled to meet this afternoon for a discussion of probable changes in the smoke ordinance.

Hitchcock said the suggested changes would be discussed with industry before any action is taken.

New Members Join Holy Name Society

A reception of new members into the Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Catholic Church was held following the evening services Sunday. There were 35 candidates in the group admitted.

Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Church and moderator of the Western Maryland Section of the Holy Name Society, delivered the sermon and Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's and moderator of the parish unit, conferred the obligations of the order on the class.

Following the service, refreshments were served in the Social Center of the church. Brief talks were made by Father Kilkenny; Norman Fearnow, president of the parish society; and Michael F. O'Neil, believed to be the only surviving charter member of the parish society. The St. Patrick's unit was the first chapter formed in Western Maryland.

Scout Review Board Set Next Tuesday

The Cumberland District Board of Review, Boy Scouts of America, has been postponed to next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Scout office instead of the regular time tonight, according to John L. Towler, district advancement chairman.

Towler said the reason for the postponement was to give Scouts an extra week to prepare for advancement ratings prior to the Court of Honor during Boy Scouts Week, February 6 to 12.

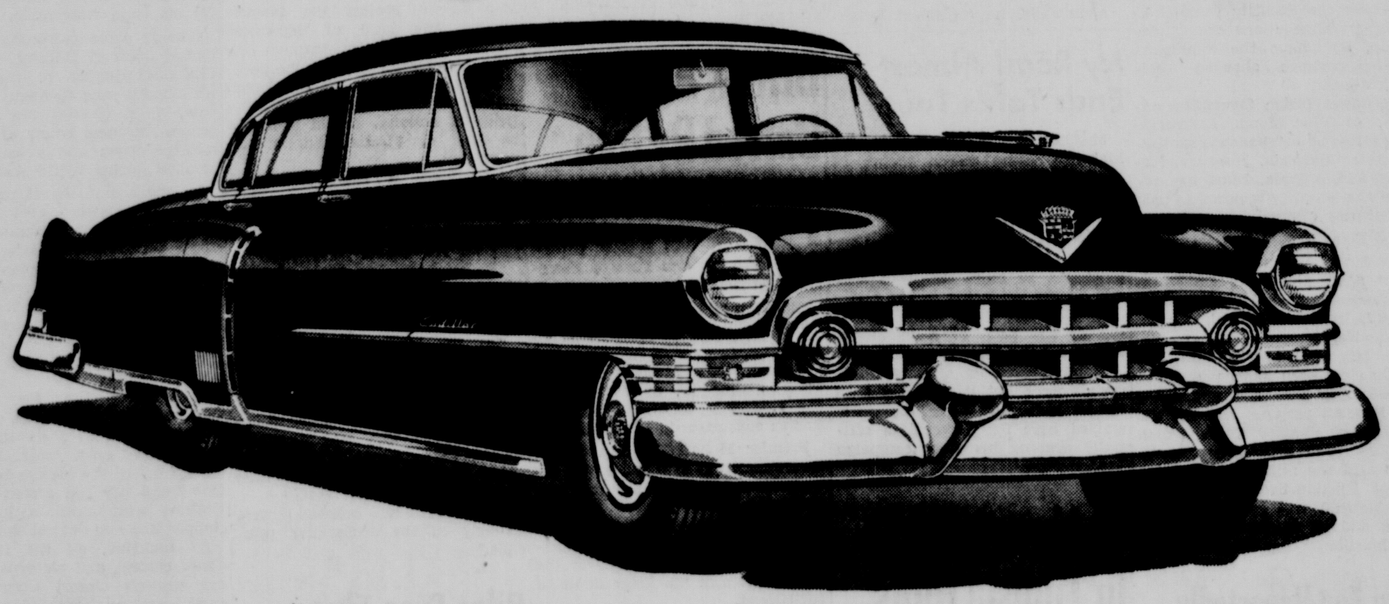
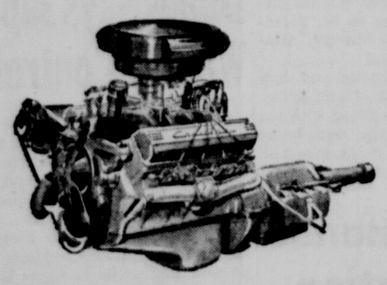
Announcing the Golden Anniversary of Cadillac



...WITH THE FINEST PERFORMANCE OF ALL TIME!

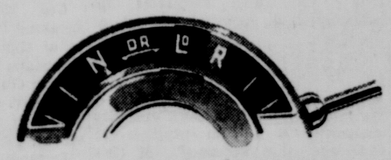
Featuring 3 of Cadillac's Greatest Engineering Achievements!



THE NEW 190 H. P. CADILLAC ENGINE

Here is the most powerful, the most durable, and the most efficient automotive engine ever offered in a Cadillac car. Its power increase alone is almost 20%—and its new four-throated carburetor, larger exhaust valves, wider exhaust ports and new dual exhaust system make this engine one of the most dynamic performers of all time.

Fifty years ago, the first Cadillac car made its bow to the public. Today, as a fitting climax to those fifty years of progress, we are presenting in our showrooms the Golden Anniversary Cadillac—by far the finest car ever to bear this distinguished name. . . . It is easily the most beautiful of all Cadillacs. Numerous changes have sharpened and smartened the exterior design—while the wholly-new interiors are a revelation in comfort and luxury. . . . Performance is the finest of all time. The great Cadillac engine has a power increase of almost twenty per cent—and is even smoother and quieter in its operation. . . . There's a new Hydra-Matic Drive that gives the proper power application for every need. At a flick of the finger, you can have extra power and acceleration for city traffic and mountain driving—or wonderfully smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance for the open road. . . . And there's a new "power steering" mechanism, optional at extra cost, which reduces normal steering effort by as much as seventy-five per cent! . . . If ever it could be said of a car's performance that it is "out of this world," it can be said of the performance of the new Cadillac. The Golden Anniversary Cadillac is available in three series—the "Sixty-Two," the "Sixty Special" and the "Seventy-Five." . . . These new creations are now on display in our showrooms—and we invite you to see and inspect them at your earliest convenience.



THE NEW HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE

By introducing an entirely new performance range, Cadillac's Hydra-Matic provides the proper power for every need . . . extra acceleration and responsiveness for city and mountain driving; smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance for the open road. Optional at extra cost on Series 75. Standard equipment on all other models.

THE NEW CADILLAC POWER STEERING

This "power steering" mechanism eliminates as much as seventy-five per cent of all normal steering effort. It provides incredible handling ease, and yet does not interfere in any way with the driver's "road feel" or directional control. Available as an option at extra cost.

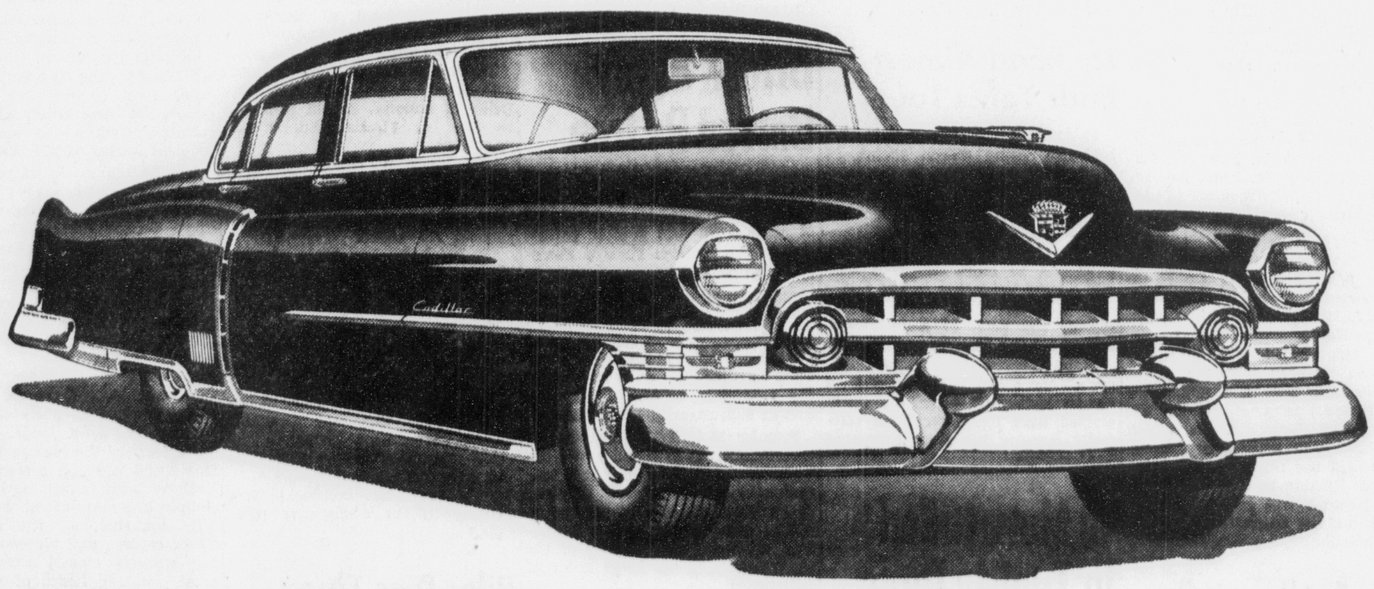
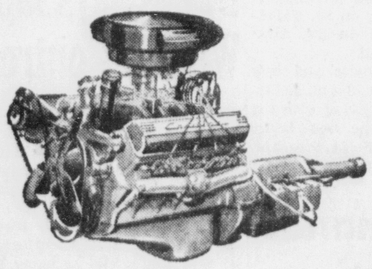
Announcing the Golden Anniversary— Cadillac



...WITH THE FINEST PERFORMANCE OF ALL TIME!

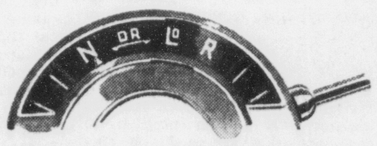
Featuring 3 of Cadillac's Greatest Engineering Achievements!



THE NEW 190 H. P. CADILLAC ENGINE

Here is the most powerful, the most durable, and the most efficient automotive engine ever offered in a Cadillac car. Its power increase alone is almost 20%—and its new four-throated carburetor, larger exhaust valves, wider exhaust ports and new dual exhaust system make this engine one of the most dynamic performers of all time.

Fifty years ago, the first Cadillac car made its bow to the public. Today, as a fitting climax to those fifty years of progress, we are presenting in our showrooms the Golden Anniversary Cadillac—by far the finest car ever to bear this distinguished name. . . . It is easily the most beautiful of all Cadillacs. Numerous changes have sharpened and smartened the exterior design—while the wholly-new interiors are a revelation in comfort and luxury. . . . Performance is the finest of all time. The great Cadillac engine has a power increase of almost twenty per cent—and is even smoother and quieter in its operation. . . . There's a new Hydra-Matic Drive that gives the proper power application for every need. At a flick of the finger, you can have extra power and acceleration for city traffic and mountain driving—or wonderfully smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance for the open road. . . . And there's a new "power steering" mechanism, optional at extra cost, which reduces normal steering effort by as much as seventy-five per cent! . . . If ever it could be said of a car's performance that it is "out of this world," it can be said of the performance of the new Cadillac. The Golden Anniversary Cadillac is available in three series—the "Sixty-Two," the "Sixty Special" and the "Seventy-Five." . . . These new creations are now on display in our showrooms—and we invite you to see and inspect them at your earliest convenience.



THE NEW HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE

By introducing an entirely new performance range, Cadillac's Hydra-Matic provides the proper power for every need . . . extra acceleration and responsiveness for city and mountain driving; smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance for the open road. Optional at extra cost on Series 75. Standard equipment on all other models.

THE NEW CADILLAC POWER STEERING

This "power steering" mechanism eliminates as much as seventy-five per cent of all normal steering effort. It provides incredible handling ease, and yet does not interfere in any way with the driver's "road feel" or directional control. Available as an option at extra cost.

Liquor Board Revokes One License, Suspends Another

The Board of Allegany County License Commissioners revoked a beer permit, suspended a club liquor license and held an opinion in abeyance in three separate cases heard yesterday morning in Allegany County Court House.

The board revoked the Class B beer and wine license of Margaret E. Boyden, operator of Sister Sue's Kitchen, 108 North Mechanic Street, effective Friday.

The beer wine and liquor license of the South End Republican Club, Virginia Avenue, was ordered suspended for a 60-day period.

Inspectors On Stand

In the third hearing, the board held for further discussion the citation against Ruth Benson, operator of Benson's Tavern, 1509 Lexington Avenue, on a gaming charge involving her husband.

The three inspectors of the board, took the stand to testify of their visits to Sister Sue's Kitchen. A part-time inspector, E. R. Willison, reported that he checked the establishment five times. Each time he said he found the toilets unsanitary.

Mrs. Boyden claimed that the problem of new equipment in the rest rooms was up to her landlord. She presented a written notice to the board that her landlord would install the necessary accommodations.

City Police Officer John J. Powers, testified that he had been called to the establishment nearly a dozen times in recent months because of disorders.

Contrary To Peace

In the citation, the board held that the place "is being run contrary to the peace and safety of the community."

The licensees of the South End Republican Club, Victor M. Hebb, Milton Ryan and Jerry Beeche, were cited to appear after they had been convicted in Circuit Court on January 5 on a charge of possession of slot machines.

They had been fined $500 and costs by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Former Judge Walter C. Capper, board chairman, pointed out that this citation is the second against the club. The first was for refusing to allow an officer of the board on the premises.

The first count is not as serious as possession of slot machines, he added. The liquor law is very clear on gambling, he added.

Asks Name Removal

The 60-day suspension begins at midnight today. When asked if he wished to testify, Ryan said that while the group was before the board he would like to have his name removed from the license. He was informed that a new application would have to be drawn up.

Hebb declared that the club had paid $452.46 for federal licenses for the slot machines just two weeks prior to their seizure.

Mrs. Benson was cited after her husband, George Benson, was tried in Trial Magistrates Court on December 18 and found guilty of having a tip board on the premises. He was fined $50.

Mrs. Benson, represented by Clarence Shutter, declared that she knew nothing of gambling at her establishment. Benson testified that he had brought the tipboard from Pennsylvania when he had been working there.

The board took the case under study.

Goodrich Inducted

Stanley Leroy Goodrich, 601 Washington Street, was among 15 Selective Service draftees leaving here Monday for Baltimore and induction into the armed forces.

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk co-ordinator, said Goodrich transferred from Baltimore Board No. 17 to local Board No. 29.

No Truce In Sight

There is ample reason to suspect that the truce talks in Korea are going to fail. They opened seven months ago. If both sides had wanted the shooting to stop—or if the Reds had been hanging on the ropes, as people in this country were led to believe—agreement on the details should have been reached long ago. Communists are always difficult to negotiate with, but when they really want agreement, negotiations do not drag on endlessly.

The Hitler-Stalin Pact of August, 1939, involving more complicated problems than those involved in a mere truce, required less than six months to arrange.

When Russia's Vishinsky proposed to the UN that the truce talks be shifted from Korea and be put in the hands of the major powers, with the approval of the UN Security Council, the proposal was regarded as proof that Russia no longer wanted a truce settlement at Panmunjom—if she ever did. The proposal meant, of course, that the whole question of a political settlement would have to be gone into before the shooting could stop.

Progress of the truce talks in the last week bears out this interpretation.

The Reds at Panmunjom are behaving as if they want the talks broken off and are trying to provoke the UN into ending them. They refuse to agree on anything. They continue to refuse to clarify or explain their statements, merely retorting insolently: "We told you that already."

When UN negotiators expressed the opinion that the UN prisoner exchange proposal would benefit both sides, the Reds said that was a "big lie." Finally, they are again charging "incidents"—as they did earlier when they wanted talks broken off.

Meanwhile General Bradley told a congressional committee that the UN—meaning Washington—has complete military plans ready if truce talks end and full-scale fighting is resumed. Unless the Reds stage another abrupt reversal, those plans are likely to go into effect very soon.

Fights For Senate Seats

Thirty-four Senate seats are to be contested in the coming November—32 regular and two being filled temporarily in Nebraska and Kentucky. With the present Senate alignment 50 Democrats to 46 Republicans, the GOP will need a net gain of only three seats in 1952 to obtain a majority in the Senate.

However, it so happens that the Republicans get the short end of the stick in the composition of the 34 contests in November. Twenty seats now held by Republicans are at stake this year, only 14 seats now held by Democrats.

It is a matter of opinion as to how many of the 34 seats can be considered safe for Republicans and how many safe for Democrats. However, the GOP ought to be sure of retaining eight seats in seven states—Maine, Minnesota, Nebraska (two), North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Wisconsin. The Democrats can surely count on retaining seats in five states—Florida, Mississippi, Rhode Island, Texas, Virginia.

That would leave 12 Republican seats in at least a little doubt. They are in California, Delaware, Indiana, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Utah, Washington. If Taft is nominated for the Presidency, Ohio could be shifted from the doubtful to the sure-for-the-Republican listing. The same for California if the Republicans happen to choose Governor Warren as their Presidential nominee.

As against these 12 Republican Senate seats in at least a little doubt next November, Democrats now fill nine seats in much or some doubt. They are in Arizona, Connecticut, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New Mexico, Tennessee, West Virginia, Wyoming.

Origin Of The Symbols

As the 1952 nominating campaigns get warmer and warmer, we shall see more and more cartoons in which the elephant and the donkey portray, respectively, the Republican and the Democratic parties.

Certain Republicans are suggesting that the symbol of the Democrats ought now to be the mink. At all events, this has been suggested as the 1952 Republican campaign slogan: "Let's drive the minks and the pinks out of Washington."

It was Thomas Nast, the most popular and influential American cartoonist of the second half of the 19th Century, who was responsible for the elephant as representing the Republicans and the donkey as standing for the Democrats. Early in the 1870's Nast began to draw, in his cartoons for "Harper's Weekly," a tiger as representing Tammany Hall. He got the idea from the picture of a tiger on the literature of a prominent Tammany club of the time.

The tiger as the symbol of Tammany proved a happy thought, and thereupon Nast invented, evidently out of his inner consciousness, the elephant for the Republicans and the donkey for the Democrats. By 1875 the symbols had become well known, popular, and accepted.

When Theodore Roosevelt formed his Progressive party in 1912, he declared, on arriving at its convention which was to nominate him, that he "felt fit as a Bull Moose." Immediately the Bull Moose became the symbol of the new party.

The 30th Budget

This is the 30th annual budget submitted to Congress by a President of the United States. The act providing for a budget system was enacted in 1921, and the first budget was submitted by President Harding, 1922. (In those days the regular sessions of Congress opened in December.)

A bill for a budget system had been passed by Congress in 1920, only to meet with a veto from President Wilson. The veto was sustained in the House.

Wilson argued that one provision of the 1920 bill was unconstitutional. This provided that the comptroller general, who on behalf of Congress audits all government expenditures, was to be removable only by Congress. The 1921 act contained the provision to which Wilson objected.

The budgets submitted in the 1920's seem today like small potatoes indeed. The first World War was over, a severe depression was not anticipated, neither was a Hitler regime in Germany, the government was spending only between three and four billions a year. This year it is spending over 70 billions.

Those earlier budgets, doing little more than list the government receipts and expenditures, were much less detailed than the later ones. An act of 1949, following recommendations of the Hoover Commission, requires that the budget figures on expenditures be presented on a "functional" or "performance" basis, and the current budget is really an exhaustive statistical survey of the whole national economy.

Another Hormone For Arthritis

Compound F (hydrocortisone) is the latest remedy for the treatment of arthritis; it became available for experimental use one year ago. This substance is a close relative of cortisone but is injected directly into the inflamed joint. The results are encouraging, more so because the new drug is not associated with unpleasant reactions. More recently a product that can be taken by mouth was reported.

Compound F is one of the 28 pure compounds which have been isolated from the adrenal cortex but its place in this spectrum has been overshadowed by cortisone. ACTH is capable of stimulating the adrenal gland and, when this is done, relatively large amounts of Compound F are isolated in the extract that is produced whereas cortisone is present only in traces. This has led many scientists to believe that Compound F is responsible for most of the good effects of ACTH.

At any rate, one of the first clues that the new remedy might be successful came when the material was injected into the inflamed knee joints of 26 patients. Local improvement occurred within a day, with the disappearance of all signs of inflammation. Another study on 69 victims of rheumatoid arthritis was equally encouraging. Some of this group had pain and swelling in ankle, elbow, shoulder, wrist, hip, or finger joints, as well as the knees. Relief followed within 24 hours, no matter which joint was treated. Pain, stiffness, swelling, and tenderness were eased and in a few vanished completely. According to Dr. J. L. Hollander of Philadelphia, within a day after the first injection into the knees, some patients were able to climb and descend stairs normally for the first time in years.

However relief was not permanent. In one-third it lasted only two or three days after a single injection and symptoms returned within a week. The average duration for the entire group was eight days; some went as long as 10 weeks before the influence of the hormone wore off. There was no way of telling ahead of time how long improvement would last. This was left to trial and error.

Compound F was then given to 39 patients with osteoarthritis, the type that is more prevalent in older men and women and is caused by wear and tear rather than inflammation. In 36, pain and stiffness disappeared promptly and most victims remained comfortable for more than three weeks. The remedy was used in a few cases of acute bursitis and gouty arthritis as well as in traumatic arthritis. The results were encouraging. It should be re-emphasized that this substance, like its cousins ACTH and cortisone, is not curative; it suppresses local inflammation temporarily.

The most important consideration in this study is that a way is offered of administering the hormone in doses small enough to avoid a systematic reaction, which has been one of the major drawbacks of the older hormones. The effect in this respect is somewhat similar to cortisone drops and ointment that are being currently given in eye diseases. To my knowledge, the drugs can be used with impunity in these cases; but compound F has one drawback: it cannot be used if too many joints are involved at one time. This would mean that the total dose would be so large that the treatment would not be practical. Such patients would do better on ACTH or cortisone.

THE BIRD

Mrs. E. writes: I recently purchased a canary and someone told me that these birds draw rats, roaches, moths, mice, and bedbugs into the home. This has me worried.

REPLY

Some birds have lice but the poor little canary is not the Pied Piper your friends would make him.

CHERRY NOSE

F. T. writes: I have a red nose even though my favorite drink is pop. Have you any advice for me?

REPLY

Strawberry, raspberry, or cherry? The association of red nose with alcohol has been popularized by cartoonists, movies, and radio artists. As in your case, the two need not be related. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on acne rosacea.

INFLAMED THYROID

Mrs. D. writes: My 20 year old daughter caught cold six weeks ago and it doesn't seem to be getting any better. The doctor says it has gone down to the thyroid. Have you any advice for me?

REPLY

Thyroiditis is more serious than a common cold and the two should not be confused. The wonder drugs are the best remedies for inflamed thyroid gland but they must be used properly to obtain the desired results.

Treasury And Justice Departments Pass Buck In Case Of Iowa's Gov. Beardsley; Deputy Chief Of Army Engineers Gets Son Free Vacation

WASHINGTON — If the King Committee looks into the income tax case of Iowa's Gov. William Beardsley, it will find some interesting buck-passing between the Justice Department and the Treasury.

The Treasury frequently complains that it send tax fraud cases to Justice, then Justice twiddles its fingers, fails to prosecute. But in the case of the governor of a state, it looks as if neither wanted to prosecute.

At any rate, before the Treasury sent the alleged tax fraud of Gov. Beardsley to Justice, T-men phoned the Justice Department's Tax Division, asked whether Justice would prosecute a governor. Justice lawyers replied they would make no commitment, would look at the case, then decide.

So Treasury sent the case to Justice — "without recommendation." Justice tax attorneys, then under Lamar Caudle, took a look, tentatively decided for prosecution. Caudle agreed.

Later Caudle was ousted, and the Iowa governor's case was referred to Attorney General McGrath himself. He made a quick check, found this was the first time in 11 years the Treasury had sent a case to Justice "without recommendation." So McGrath decided he wasn't going to be the first A.G. in 11 years to be put on the spot. He sent the case back to the Treasury with a brief note: "What is your recommendation?"

African Holiday

If you're the son of a general in the Army Engineers, you can get a summer vacation in Morocco—all expenses paid by the taxpayers.

At least that's what happened to the 20-year-old son of Maj. Gen. J. Stewart Bragdon, just before he retired as deputy chief of Army Engineers. The son became a $400-per-month "inspector" on an Army Engineer project in French Morocco; stayed just long enough for a summer vacation.

Curious fact is that young J. Stewart Bragdon, Jr., did not apply for the job. Word was passed to the contractor to hire him—a "recommendation" from the Mills Company to Atlas Constructors, building air bases in French Morocco for the Army engineers.

Atlas Constructors immediately took the hint and wrote a nice letter to the general's son at the University of Virginia.

"Mr. Ralph Mills has advised us that you are interested in employment on our project when your school term is over," formally wrote L. W. Sproat, Atlas personnel director. "I would appreciate your advising me of your availability date and would like also a resume of the work you have done in the past in order that I can best place you in our organization."

However, the general's son had no past construction experience. So the company simply labeled him "inspector," and put him on the payroll at $400 per month, beginning June 17 with transportation, meals enroute and medical expenses paid by Uncle Sam via the company.

Part of young Bragdon's salary was withheld to pay his fare home. Sure enough, just before the fall school term, Bragdon quit and was flown home. However, the full amount of the plane ticket hadn't been deducted from his pay, so Atlas was forced to make up the difference. As a result, Bragdon still owes Atlas — and the taxpayers—$179.85.

It's a cheap way to finance an overseas trip, if your dad happens to be an important general in the Army Engineers.

Senators Eye Oil

Senators didn't expect their remarks to leak into print when they talked about oil leases behind closed doors the other day. However, here is what they said at a private session of the Senate Interior Committee:

1. Sen. Jim Murray, Montana Democrat, wanted to know whether senators could claim a share in Indian oil rights by being adopted into the tribe.

2. Sen. Clint Anderson, New Mexico Democrat, sharply criticized the Interior Department for giving away oil leases by drawing names out of a hat.

The oil question was raised by Montana's meek GOP Sen. Zales Ecton, who observed: "As you know, we discovered oil in Montana and it is on Indian lands up there, and Senator Murray and I have been besieged by the Indians on every hand to get these leases out and jarred loose."

But Murray seemed more interested in whether senators adopted into an Indian tribe as a political stunt might be eligible for some of the Indians' oil.

"I wonder," mused Murray, "if this committee would have any jurisdiction over this question of whether or not it is proper for us to be adopted into the Indian tribes up there and become eligible for some rights in connection with this oil?"

"You want to be adopted there?" asked Chairman Joe O'Mahoney, Wyoming Democrat.

"We have already been adopted," explained Murray.

"Senator, I don't believe they discovered oil since you and I have been adopted in those particular tribes," suggested Ecton. And the subject was dropped.

Leases In A Hat

New Mexico's Senator Anderson then broke in with his complaint about the oil-lease lottery.

"May I just burst out here now and say I think the drawing they had at Santa Fe was the most disgraceful thing that the Department of Interior has conducted for a long time," he protested. "Unquestionably, the government could have gotten millions of dollars for leases put up for sale.

"One filling station operator at Santa Fe drew two numbers out of the hat for leases," added An-

Unexpected Results

By MARK SULLIVAN

In New Hampshire during the week between January 2 and 9 "The Manchester Union-Leader" conducted a poll of its readers on their choices for the Republican Presidential nomination. The result was extraordinary. At the time, as since, the practically universal judgment of political leaders and observers was, as it continues to be, that the leaders in the Republican race are Sen. Taft and Gen. Eisenhower. Yet neither of these headed this New Hampshire poll. The leaders, in order of their strength, were:

Gen. MacArthur	783
Sen. Taft	448
Gen. Eisenhower	206
Harold Stassen	160

How to explain this New Hampshire outcome is difficult to determine. The poll was plainly spontaneous. "The Manchester Union-Leader" printed coupons which it asked readers to fill out and mail. A dependable New Hampshire source of information and judgment says the remarkable MacArthur vote must have been grass roots action, there was no real MacArthur organization in the state.

Regardless of explanation there remains difficulty of evaluating this New Hampshire poll in relation to the country as a whole. It goes counter to the considerable number of regional and nation-wide polls taken during recent months, which have indicated either Eisenhower or Taft as leading the race, and counter also to the same judgment as shown by members of the Republican National Committee at their recent San Francisco meeting. Any attempt to evaluate the New Hampshire poll on a nation-wide basis must consider the possibility that it may have been a local phenomenon. It would be easy to make a mistaken inference from any poll, or from polls generally, as was demonstrated in the 1948 Presidential campaign.

Associated With Truman

Yet there is at least a possibility that there may be, in the minds and hearts of the people throughout the country, a deep and pervading grass roots sentiment and opinion of which political leaders and observers have not taken notice. If this exists and if it accounts for the outcome of the New Hampshire poll, it would mean admiration and affection for Gen. MacArthur as a man and leader and earnest support for what he symbolizes.

Both these qualities are associated, in an obscure yet logical way, with President Truman; in the minds of many the two are opposites, antithese. Sentiment for Gen. MacArthur includes resentment against treatment of him by President Truman and includes also emotion evoked by the addresses Gen. MacArthur made after he had returned from the post in Japan from which President Truman had dismissed him. And what Gen. MacArthur symbolizes, along with many other things, is his post-war career in Japan. By his course there, he brought about a long advance in the direction of world peace, and it would be natural for the people to contrast this with the course and consequences of the Truman administration about China.

As the Republicans proceed toward making Presidential nomination, probably the largest common factor animating groups with various preferences is forthright opposition to President Truman, determined purpose to end his Presidency. One group may prefer one candidate for the nomination, another group another candidate, but these merge in the over-all group that wants Mr. Truman out of the White House, and the ending of the regime he heads and the condition he symbolizes. The group that wants this is much more than the Republicans. It includes a large number of Democrats.

Temperament Hurts Truman

Mr. Truman can hardly be unaware of the quantity of opposition to him and although not a man of precise discrimination, may be to some extent aware of the quality and reasons for it. Traits of his temperament tend to lead him to defy opposition and criticism, to lash out against it, and these very traits tend to increase the opposition. Mr. Louis Bromfield the other day, writing with the insight of a novelist, spoke of Mr. Truman as "pathetic" and "baffled," but spoke also of him as "angry," "vindictive," on edge."

Distaste for some of Mr. Truman's traits of temperament, much of it latent rather than outspoken, along with disapproval of policies and actions of his administration, could account for a grass roots sentiment and opinion among the people deeper and more widespread than political leaders and observers are aware of. If this exists it should become apparent as the primary elections approach, in both the Republican and the Democratic ones. It could modify some present expectations and solve some problems, including whether Mr. Truman will try to succeed himself.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—For the average American a budget message to Congress from the President at this time of year is just a bundle of statistical tables—but for the vigilant eyes of Moscow's politburo it means that the United States is approaching the very financial crisis toward which the Communists have been steering America.

For if the United States has financial troubles, there will not be money enough for Marshall plans or Point Four plans or European armies.

And if the United States has financial troubles, the "cold war" can be won by the Communists without firing a shot on their own or committing a single regiment of their own troops to battle.

When Mr. Truman dumps into the lap of Congress a message recommending that in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1952, the government shall spend 85 billions of dollars, he points out that he expects a deficit of about 14.4 billions.

Expects To Frighten Moscow

Coincidentally, the Congress, through its spokesmen, is saying that taxes can't be increased very much. The President practically assumes that there will be "deficit financing" and that the national debt will soon reach its present statutory ceiling of 275 billions, whereupon Congress will raise the ceiling and the question then will be whether the dollar will be able to stand that attack on its integrity.

The President's message takes it for granted that the military expenditures are all necessary and that mere spending for armament will bring the necessary fright to Moscow and will assure peace.

This is the same unrealistic position which both the President and Secretary of State Acheson have had for a long time now. The idea that, by creating "areas of strength," the enemy will be scared and then will make agreements that can be relied upon has been the only policy the administration has espoused. From all sides, on the other hand, have come advocates of an alternative policy—to use a billion or two to help fight the "cold war" with the same methods that the Communists are using—to infiltrate other countries and assist elements behind the "iron curtain" to get their freedom and to overthrow their governments.

The basis of the present agreement between Russia and the United States, under which the late President Roosevelt granted recognition in 1933, was that both countries should not involve themselves in the internal affairs of the other. Russia not only has broken this agreement but is today engaged in supplying munitions of war to troops fighting not only the forces of the United States but of 12 members of the United Nations. Russia has violated, too, the spirit, if not the letter, of the UN charter.

Yet the President's only solution is to keep on spending money for equipment that will grow obsolete, because Russia will never engage in the kind of war the American government is planning for. The Moscow regime is plainly interested in fomenting dissension between the Allies, and using her subversive machinery to stir up trouble in area after area where troops from the Allied countries then have to be stationed—Korea, Indo-China, Malaya, Egypt, and probably before long in other parts of the world.

Since Russia has, in effect, declared a "cold war" on the United States, the question of how to fight that war seems to have been left to a few bureaucrats in the State Department whose only answer is to make threats that do not materialize or to buy radio facilities for the "Voice of America." The other day it was announced that the information broadcasts would be handled by a semi-independent agency but one that would still be responsible to the State Department. This emphasizes the confusion in the minds of the administration officials who still think in terms of jurisdictions instead of effectiveness.

Doesn't Make Sense

The "underground" movements during the last war did a powerful job behind enemy lines. The American and British governments have available the men who know how to direct that work. Yet when only $100,000,000 was appropriated by Congress to help persons escaping from the "iron curtain" countries, the State Department adopted an apologetic attitude. The 85-billion-dollar budget doesn't make much sense if year after year the same spending programs are to be advocated—with more and more equipment that will require thousands of square miles of space to store, and with no planning council to direct American policy toward ending the "cold war."

It can be ended by severing diplomatic and trade relations with the "iron curtain" countries and encouraging, with munitions and with money, the elements ready to break up the Soviet Union's control over the Balkans. All economic traffic and the flow of money from Moscow to its agents throughout the world can readily be stopped by concerted action. For the Soviet embassies and legations are the distributing centers and, if they are closed up altogether, much of the enemy's power to cause trouble in other countries can be destroyed. Once the Balkans are on fire, the Russian menace will subside.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Soldier's Republic

It is fascinating to note how often the course of history moves in identical directions centuries apart. The Roman Republic, for instance, was jealousy civilian, the Senate controlling policy and governing the soldier. It was the veterans of Rome's various wars who, in the end, so weakened the civilian authority and the economy of the republic that it led to monarchy and decay.

The generals, in time, took control, made themselves Caesars and emperors, killed each other, and made their capitals on the Danube and Euphrates rather than in Rome. Even in the time of the Stoic Emperor, Marcus Aurelius, the veterans had to be conciliated. Of this, Jacob Burckhardt, in his remarkable study of Rome, entitled "The Age of Constantine the Great," says:

". . . Marcus acquiesced in the traditional abuse of bestowing a huge donative upon the army at his accession, and to such a degree that each soldier (at least those of the Guard) acquired a fortune, and that the soldiers thereafter regarded that amount as a norm. . ."

This norm had constantly to be raised. The soldiers and veterans asked for more, until there was no more to be got. The Guards would kill an emperor because a usurper promised them more. For instance, Pertinax (193) was acknowledged emperor by the soldiers and Senate. He was murdered, after donating a huge sum to the Guards. But that did not help him, for one Didius Julianus, described as a rich fool, offered in excess of $1,000 per soldier. He had a few wonderful weeks and then he too was killed, in favor of the highest bidder.

The United States has had few professional military men as President, the foremost being General Ulysses S. Grant, whose administration was a failure. It is an error to speak of George Washington as a soldier in any professional sense. He was a surveyor and land-owner. When he became commander-in-chief of the Revolutionary Army, he was a civilian with rudimentary experience in the French and Indian War.

This country has, in the past avoided a permanent professional army which might have done for us what the overpowering force of militarism did to Rome at the beginning of the Christian era, and what militarism in modern times did to Germany, Japan, and some South American countries.

In the time of the Emperor Severus, "when peace was restored at home it became apparent that the military rule, with its necessary corollary of foreign war, had become an end in itself. . ."

The military man interprets loyalty differently from the civilian. The military man, for success, requires personal loyalty, whereas the civilian is loyal to a country, a flag, a constitution, an ideal. The military man is trained to command; the civilian to consultation.

Further, the soldier is accustomed to the trappings of his craft, to rigid ceremonials. There are no Harrys and Bobs among soldiers. It is the salute and attention even among cronies. Soldiers are always on parade. And, in time, the simplicities of the Roman civilian life disappeared and in their place came the rigidities of the camp. So that by the time of Diocletian, the soldier became a satrap. Of him, it is said:

". . . Instead of the simple purple with which almost all his predecessors (excepting only the mad emperors) had been content, Diocletian wore, after 293, silk and gold-embroidered garments, and even his shoes were decorated with precious stones and pearls; upon his head he wore a diadem, a white band set with pearls. Naturally, these were the official vestments in which he appeared only on ceremonial occasions . . . access to his sacred person was daily rendered more difficult by elaborations of ceremonials. . ."

This story can be told wherever soldiers prevailed politically. Genghis Khan was a simple herdsman from near Lake Baikal who lived in a yurt, but his successors, Ogatai Khan and Kublai Khan, lived in Oriental splendor and ceremony which were a far cry from their origin. Even Napoleon, the Corsican, learned how to strut his position.

The civilian knows when his day is done and he is reduced to simple citizenship, often to obscurity. Herbert Hoover and even Harry Truman could understand that. When Al Smith ceased to be a Presidential candidate, he used to say that he became a janitor; that is, he ran the Empire State Building. Wendell Willkie rejected obscurity and therefore fought the inevitable until his death.

All this points up any way you choose. History does not occur to teach a moral; yet, some read one into its patterns.

No Truce In Sight

There is ample reason to suspect that the truce talks in Korea are going to fail. They opened seven months ago. If both sides had wanted the shooting to stop—or if the Reds had been hanging on the ropes, as people in this country were led to believe—agreement on the details should have been reached long ago. Communists are always difficult to negotiate with, but when they really want agreement, negotiations do not drag on endlessly.

The Hitler-Stalin Pact of August, 1939, involving more complicated problems than those involved in a mere truce, required less than six months to arrange.

When Russia's Vishinsky proposed to the UN that the truce talks be shifted from Korea and be put in the hands of the major powers, with the approval of the UN Security Council, the proposal was regarded as proof that Russia no longer wanted a truce settlement at Panmunjom—if she ever did. The proposal meant, of course, that the whole question of a political settlement would have to be gone into before the shooting could stop.

Progress of the truce talks in the last week bears out this interpretation.

The Reds at Panmunjom are behaving as if they want the talks broken off and are trying to provoke the UN into ending them. They refuse to agree on anything. They continue to refuse to clarify or explain their statements, merely retorting insolently: "We told you that already."

When UN negotiators expressed the opinion that the UN prisoner exchange proposal would benefit both sides, the Reds said that was a "big lie." Finally, they are again charging "incidents"—as they did earlier when they wanted talks broken off.

Meanwhile General Bradley told a congressional committee that the UN—meaning Washington—has complete military plans ready if truce talks end and full-scale fighting is resumed. Unless the Reds stage another abrupt reversal, those plans are likely to go into effect very soon.

Fights For Senate Seats

Thirty-four Senate seats are to be contested in the coming November—32 regular and two being filled temporarily in Nebraska and Kentucky. With the present Senate alignment 50 Democrats to 46 Republicans, the GOP will need a net gain of only three seats in 1952 to obtain a majority in the Senate.

However, it so happens that the Republicans get the short end of the stick in the composition of the 34 contests in November. Twenty seats now held by Republicans are at stake this year, only 14 seats now held by Democrats.

It is a matter of opinion as to how many of the 34 seats can be considered safe for Republicans and how many safe for Democrats. However, the GOP ought to be sure of retaining eight seats in seven states—Maine, Minnesota, Nebraska (two), North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Wisconsin. The Democrats can surely count on retaining seats in five states—Florida, Mississippi, Rhode Island, Texas, Virginia.

That would leave 12 Republican seats in at least a little doubt. They are in California, Delaware, Indiana, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Utah, Washington. If Taft is nominated for the Presidency, Ohio could be shifted from the doubtful to the sure-for-the-Republican listing. The same for California if the Republicans happen to choose Governor Warren as their Presidential nominee.

As against these 12 Republican Senate seats in at least a little doubt next November, Democrats now fill nine seats in much or some doubt. They are in Arizona, Connecticut, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New Mexico, Tennessee, West Virginia, Wyoming.

Origin Of The Symbols

As the 1952 nominating campaigns get warmer and warmer, we shall see more and more cartoons in which the elephant and the donkey portray, respectively, the Republican and the Democratic parties.

Certain Republicans are suggesting that the symbol of the Democrats ought now to be the mink. At all events, this has been suggested as the 1952 Republican campaign slogan: "Let's drive the minks and the pinks out of Washington."

It was Thomas Nast, the most popular and influential American cartoonist of the second half of the 19th Century, who was responsible for the elephant as representing the Republicans and the donkey as standing for the Democrats. Early in the 1870's Nast began to draw, in his cartoons for "Harper's Weekly," a tiger as representing Tammany Hall. He got the idea from the picture of a tiger on the literature of a prominent Tammany club of the time.

The tiger as the symbol of Tammany proved a happy thought, and thereupon Nast invented, evidently out of his inner consciousness, the elephant for the Republicans and the donkey for the Democrats. By 1875 the symbols had become well known, popular, and accepted.

When Theodore Roosevelt formed his Progressive party in 1912, he declared, on arriving at its convention which was to nominate him, that he "felt fit as a Bull Moose." Immediately the Bull Moose became the symbol of the new party.

The 30th Budget

This is the 30th annual budget submitted to Congress by a President of the United States. The act providing for a budget system was enacted in 1921, and the first budget was submitted by President Harding, 1922. (In those days the regular sessions of Congress opened in December.)

A bill for a budget system had been passed by Congress in 1920, only to meet with a veto from President Wilson. The veto was sustained in the House.

Wilson argued that one provision of the 1920 bill was unconstitutional. This provided that the comptroller general, who on behalf of Congress audits all government expenditures, was to be removable only by Congress. The 1921 act contained the provision to which Wilson objected.

The budgets submitted in the 1920's seem today like small potatoes indeed. The first World War was over, a severe depression was not anticipated, neither was a Hitler regime in Germany, the government was spending only between three and four billions a year. This year it is spending over 70 billions.

Those earlier budgets, doing little more than list the government receipts and expenditures, were much less detailed than the later ones. An act of 1949, following recommendations of the Hoover Commission, requires that the budget figures on expenditures be presented on a "functional" or "performance" basis, and the current budget is really an exhaustive statistical survey of the whole national economy.

Another Hormone For Arthritis

Compound F (hydrocortisone) is the latest remedy for the treatment of arthritis; it became available for experimental use one year ago. This substance is a close relative of cortisone but is injected directly into the inflamed joint. The results are encouraging, more so because the new drug is not associated with unpleasant reactions. More recently a product that can be taken by mouth was reported.

Compound F is one of the 28 pure compounds which have been isolated from the adrenal cortex but its place in this spectrum has been overshadowed by cortisone. ACTH is capable of stimulating the adrenal gland and, when this is done, relatively large amounts of Compound F are isolated in the extract that is produced whereas cortisone is present only in traces. This has led many scientists to believe that Compound F is responsible for most of the good effects of ACTH.

At any rate, one of the first clues that the new remedy might be successful came when the material was injected into the inflamed knee joints of 26 patients. Local improvement occurred within a day, with the disappearance of all signs of inflammation. Another study on 69 victims of rheumatoid arthritis was equally encouraging. Some of this group had pain and swelling in ankle, elbow, shoulder, wrist, hip, or finger joints, as well as the knees. Relief followed within 24 hours, no matter which joint was treated. Pain, stiffness, swelling, and tenderness were eased and in a few vanished completely. According to Dr. J. L. Hollander of Philadelphia, within a day after the first injection into the knees, some patients were able to climb and descend stairs normally for the first time in years.

However relief was not permanent. In one-third it lasted only two or three days after a single injection and symptoms returned within a week. The average duration for the entire group was eight days; some went as long as 10 weeks before the influence of the hormone wore off. There was no way of telling ahead of time how long improvement would last. This was left to trial and error.

Compound F was then given to 39 patients with osteoarthritis, the type that is more prevalent in older men and women and is caused by wear and tear rather than inflammation. In 36, pain and stiffness disappeared promptly and most victims remained comfortable for more than three weeks. The remedy was used in a few cases of acute bursitis and gouty arthritis as well as in traumatic arthritis. The results were encouraging. It should be re-emphasized that this substance, like its cousins ACTH and cortisone, is not curative; it suppresses local inflammation temporarily.

The most important consideration in this study is that a way is offered of administering the hormone in doses small enough to avoid a systematic reaction, which has been one of the major drawbacks of the older hormones. The effect in this respect is somewhat similar to cortisone drops and ointment that are being currently given in eye diseases. To my knowledge, the drugs can be used with impunity in these cases; but compound F has one drawback: it cannot be used if too many joints are involved at one time. This would mean that the total dose would be so large that the treatment would not be practical. Such patients would do better on ACTH or cortisone.

Strawberry, raspberry, or cherry? The association of red nose with alcohol has been popularized by cartoonists, movies, and radio artists. As in your case, the two need not be related. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on acne rosacea.

Thyroiditis is more serious than a common cold and the two should not be confused. The wonder drugs are the best remedies for inflamed thyroid gland but they must be used properly to obtain the desired results.

Treasury And Justice Departments Pass Buck In Case Of Iowa's Gov. Beardsley; Deputy Chief Of Army Engineers Gets Son Free Vacation

WASHINGTON — If the King Committee looks into the income tax case of Iowa's Gov. William Beardsley, it will find some interesting buck-passing between the Justice Department and the Treasury.

The Treasury frequently complains that it send tax fraud cases to Justice, then Justice twiddles its fingers, fails to prosecute. But in the case of the governor of a state, it looks as if neither wanted to prosecute.

At any rate, before the Treasury sent the alleged tax fraud of Gov. Beardsley to Justice, T-men phoned the Justice Department's Tax Division, asked whether Justice would prosecute a governor. Justice lawyers replied they would make no commitment, would look at the case, then decide.

So Treasury sent the case to Justice — "without recommendation." Justice tax attorneys, then under Lamar Caudle, took a look, tentatively decided for prosecution. Caudle agreed.

Later Caudle was ousted, and the Iowa governor's case was referred to Attorney General McGrath himself. He made a quick check, found this was the first time in 11 years the Treasury had sent a case to Justice "without recommendation." So McGrath decided he wasn't going to be the first A.G. in 11 years to be put on the spot. He sent the case back to the Treasury with a brief note: "What is your recommendation?"

African Holiday

If you're the son of a general in the Army Engineers, you can get a summer vacation in Morocco—all expenses paid by the taxpayers.

At least that's what happened to the 20-year-old son of Maj. Gen. J. Stewart Bragdon, just before he retired as deputy chief of Army Engineers. The son became a $400-per-month "inspector" on an Army Engineer project in French Morocco; stayed just long enough for a summer vacation.

Curious fact is that young J. Stewart Bragdon, Jr., did not apply for the job. Word was passed to the contractor to hire him—a "recommendation" from the Mills Company to Atlas Constructors, building air bases in French Morocco for the Army engineers.

Atlas Constructors immediately took the hint and wrote a nice letter to the general's son at the University of Virginia.

"Mr. Ralph Mills has advised us that you are interested in employment on our project when your school term is over," formally wrote L. W. Sproat, Atlas personnel director. "I would appreciate your advising me of your availability date and would like also a resume of the work you have done in the past in order that I can best place you in our organization."

However, the general's son had no past construction experience. So the company simply labeled him "inspector," and put him on the payroll at $400 per month, beginning June 17 with transportation, meals enroute and medical expenses paid by Uncle Sam via the company.

Part of young Bragdon's salary was withheld to pay his fare home. Sure enough, just before the fall school term, Bragdon quit and was flown home. However, the full amount of the plane ticket hadn't been deducted from his pay, so Atlas was forced to make up the difference. As a result, Bragdon still owes Atlas — and the taxpayers—$179.85.

It's a cheap way to finance an overseas trip, if your dad happens to be an important general in the Army Engineers.

Senators Eye Oil

Senators didn't expect their remarks to leak into print when they talked about oil leases behind closed doors the other day. However, here is what they said at a private session of the Senate Interior Committee:

1. Sen. Jim Murray, Montana Democrat, wanted to know whether senators could claim a share in Indian oil rights by being adopted into the tribe.

2. Sen. Clint Anderson, New Mexico Democrat, sharply criticized the Interior Department for giving away oil leases by drawing names out of a hat.

The oil question was raised by Montana's meek GOP Sen. Zales Ecton, who observed: "As you know, we discovered oil in Montana and it is on Indian lands up there, and Senator Murray and I have been besieged by the Indians on every hand to get these leases out and jarred loose."

But Murray seemed more interested in whether senators adopted into an Indian tribe as a political stunt might be eligible for some of the Indians' oil.

"I wonder," mused Murray, "if this committee would have any jurisdiction over this question of whether or not it is proper for us to be adopted into the Indian tribes up there and become eligible for some rights in connection with this oil?"

"You want to be adopted there?" asked Chairman Joe O'Mahoney, Wyoming Democrat.

"We have already been adopted," explained Murray.

"Senator, I don't believe they discovered oil since you and I have been adopted in those particular tribes," suggested Ecton. And the subject was dropped.

Leases In A Hat

New Mexico's Senator Anderson then broke in with his complaint about the oil-lease lottery.

"May I just burst out here now and say I think the drawing they had at Santa Fe was the most disgraceful thing that the Department of Interior has conducted for a long time," he protested. "Unquestionably, the government could have gotten millions of dollars for leases put up for sale.

"One filling station operator at Santa Fe drew two numbers out of the hat for leases," added An-

By MARK SULLIVAN

In New Hampshire during the week between January 2 and 9 "The Manchester Union-Leader" conducted a poll of its readers on their choices for the Republican Presidential nomination. The result was extraordinary. At the time, as since, the practically universal judgment of political leaders and observers was, as it continues to be, that the leaders in the Republican race are Sen. Taft and Gen. Eisenhower. Yet neither of these headed this New Hampshire poll. The leaders, in order of their strength, were:

Gen. MacArthur	783
Sen. Taft	448
Gen. Eisenhower	206
Harold Stassen	160

How to explain this New Hampshire outcome is difficult to determine. The poll was plainly spontaneous. "The Manchester Union-Leader" printed coupons which it asked readers to fill out and mail. A dependable New Hampshire source of information and judgment says the remarkable MacArthur vote must have been grass roots action, there was no real MacArthur organization in the state.

Regardless of explanation there remains difficulty of evaluating this New Hampshire poll in relation to the country as a whole. It goes counter to the considerable number of regional and nation-wide polls taken during recent months, which have indicated either Eisenhower or Taft as leading the race, and counter also to the same judgment as shown by members of the Republican National Committee at their recent San Francisco meeting. Any attempt to evaluate the New Hampshire poll on a nation-wide basis must consider the possibility that it may have been a local phenomenon. It would be easy to make a mistaken inference from any poll, or from polls generally, as was demonstrated in the 1948 Presidential campaign.

Associated With Truman

Yet there is at least a possibility that there may be, in the minds and hearts of the people throughout the country, a deep and pervading grass roots sentiment and opinion of which political leaders and observers have not taken notice. If this exists and if it accounts for the outcome of the New Hampshire poll, it would mean admiration and affection for Gen. MacArthur as a man and leader and earnest support for what he symbolizes.

Both these qualities are associated, in an obscure yet logical way, with President Truman; in the minds of many the two are opposites, antithese. Sentiment for Gen. MacArthur includes resentment against treatment of him by President Truman and includes also emotion evoked by the addresses Gen. MacArthur made after he had returned from the post in Japan from which President Truman had dismissed him. And what Gen. MacArthur symbolizes, along with many other things, is his post-war career in Japan. By his course there, he brought about a long advance in the direction of world peace, and it would be natural for the people to contrast this with the course and consequences of the Truman administration about China.

As the Republicans proceed toward making Presidential nomination, probably the largest common factor animating groups with various preferences is forthright opposition to President Truman, determined purpose to end his Presidency. One group may prefer one candidate for the nomination, another group another candidate, but these merge in the over-all group that wants Mr. Truman out of the White House, and the ending of the regime he heads and the condition he symbolizes. The group that wants this is much more than the Republicans. It includes a large number of Democrats.

Temperament Hurts Truman

Mr. Truman can hardly be unaware of the quantity of opposition to him and althought not a man of precise discrimination, may be to some extent aware of the quality and reasons for it. Traits of his temperament tend to lead him to defy opposition and criticism, to lash out against it, and these very traits tend to increase the opposition. Mr. Louis Bromfield the other day, writing with the insight of a novelist, spoke of Mr. Truman as "pathetic" and "baffled," but spoke also of him as "angry," "vindictive," on edge."

Distaste for some of Mr. Truman's traits of temperament, much of it latent rather than outspoken, along with disapproval of policies and actions of his administration, could account for a grass roots sentiment and opinion among the people deeper and more widespread than political leaders and observers are aware of. If this exists it should become apparent as the primary elections approach, in both the Republican and the Democratic ones. It could modify some present expectations and solve some problems, including whether Mr. Truman will try to succeed himself.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—For the average American a budget message to Congress from the President at this time of year is just a bundle of statistical tables—but for the vigilant eyes of Moscow's politburo it means that the United States is approaching the very financial crisis toward which the Communists have been steering America.

For if the United States has financial troubles, there will not be money enough for Marshall plans or Point Four plans or European armies.

And if the United States has financial troubles, the "cold war" can be won by the Communists without firing a shot on their own or committing a single regiment of their own troops to battle.

When Mr. Truman dumps into the lap of Congress a message recommending that in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1952, the government shall spend 85 billions of dollars, he points out that he expects a deficit of about 14.4 billions.

Expects To Frighten Moscow

Coincidentally, the Congress, through its spokesmen, is saying that taxes can't be increased very much. The President practically assumes that there will be "deficit financing" and that the national debt will soon reach its present statutory ceiling of 275 billions, whereupon Congress will raise the ceiling and the question then will be whether the dollar will be able to stand that attack on its integrity.

The President's message takes it for granted that the military expenditures are all necessary and that mere spending for armament will bring the necessary fright to Moscow and will assure peace.

This is the same unrealistic position which both the President and Secretary of State Acheson have had for a long time now. The idea that, by creating "areas of strength," the enemy will be scared and then will make agreements that can be relied upon has been the only policy the administration has espoused. From all sides, on the other hand, have come advocates of an alternative policy—to use a billion or two to help fight the "cold war" with the same methods that the Communists are using—to infiltrate other countries and assist elements behind the "iron curtain" to get their freedom and to overthrow their governments.

The basis of the present agreement between Russia and the United States, under which the late President Roosevelt granted recognition in 1933, was that both countries should not involve themselves in the internal affairs of the other. Russia not only has broken this agreement but is today engaged in supplying munitions of war to troops fighting not only the forces of the United States but of 12 members of the United Nations. Russia has violated, too, the spirit, if not the letter, of the UN charter.

Yet the President's only solution is to keep on spending money for equipment that will grow obsolete, because Russia will never engage in the kind of war the American government is planning for. The Moscow regime is plainly interested in fomenting dissension between the Allies, and using her subversive machinery to stir up trouble in area after area where troops from the Allied countries then have to be stationed—Korea, Indo-China, Malaya, Egypt, and probably before long in other parts of the world.

Since Russia has, in effect, declared a "cold war" on the United States, the question of how to fight that war seems to have been left to a few bureaucrats in the State Department whose only answer is to make threats that do not materialize or to buy radio facilities for the "Voice of America." The other day it was announced that the information broadcasts would be handled by a semi-independent agency but one that would still be responsible to the State Department. This emphasizes the confusion in the minds of the administration officials who still think in terms of jurisdictions instead of effectiveness.

Doesn't Make Sense

The "underground" movements during the last war did a powerful job behind enemy lines. The American and British governments have available the men who know how to direct that work. Yet when only $100,000,000 was appropriated by Congress to help persons escaping from the "iron curtain" countries, the State Department adopted an apologetic attitude. The 85-billion-dollar budget doesn't make much sense if year after year the same spending programs are to be advocated—with more and more equipment that will require thousands of square miles of space to store, and with no planning council to direct American policy toward ending the "cold war."

It can be ended by severing diplomatic and trade relations with the "iron curtain" countries and encouraging, with munitions and with money, the elements ready to break up the Soviet Union's control over the Balkans. All economic traffic and the flow of money from Moscow to its agents throughout the world can readily be stopped by concerted action. For the Soviet embassies and legations are the distributing centers and, if they are closed up altogether, much of the enemy's power to cause trouble in other countries can be destroyed. Once the Balkans are on fire, the Russian menace will subside.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Soldier's Republic

It is fascinating to note how often the course of history moves in identical directions centuries apart. The Roman Republic, for instance, was jealousy civilian, the Senate controlling policy and governing the soldier. It was the veterans of Rome's various wars who, in the end, so weakened the civilian authority and the economy of the republic that it led to monarchy and decay.

The generals, in time, took control, made themselves Caesars and emperors, killed each other, and made their capitals on the Danube and Euphrates rather than in Rome. Even in the time of the Stoic Emperor, Marcus Aurelius, the veterans had to be conciliated. Of this, Jacob Burckhardt, in his remarkable study of Rome, entitled "The Age of Constantine the Great," says:

". . . Marcus acquiesced in the traditional abuse of bestowing a huge donative upon the army at his accession, and to such a degree that each soldier (at least those of the Guard) acquired a fortune, and that the soldiers thereafter regarded that amount as a norm. . ."

This norm had constantly to be raised. The soldiers and veterans asked for more, until there was no more to be got. The Guards would kill an emperor because a usurper promised them more. For instance, Pertinax (193) was acknowledged emperor by the soldiers and Senate. He was murdered, after donating a huge sum to the Guards. But that did not help him, for one Didius Julianus, described as a rich fool, offered in excess of $1,000 per soldier. He had a few wonderful weeks and then he too was killed, in favor of the highest bidder.

The United States has had few professional military men as President, the foremost being General Ulysses S. Grant, whose administration was a failure. It is an error to speak of George Washington as a soldier in any professional sense. He was a surveyor and land-owner. When he became commander-in-chief of the Revolutionary Army, he was a civilian with rudimentary experience in the French and Indian War.

This country has, in the past avoided a permanent professional army which might have done for us what the overpowering force of militarism did to Rome at the beginning of the Christian era, and what militarism in modern times did to Germany, Japan, and some South American countries.

In the time of the Emperor Severus, "when peace was restored at home it became apparent that the military rule, with its necessary corollary of foreign war, had become an end in itself. . ."

The military man interprets loyalty differently from the civilian. The military man, for success, requires personal loyalty, whereas the civilian is loyal to a country, a flag, a constitution, an ideal. The military man is trained to command; the civilian to consultation.

Further, the soldier is accustomed to the trappings of his craft, to rigid ceremonials. There are no Harrys and Bobs among soldiers. It is the salute and attention even among cronies. Soldiers are always on parade. And, in time, the simplicities of the Roman civilian life disappeared and in their place came the rigidities of the camp. So that by the time of Diocletian, the soldier became a satrap. Of him, it is said:

". . . Instead of the simple purple with which almost all his predecessors (excepting only the mad emperors) had been content, Diocletian wore, after 293, silk and gold-embroidered garments, and even his shoes were decorated with precious stones and pearls; upon his head he wore a diadem, a white band set with pearls. Naturally, these were the official vestments in which he appeared only on ceremonial occasions . . . access to his sacred person was daily rendered more difficult by elaborations of ceremonials. . ."

This story can be told wherever soldiers prevailed politically. Genghis Khan was a simple herdsman from near Lake Baikal who lived in a yurt, but his successors, Ogatai Khan and Kublai Khan, lived in Oriental splendor and ceremony which were a far cry from their origin. Even Napoleon, the Corsican, learned how to strut his position.

The civilian knows when his day is done and he is reduced to simple citizenship, often to obscurity. Herbert Hoover and even Harry Truman could understand that. When Al Smith ceased to be a Presidential candidate, he used to say that he became a janitor; that is, he ran the Empire State Building. Wendell Willkie rejected obscurity and therefore fought the inevitable until his death.

All this points up any way you choose. History does not occur to teach a moral; yet, some read one into its patterns.

No Truce In Sight

There is ample reason to suspect that the truce talks in Korea are going to fail. They opened seven months ago. If both sides had wanted the shooting to stop—or if the Reds had been hanging on the ropes, as people in this country were led to believe—agreement on the details should have been reached long ago. Communists are always difficult to negotiate with, but when they really want agreement, negotiations do not drag on endlessly.

The Hitler-Stalin Pact of August, 1939, involving more complicated problems than those involved in a mere truce, required less than six months to arrange.

When Russia's Vishinsky proposed to the UN that the truce talks be shifted from Korea and be put in the hands of the major powers, with the approval of the UN Security Council, the proposal was regarded as proof that Russia no longer wanted a truce settlement at Panmunjom—if she ever did. The proposal meant, of course, that the whole question of a political settlement would have to be gone into before the shooting could stop.

Progress of the truce talks in the last week bears out this interpretation.

The Reds at Panmunjom are behaving as if they want the talks broken off and are trying to provoke the UN into ending them. They refuse to agree on anything. They continue to refuse to clarify or explain their statements, merely retorting insolently: "We told you that already."

When UN negotiators expressed the opinion that the UN prisoner exchange proposal would benefit both sides, the Reds said that was a "big lie." Finally, they are again charging "incidents"—as they did earlier when they wanted talks broken off.

Meanwhile General Bradley told a congressional committee that the UN—meaning Washington—has complete military plans ready if truce talks end and full-scale fighting is resumed. Unless the Reds stage another abrupt reversal, those plans are likely to go into effect very soon.

Fights For Senate Seats

Thirty-four Senate seats are to be contested in the coming November—32 regular and two being filled temporarily in Nebraska and Kentucky. With the present Senate alignment 50 Democrats to 46 Republicans, the GOP will need a net gain of only three seats in 1952 to obtain a majority in the Senate.

However, it so happens that the Republicans get the short end of the stick in the composition of the 34 contests in November. Twenty seats now held by Republicans are at stake this year, only 14 seats now held by Democrats.

It is a matter of opinion as to how many of the 34 seats can be considered safe for Republicans and how many safe for Democrats. However, the GOP ought to be sure of retaining eight seats in seven states—Maine, Minnesota, Nebraska (two), North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Wisconsin. The Democrats can surely count on retaining seats in five states—Florida, Mississippi, Rhode Island, Texas, Virginia.

That would leave 12 Republican seats in at least a little doubt. They are in California, Delaware, Indiana, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Utah, Washington. If Taft is nominated for the Presidency, Ohio could be shifted from the doubtful to the sure-for-the-Republican listing. The same for California if the Republicans happen to choose Governor Warren as their Presidential nominee.

As against these 12 Republican Senate seats in at least a little doubt next November, Democrats now fill nine seats in much or some doubt. They are in Arizona, Connecticut, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New Mexico, Tennessee, West Virginia, Wyoming.

Origin Of The Symbols

As the 1952 nominating campaigns get warmer and warmer, we shall see more and more cartoons in which the elephant and the donkey portray, respectively, the Republican and the Democratic parties.

Certain Republicans are suggesting that the symbol of the Democrats ought now to be the mink. At all events, this has been suggested as the 1952 Republican campaign slogan: "Let's drive the minks and the pinks out of Washington."

It was Thomas Nast, the most popular and influential American cartoonist of the second half of the 19th Century, who was responsible for the elephant as representing the Republicans and the donkey as standing for the Democrats. Early in the 1870's Nast began to draw, in his cartoons for "Harper's Weekly," a tiger as representing Tammany Hall. He got the idea from the picture of a tiger on the literature of a prominent Tammany club of the time.

The tiger as the symbol of Tammany proved a happy thought, and thereupon Nast invented, evidently out of his inner consciousness, the elephant for the Republicans and the donkey for the Democrats. By 1875 the symbols had become well known, popular, and accepted.

When Theodore Roosevelt formed his Progressive party in 1912, he declared, on arriving at its convention which was to nominate him, that he "felt fit as a Bull Moose." Immediately the Bull Moose became the symbol of the new party.

The 30th Budget

This is the 30th annual budget submitted to Congress by a President of the United States. The act providing for a budget system was enacted in 1921, and the first budget was submitted by President Harding, 1922. (In those days the regular sessions of Congress opened in December.)

A bill for a budget system had been passed by Congress in 1920, only to meet with a veto from President Wilson. The veto was sustained in the House.

Wilson argued that one provision of the 1920 bill was unconstitutional. This provided that the comptroller general, who on behalf of Congress audits all government expenditures, was to be removable only by Congress. The 1921 act contained the provision to which Wilson objected.

The budgets submitted in the 1920's seem today like small potatoes indeed. The first World War was over, a severe depression was not anticipated, neither was a Hitler regime in Germany, the government was spending only between three and four billions a year. This year it is spending over 70 billions.

Those earlier budgets, doing little more than list the government receipts and expenditures, were much less detailed than the later ones. An act of 1949, following recommendations of the Hoover Commission, requires that the budget figures on expenditures be presented on a "functional" or "performance" basis, and the current budget is really an exhaustive statistical survey of the whole national economy.

Another Hormone For Arthritis

Compound F (hydrocortisone) is the latest remedy for the treatment of arthritis; it became available for experimental use one year ago. This substance is a close relative of cortisone but is injected directly into the inflamed joint. The results are encouraging, more so because the new drug is not associated with unpleasant reactions. More recently a product that can be taken by mouth was reported.

Compound F is one of the 28 pure compounds which have been isolated from the adrenal cortex but its place in this spectrum has been overshadowed by cortisone. ACTH is capable of stimulating the adrenal gland and, when this is done, relatively large amounts of Compound F are isolated in the extract that is produced whereas cortisone is present only in traces. This has led many scientists to believe that Compound F is responsible for most of the good effects of ACTH.

At any rate, one of the first clues that the new remedy might be successful came when the material was injected into the inflamed knee joints of 26 patients. Local improvement occurred within a day, with the disappearance of all signs of inflammation. Another study on 69 victims of rheumatoid arthritis was equally encouraging. Some of this group had pain and swelling in ankle, elbow, shoulder, wrist, hip, or finger joints, as well as the knees. Relief followed within 24 hours, no matter which joint was treated. Pain, stiffness, swelling, and tenderness were eased and in a few vanished completely. According to Dr. J. L. Hollander of Philadelphia, within a day after the first injection into the knees, some patients were able to climb and descend stairs normally for the first time in years.

However relief was not permanent. In one-third it lasted only two or three days after a single injection and symptoms returned within a week. The average duration for the entire group was eight days; some went as long as 10 weeks before the influence of the hormone wore off. There was no way of telling ahead of time how long improvement would last. This was left to trial and error.

Compound F was then given to 39 patients with osteoarthritis, the type that is more prevalent in older men and women and is caused by wear and tear rather than inflammation. In 36, pain and stiffness disappeared promptly and most victims remained comfortable for more than three weeks. The remedy was used in a few cases of acute bursitis and gouty arthritis as well as in traumatic arthritis. The results were encouraging. It should be re-emphasized that this substance, like its cousins ACTH and cortisone, is not curative; it suppresses local inflammation temporarily.

The most important consideration in this study is that a way is offered of administering the hormone in doses small enough to avoid a systematic reaction, which has been one of the major drawbacks of the older hormones. The effect in this respect is somewhat similar to cortisone drops and ointment that are being currently given in eye diseases. To my knowledge, the drugs can be used with impunity in these cases; but compound F has one drawback: it cannot be used if too many joints are involved at one time. This would mean that the total dose would be so large that the treatment would not be practical. Such patients would do better on ACTH or cortisone.

Treasury And Justice Departments Pass Buck In Case Of Iowa's Gov. Beardsley; Deputy Chief Of Army Engineers Gets Son Free Vacation

WASHINGTON — If the King Committee looks into the income tax case of Iowa's Gov. William Beardsley, it will find some interesting buck-passing between the Justice Department and the Treasury.

The Treasury frequently complains that it send tax fraud cases to Justice, then Justice twiddles its fingers, fails to prosecute. But in the case of the governor of a state, it looks as if neither wanted to prosecute.

At any rate, before the Treasury sent the alleged tax fraud of Gov. Beardsley to Justice, T-men phoned the Justice Department's Tax Division, asked whether Justice would prosecute a governor. Justice lawyers replied they would make no commitment, would look at the case, then decide.

So Treasury sent the case to Justice — "without recommendation." Justice tax attorneys, then under Lamar Caudle, took a look, tentatively decided for prosecution. Caudle agreed.

Later Caudle was ousted, and the Iowa governor's case was referred to Attorney General McGrath himself. He made a quick check, found this was the first time in 11 years the Treasury had sent a case to Justice "without recommendation." So McGrath decided he wasn't going to be the first A.G. in 11 years to be put on the spot. He sent the case back to the Treasury with a brief note: "What is your recommendation?"

If you're the son of a general in the Army Engineers, you can get a summer vacation in Morocco—all expenses paid by the taxpayers.

At least that's what happened to the 20-year-old son of Maj. Gen. J. Stewart Bragdon, just before he retired as deputy chief of Army Engineers. The son became a $400-per-month "inspector" on an Army Engineer project in French Morocco; stayed just long enough for a summer vacation.

However, the general's son had no past construction experience. So the company simply labeled him "inspector," and put him on the payroll at $400 per month, beginning June 17 with transportation, meals enroute and medical expenses paid by Uncle Sam via the company.

Part of young Bragdon's salary was withheld to pay his fare home. Sure enough, just before the fall school term, Bragdon quit and was flown home. However, the full amount of the plane ticket hadn't been deducted from his pay, so Atlas was forced to make up the difference. As a result, Bragdon still owes Atlas — and the taxpayers—$179.85.

It's a cheap way to finance an overseas trip, if your dad happens to be an important general in the Army Engineers.

Senators Eye Oil

Senators didn't expect their remarks to leak into print when they talked about oil leases behind closed doors the other day. However, here is what they said at a private session of the Senate Interior Committee:

1. Sen. Jim Murray, Montana Democrat, wanted to know whether senators could claim a share in Indian oil rights by being adopted into the tribe.

2. Sen. Clint Anderson, New Mexico Democrat, sharply criticized the Interior Department for giving away oil leases by drawing names out of a hat.

The oil question was raised by Montana's meek GOP Sen. Zales Ecton, who observed: "As you know, we discovered oil in Montana and it is on Indian lands up there, and Senator Murray and I have been besieged by the Indians on every hand to get these leases out and jarred loose."

But Murray seemed more interested in whether senators adopted into an Indian tribe as a political stunt might be eligible for some of the Indians' oil.

"I wonder," mused Murray, "if this committee would have any jurisdiction over this question of whether or not it is proper for us to be adopted into the Indian tribes up there and become eligible for some rights in connection with this oil?"

"You want to be adopted there?" asked Chairman Joe O'Mahoney, Wyoming Democrat.

"We have already been adopted," explained Murray.

"Senator, I don't believe they discovered oil since you and I have been adopted in those particular tribes," suggested Ecton. And the subject was dropped.

Leases In A Hat

New Mexico's Senator Anderson then broke in with his complaint about the oil-lease lottery.

"May I just burst out here now and say I think the drawing they had at Santa Fe was the most disgraceful thing that the Department of Interior has conducted for a long time," he protested. "Unquestionably, the government could have gotten millions of dollars for leases put up for sale.

"One filling station operator at Santa Fe drew two numbers out of the hat for leases," added An-

By MARK SULLIVAN

In New Hampshire during the week between January 2 and 9 "The Manchester Union-Leader" conducted a poll of its readers on their choices for the Republican Presidential nomination. The result was extraordinary. At the time, as since, the practically universal judgment of political leaders and observers was, as it continues to be, that the leaders in the Republican race are Sen. Taft and Gen. Eisenhower. Yet neither of these headed this New Hampshire poll. The leaders, in order of their strength, were:

Gen. MacArthur	783
Sen. Taft	448
Gen. Eisenhower	206
Harold Stassen	160

How to explain this New Hampshire outcome is difficult to determine. The poll was plainly spontaneous. "The Manchester Union-Leader" printed coupons which it asked readers to fill out and mail. A dependable New Hampshire source of information and judgment says the remarkable MacArthur vote must have been grass roots action, there was no real MacArthur organization in the state.

Regardless of explanation there remains difficulty of evaluating this New Hampshire poll in relation to the country as a whole. It goes counter to the considerable number of regional and nation-wide polls taken during recent months, which have indicated either Eisenhower or Taft as leading the race, and counter also to the same judgment as shown by members of the Republican National Committee at their recent San Francisco meeting. Any attempt to evaluate the New Hampshire poll on a nation-wide basis must consider the possibility that it may have been a local phenomenon. It would be easy to make a mistaken inference from any poll, or from polls generally, as was demonstrated in the 1948 Presidential campaign.

Associated With Truman

Yet there is at least a possibility that there may be, in the minds and hearts of the people throughout the country, a deep and pervading grass roots sentiment and opinion of which political leaders and observers have not taken notice. If this exists and if it accounts for the outcome of the New Hampshire poll, it would mean admiration and affection for Gen. MacArthur as a man and leader and earnest support for what he symbolizes.

Both these qualities are associated, in an obscure yet logical way, with President Truman; in the minds of many the two are opposites, antithese. Sentiment for Gen. MacArthur includes resentment against treatment of him by President Truman and includes also emotion evoked by the addresses Gen. MacArthur made after he had returned from the post in Japan from which President Truman had dismissed him. And what Gen. MacArthur symbolizes, along with many other things, is his post-war career in Japan. By his course there, he brought about a long advance in the direction of world peace, and it would be natural for the people to contrast this with the course and consequences of the Truman administration about China.

As the Republicans proceed toward making Presidential nomination, probably the largest common factor animating groups with various preferences is forthright opposition to President Truman, determined purpose to end his Presidency. One group may prefer one candidate for the nomination, another group another candidate, but these merge in the over-all group that wants Mr. Truman out of the White House, and the ending of the regime he heads and the condition he symbolizes. The group that wants this is much more than the Republicans. It includes a large number of Democrats.

Temperament Hurts Truman

Mr. Truman can hardly be unaware of the quantity of opposition to him and althought not a man of precise discrimination, may be to some extent aware of the quality and reasons for it. Traits of his temperament tend to lead him to defy opposition and criticism, to lash out against it, and these very traits tend to increase the opposition. Mr. Louis Bromfield the other day, writing with the insight of a novelist, spoke of Mr. Truman as "pathetic" and "baffled," but spoke also of him as "angry," "vindictive," on edge."

Distaste for some of Mr. Truman's traits of temperament, much of it latent rather than outspoken, along with disapproval of policies and actions of his administration, could account for a grass roots sentiment and opinion among the people deeper and more widespread than political leaders and observers are aware of. If this exists it should become apparent as the primary elections approach, in both the Republican and the Democratic ones. It could modify some present expectations and solve some problems, including whether Mr. Truman will try to succeed himself.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—For the average American a budget message to Congress from the President at this time of year is just a bundle of statistical tables—but for the vigilant eyes of Moscow's politburo it means that the United States is approaching the very financial crisis toward which the Communists have been steering America.

For if the United States has financial troubles, there will not be money enough for Marshall plans or Point Four plans or European armies.

And if the United States has financial troubles, the "cold war" can be won by the Communists without firing a shot on their own or committing a single regiment of their own troops to battle.

When Mr. Truman dumps into the lap of Congress a message recommending that in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1952, the government shall spend 85 billions of dollars, he points out that he expects a deficit of about 14.4 billions.

Expects To Frighten Moscow

Coincidentally, the Congress, through its spokesmen, is saying that taxes can't be increased very much. The President practically assumes that there will be "deficit financing" and that the national debt will soon reach its present statutory ceiling of 275 billions, whereupon Congress will raise the ceiling and the question then will be whether the dollar will be able to stand that attack on its integrity.

The President's message takes it for granted that the military expenditures are all necessary and that mere spending for armament will bring the necessary fright to Moscow and will assure peace.

This is the same unrealistic position which both the President and Secretary of State Acheson have had for a long time now. The idea that, by creating "areas of strength," the enemy will be scared and then will make agreements that can be relied upon has been the only policy the administration has espoused. From all sides, on the other hand, have come advocates of an alternative policy—to use a billion or two to help fight the "cold war" with the same methods that the Communists are using—to infiltrate other countries and assist elements behind the "iron curtain" to get their freedom and to overthrow their governments.

The basis of the present agreement between Russia and the United States, under which the late President Roosevelt granted recognition in 1933, was that both countries should not involve themselves in the internal affairs of the other. Russia not only has broken this agreement but is today engaged in supplying munitions of war to troops fighting not only the forces of the United States but of 12 members of the United Nations. Russia has violated, too, the spirit, if not the letter, of the UN charter.

Yet the President's only solution is to keep on spending money for equipment that will grow obsolete, because Russia will never engage, in the kind of war the American government is planning for. The Moscow regime is plainly interested in fomenting dissension between the Allies, and using her subversive machinery to stir up trouble in area after area where troops from the Allied countries then have to be stationed—Korea, Indo-China, Malaya, Egypt, and probably before long in other parts of the world.

Since Russia has, in effect, declared a "cold war" on the United States, the question of how to fight that war seems to have been left to a few bureaucrats in the State Department whose only answer is to make threats that do not materialize or to buy radio facilities for the "Voice of America." The other day it was announced that the information broadcasts would be handled by a semi-independent agency but one that would still be responsible to the State Department. This emphasizes the confusion in the minds of the administration officials who still think in terms of jurisdictions instead of effectiveness.

Doesn't Make Sense

The "underground" movements during the last war did a powerful job behind enemy lines. The American and British governments have available the men who know how to direct that work. Yet when only $100,000,000 was appropriated by Congress to help persons escaping from the "iron curtain" countries, the State Department adopted an apologetic attitude. The 85-billion-dollar budget doesn't make much sense if year after year the same spending programs are to be advocated—with more and more equipment that will require thousands of square miles of space to store, and with no planning council to direct American policy toward ending the "cold war."

It can be ended by severing diplomatic and trade relations with the "iron curtain" countries and encouraging, with munitions and with money, the elements ready to break up the Soviet Union's control over the Balkans. All economic traffic and the flow of money from Moscow to its agents throughout the world can readily be stopped by concerted action. For the Soviet embassies and legations are the distributing centers and, if they are closed up altogether, much of the enemy's power to cause trouble in other countries can be destroyed. Once the Balkans are on fire, the Russian menace will subside.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Soldier's Republic

It is fascinating to note how often the course of history moves in identical directions centuries apart. The Roman Republic, for instance, was jealousy civilian, the Senate controlling policy and governing the soldier. It was the veterans of Rome's various wars who, in the end, so weakened the civilian authority and the economy of the republic that it led to monarchy and decay.

The generals, in time, took control, made themselves Caesars and emperors, killed each other, and made their capitals on the Danube and Euphrates rather than in Rome. Even in the time of the Stoic Emperor, Marcus Aurelius, the veterans had to be conciliated. Of this, Jacob Burckhardt, in his remarkable study of Rome, entitled "The Age of Constantine the Great," says:

". . . Marcus acquiesced in the traditional abuse of bestowing a huge donative upon the army at his accession, and to such a degree that each soldier (at least those of the Guard) acquired a fortune, and that the soldiers thereafter regarded that amount as a norm. . ."

This norm had constantly to be raised. The soldiers and veterans asked for more, until there was no more to be got. The Guards would kill an emperor because a usurper promised them more. For instance, Pertinax (193) was acknowledged emperor by the soldiers and Senate. He was murdered, after donating a huge sum to the Guards. But that did not help him, for one Didius Julianus, described as a rich fool, offered in excess of $1,000 per soldier. He had a few wonderful weeks and then he too was killed, in favor of the highest bidder.

The United States has had few professional military men as President, the foremost being General Ulysses S. Grant, whose administration was a failure. It is an error to speak of George Washington as a soldier in any professional sense. He was a surveyor and land-owner. When he became commander-in-chief of the Revolutionary Army, he was a civilian with rudimentary experience in the French and Indian War.

This country has, in the past avoided a permanent professional army which might have done for us what the overpowering force of militarism did to Rome at the beginning of the Christian era, and what militarism in modern times did to Germany, Japan, and some South American countries.

In the time of the Emperor Severus, "when peace was restored at home it became apparent that the military rule, with its necessary corollary of foreign war, had become an end in itself. . ."

The military man interprets loyalty differently from the civilian. The military man, for success, requires personal loyalty, whereas the civilian is loyal to a country, a flag, a constitution, an ideal. The military man is trained to command; the civilian to consultation.

Further, the soldier is accustomed to the trappings of his craft, to rigid ceremonials. There are no Harrys and Bobs among soldiers. It is the salute and attention even among cronies. Soldiers are always on parade. And, in time, the simplicities of the Roman civilian life disappeared and in their place came the rigidities of the camp. So that by the time of Diocletian, the soldier became a satrap. Of him, it is said:

". . . Instead of the simple purple with which almost all his predecessors (excepting only the mad emperors) had been content, Diocletian wore, after 293, silk and gold-embroidered garments, and even his shoes were decorated with precious stones and pearls; upon his head he wore a diadem, a white band set with pearls. Naturally, these were the official vestments in which he appeared only on ceremonial occasions . . . access to his sacred person was daily rendered more difficult by elaborations of ceremonials. . ."

This story can be told wherever soldiers prevailed politically. Genghis Khan was a simple herdsman from near Lake Baikal who lived in a yurt, but his successors, Ogatai Khan and Kublai Khan, lived in Oriental splendor and ceremony which were a far cry from their origin. Even Napoleon, the Corsican, learned how to strut his position.

The civilian knows when his day is done and he is reduced to simple citizenship, often to obscurity. Herbert Hoover and even Harry Truman could understand that. When Al Smith ceased to be a Presidential candidate, he used to say that he became a janitor; that is, he ran the Empire State Building. Wendell Willkie rejected obscurity and therefore fought the inevitable until his death.

All this points up any way you choose. History does not occur to teach a moral; yet, some read one into its patterns.

The Old Second Guesser

by John Wheeler

New York Is Still A Lively Town

There's life in the old boy yet. Pegler used to call me "Nine o'Clock" Wheeler, because of my bedtime, but I bet I would have run him ragged last week. I warmed up slowly, saving myself for the clutch which was Friday night.

John Wheeler

On Tuesday, three gents came in for dinner and played bridge — a mild evening and not a very profitable one, as I lost $6 besides setting up the meal and trimmings. On Wednesday I went to "Top Banana," very funny with the flavor of old burlesque. Phil Silvers, the star, knows all the tricks of showmanship and uses them.

"What would they do if Silvers took sick and couldn't work?" I asked George Abbott.

"They would have to close up until he got better," he replied. "You can't find an understudy for a guy like that. It's a risk to depend on one star."

Throughout the performance, he shouts, and sings and dances until I felt a little fatigued just watching him. He has a tough part in which he uses his voice constantly for three hours. According to reports along the main stem, he has been told by a throat specialist not to speak above a whisper from the time the curtain goes down Saturday night until it rises for the evening performance the following Monday.

On Friday there was the annual dinner of the 307th Field Artillery officers, a dwindling group, scheduled at the Yale Club. Because of a social engagement my wife had made, black tie, and she has a whim of iron, I could only stop beforehand for a drink and some gossip with the old soldiers. Every year, I find at these affairs we did more and more to win the war. Too bad General Pershing can't hear the conversation, or maybe he does if he has a celestial radio.

The gathering was on the 18th floor, so when I got off the elevator and saw a group, I naturally joined them although I was a little surprised to find a majority in dinner coats. I began to shake hands with guys who looked familiar and talk about our battles without much response, so after 10 minutes I asked,

"What dinner is this—the 307th Field Artillery?"

"It's the Yale class of '04," was the reply. These birds looked about the same.

I got out of there and found my friends in a smaller room further back. That's the trouble with these reunions — everybody is subject to wear and tear, and it's depressing to see a lot of bald headed, wrinkled old guys and recall them as the bright, youthful, shiny bunch I knew in World War I. I am afraid to look in the mirror, myself. I can remember first names and not last ones and vice versa, and the others have the same affliction. I shook hands all around and promised to show up next year if I last that long.

When I got home, I found my wife dressed and fidgeting for fear we would be late, so I changed my

Dorthalee Raines To Become Bride Of Cpl. W. B. Wilson

Miss Dorthalee Raines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Raines, Baltimore Pike, is to become the bride of Cpl. William Bender Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Wilson, Bedford Road, tonight.

The double ring, candle light wedding ceremony is being solemnized at 7:30 p. m., in Pleasant Grove Methodist Church with Rev. Robert H. Parker, Baltimore, officiating, assisted by Rev. Gordon H. Hall, pastor.

Miss Jessie Gordon is to be the bride's maid of honor; Miss Janice Raines, cousin of the bride; Miss Charlotte Northcraft, bridesmaids; Linda Brant, niece of the bridegroom, Christine Raines, cousin of the bride, flower girls; and David Norris, ring bearer. John Miller is serving as Cpl. Wilson's best man, while Douglas Heavner and Harold Heavner are the ushers.

Tall candelabra and standards of white gladioli against a background of palms are being used in the decorations of the church. James Hager is singing, "I Love You Truly," "Because," and during the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer," and "Through the Years." Mrs. Harry Wilson will accompany him at the organ and play the traditional processional from the opera Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's recessional.

The bride, who is being given in marriage by her father, is wearing a white slipper satin gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, buttoned down the front, a high Chantilly lace collar, long fitted sleeves, trimmed with lace and a row of tiny buttons from the elbow to the wrist. The full skirt ends in a long sweeping train. Her fingertip length veil is held by a tiara of rhinestones and pearls. A spray bouquet of white flowers completes her costume.

Her attendants are all wearing strapless satin gowns with flanges of net, a fitted bodice and very full skirt. Their headdress are satin bands with lily of the valley and they are carrying nosegays of assorted flowers. Miss Gordon's costume is blue; Miss Raine's pink; and Miss Northcraft's green.

The little flower girls' frocks are of orchid satin with a very full matching net overskirt, ruffled sleeves and round neckline. They are wearing flowers in their hair and will carry small nosegays.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1949. While there she was a member of the cappella choir, the Girls' Glee Club and the national Honor Society. She also attended Frostburg State Teachers' College.

Her fiance is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1949. He was a member of the cappella choir, the Boys' Glee Club and a member of the National Honor Society. He graduated from Catherman's Business School and was employed by the Second National Bank, prior to entering the Air Force. He received basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, and after attending Missouri Northwestern State Teachers' College, he is stationed at Mitchell Air Force Base, New York, doing administrative work.

Mr. and Mrs. Raines are entertaining with a reception honoring their daughter and her bridal party following the ceremony. It is to be at the Ali Ghan Country Club. The bridal motif is being carried out in the decorations and the tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For their wedding trip to New York, the bride has chosen a blue and gray check coat with blue hat, red allegator slippers and purse, and a white camelia corsage.

Cpl. Wilson and his bride will reside on Penn Street, Long Island.

It's easier to look right all of the time than just once in a while. Follow a practical schedule!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It's easy for almost anyone to understand why a Powers Girl, whose business it is always to look smack "out of a band box," can't afford to have any detail of her appearance awry. But can you afford an appearance slip, either?

Aren't the eyes of someone — whose opinion you value—either on you at all times or likely to be at any moment? Husbands, beaux, bosses, colleagues, friends and particularly children are aware of the defaults in your get-up. Though they may tell you, it's because they've been taught it's not good manners to make personal remarks. But how they wish that you looked as perfect as they know you can!

Scheduled Minutes

You may not believe it, but the Powers Girls and others who always look perfectly turned out actually never spend much time in achieving the effect. They can't; their lives are far too busy for that. What they do is to devise a schedule for performing their grooming rites so that at no time do they ever need a complete overhaul. Like a house that is systematically picked-up, their grooming is always ready for company - coming inspection. By sticking to such a schedule, they actually save time in any given period.

Secondly, they devise their schedule so cleverly that in the eyes of others it appears effortless. For instance, plan your manicure a good half hour before the children get home from school instead of scheduling it while dinner's cooking. Choose the night that your one-and-only bowls for your hairwash session.

Alert For Mishaps

Lastly, the shining-brights are alerted for the accidents that can happen between one glimpse in a mirror and the next — the seam twists, the straggling wisps, lipstick smudge, mud on the heels, soil on the gloves or any failing daintiness. Don't think these sleek women need to make a self-conscious inventory in every mirror they pass. On the contrary, that's a tactic of their unsure, hit-and-miss sisters. Instead, they simply retire unobtrusively at intervals for any needed repairs so their public is conscious only of what a joy they are to see.

Is that the kind of woman you are? If so, lucky are your family and friends — and aren't you the cherished one!

Tomorrow: Ten tips for the tall and heavy.

My New York

by Mel Heimer

NEW YORK.—In these days of logical marriages, reasonable romances and sober reflection, it is heartening occasionally to see a couple of head-strong, wildly impassioned lovers, and so my day was cheered up in the afternoon when I talked with the Slave of Allah and the Princess of the Nile. The scene was the Waldorf Astoria and the Slave and the Princess were a weary couple of lovers, having just spent two snowbound days in Iceland and operating at the moment on four hours' sleep.

You know them better as Sheppard King III, the Houston, Tex., playboy, and Samia Gamal, designated by such an authority as the Aga Khan as the "greatest Moslem dancer in the world." They were adrift in Manhattan for a couple of days before heading for Dallas to visit his grandmother and thence to Miami for Samia's eight-week engagement in a Florida night club.

Their beautifully fantastic story, of course, is fresh in everyone's mind—how King saw her dancing in a Cairo cafe at 3 a. m. and proposed at 6 and was accepted; how his mother promptly threatened to disown him; how his second wife, Gloria, threw a cup of water in his face at their annulment hearing and told him to stop his "yakity-yaking in the newspapers"; how they finally were married in a Moslem ceremony with him changing his name to Abdullah (Slave of Allah) and so on and on and on and on and on.

They now have been married about two months. I asked Samia how she like it and she said "Fine." Then I asked him and he said "Pretty fine." Neither of them looked as if they were interested in marriage or anything else except a little sleep. Aside from the weariness that enveloped them, they were a healthy looking pair of animals—he 6 feet 3, a onetime Southern Methodist football player with red hair; she auburn-haired, voluptuous and looking like the actress Margo, in gray skirt, tight black jersey and yellow neckerchief.

"You might call Samia 'an exotic Oriental dancer'," King said helpfully. She nodded and then shuddered a bit. "Please do not call me a belly dancer," she said. I asked her if she were nervous about meeting Abdullah's grandmother in Texas and she said no and I believed her.. She's been dancing for 12 years and has been in 37 movies and usually with that background you don't get nervous about much.

She never had been to New York before and according to Abdullah, the one thing she wanted to see was the Statue of Liberty. "I do?" she said when he was telling me this.

I asked Abdullah if he had anything new to say on his relations with his mother and he just shook his head. "I haven't seen her in 10 weeks now," he said, "and I've been out of contact with her."

King scratched his head when I asked if he knew anybody very well here in New York and said no, he guessed not. "I've been here before, of course," he said. "I used to go to Lawrenceville School over in Jersey and once in a while I would slip off for a weekend here in Manhattan." This brought Samia's ears up sharply and she looked at him sweetly. "Don't do it now," she said firmly.

Among the other things Samia wanted to do in America, King said, was eat a hot dog. "She never had one," he said. "Who said so?" she said. "I got plenty American hot dogs during the war. Remember, there were lots of Americans in Egypt then."

Because of the centrifugal force of the earth's rotation, an object weighs slightly less at the equator than it would at the poles.

by Mel Heimer

NEW YORK.—In these days of logical marriages, reasonable romances and sober reflection, it is heartening occasionally to see a couple of head-strong, wildly impassioned lovers, and so my day was cheered up in the afternoon when I talked with the Slave of Allah and the Princess of the Nile. The scene was the Waldorf Astoria and the Slave and the Princess were a weary couple of lovers, having just spent two snowbound days in Iceland and operating at the moment on four hours' sleep.

You know them better as Sheppard King III, the Houston, Tex., playboy, and Samia Gamal, designated by such an authority as the Aga Khan as the "greatest Moslem dancer in the world." They were adrift in Manhattan for a couple of days before heading for Dallas to visit his grandmother and thence to Miami for Samia's eight-week engagement in a Florida night club.

Their beautifully fantastic story, of course, is fresh in everyone's mind—how King saw her dancing in a Cairo cafe at 3 a. m. and proposed at 6 and was accepted; how his mother promptly threatened to disown him; how his second wife, Gloria, threw a cup of water in his face at their annulment hearing and told him to stop his "yakity-yaking in the newspapers"; how they finally were married in a Moslem ceremony with him changing his name to Abdullah (Slave of Allah) and so on and on and on and on and on.

They now have been married about two months. I asked Samia how she like it and she said "Fine." Then I asked him and he said "Pretty fine." Neither of them looked as if they were interested in marriage or anything else except a little sleep. Aside from the weariness that enveloped them, they were a healthy looking pair of animals—he 6 feet 3, a onetime Southern Methodist football player with red hair; she auburn-haired, voluptuous and looking like the actress Margo, in gray skirt, tight black jersey and yellow neckerchief.

"You might call Samia 'an exotic Oriental dancer'," King said helpfully. She nodded and then shuddered a bit. "Please do not call me a belly dancer," she said. I asked her if she were nervous about meeting Abdullah's grandmother in Texas and she said no and I believed her.. She's been dancing for 12 years and has been in 37 movies and usually with that background you don't get nervous about much.

She never had been to New York before and according to Abdullah, the one thing she wanted to see was the Statue of Liberty. "I do?" she said when he was telling me this.

I asked Abdullah if he had anything new to say on his relations with his mother and he just shook his head. "I haven't seen her in 10 weeks now," he said, "and I've been out of contact with her."

King scratched his head when I asked if he knew anybody very well here in New York and said no, he guessed not. "I've been here before, of course," he said. "I used to go to Lawrenceville School over in Jersey and once in a while I would slip off for a weekend here in Manhattan." This brought Samia's ears up sharply and she looked at him sweetly. "Don't do it now," she said firmly.

Among the other things Samia wanted to do in America, King said, was eat a hot dog. "She never had one," he said. "Who said so?" she said. "I got plenty American hot dogs during the war. Remember, there were lots of Americans in Egypt then."

Because of the centrifugal force of the earth's rotation, an object weighs slightly less at the equator than it would at the poles.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It's easy for almost anyone to understand why a Powers Girl, whose business it is always to look smack "out of a band box," can't afford to have any detail of her appearance awry. But can you afford an appearance slip, either?

Aren't the eyes of someone — whose opinion you value—either on you at all times or likely to be at any moment? Husbands, beaux, bosses, colleagues, friends and particularly children are aware of the defaults in your get-up. Though they may tell you, it's because they've been taught it's not good manners to make personal remarks. But how they wish that you looked as perfect as they know you can!

Scheduled Minutes

You may not believe it, but the Powers Girls and others who always look perfectly turned out actually never spend much time in achieving the effect. They can't; their lives are far too busy for that. What they do is to devise a schedule for performing their grooming rites so that at no time do they ever need a complete overhaul. Like a house that is systematically picked-up, their grooming is always ready for company - coming inspection. By sticking to such a schedule, they actually save time in any given period.

Secondly, they devise their schedule so cleverly that in the eyes of others it appears effortless. For instance, plan your manicure a good half hour before the children get home from school instead of scheduling it while dinner's cooking. Choose the night that your one-and-only bowls for your hairwash session.

Alert For Mishaps

Lastly, the shining-brights are alerted for the accidents that can happen between one glimpse in a mirror and the next — the seam twists, the straggling wisps, lipstick smudge, mud on the heels, soil on the gloves or any failing daintiness. Don't think these sleek women need to make a self-conscious inventory in every mirror they pass. On the contrary, that's a tactic of their unsure, hit-and-miss sisters. Instead, they simply retire unobtrusively at intervals for any needed repairs so their public is conscious only of what a joy they are to see.

Is that the kind of woman you are? If so, lucky are your family and friends — and aren't you the cherished one!

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 22—(INS)—"The Sea Around Us," on the top of the list of non-fiction best sellers, has attracted the attention of Howard Hughes. He's taken an option on it, and the plan is to film it with exciting underseas explorations and no human characters.

Howard Hughes

"Kon Tiki," along the same lines, surprised everyone by becoming a box-office joy. Sea stories are extremely popular today.

I couldn't put down "The Cruel Sea" until I'd finished reading it. It's more exciting than Sabatini's wonderful adventure stories about the bounding main. I was hoping some one of our Hollywood producers would buy "The Cruel Sea," but I am told it's been bought by a British company.

Tomorrow morning Rita Hayworth, Glenn Ford and Director Vincent Sherman are having their first official meeting and will go over the completed script of "Affair In Trinidad."

Meanwhile, la princess shoots two dance numbers by herself Friday and Saturday.

Our Hollywood big business brains are talking about Universal-International's gross of $64,783,678 this year, over $10,000,000 more than last year.

The Hollywood reporter pays tribute to Leonard Goldstein, who brought in such money makers as "Ma And Pa Kettle," "Down On The Farm," "Francis Goes To The Races," "Tomahawk," "Up Front," etc.

A bow goes to William Goetz and Leo Spitz, who gave Leonard a producing job out of the blue. He had done little or nothing, but his bosses had confidence in him and today he is top producer on the U-I lot. So often good men are passed by because studio executives are afraid to take a chance.

Chatter in Hollywood:

Their worst enemies got nowhere in their attempts to start a feud between Doris Day and Danny Thomas. Danny thinks Doris is one of the most popular singers of all time and one of the swellest girls he has ever known.

"Doris and I are both much too happy that 'I'll See You In My Dreams' has been such a success, and when I read that I never mentioned her in any interviews I long-distanced her to assure her it wasn't true," Danny told me.

Doris also denies in no uncertain terms that there has ever been any trouble between her and her latest co-star.

I have just had good news from Germany about Peter Lorre, and all his friends will be very happy to hear this, because when Peter left Hollywood he was a sick man.

He's back on his feet again and is directing and starring in his own independent picture in Munich. He's making a science-fiction picture called "Within The Volcano," and it has the terror and horror that made the name Lorre so famous on the screen in America.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Art Jarrett goes east to aid Eleanor Holm, in her legal battle to disprove Billy Rose's contention that Jarrett's divorce from Eleanor was illegal. A million dollar alimony hinges on this testimony.

Final adoption papers have been given Agnes Moorehead for the two-year-old boy she has been caring for, so he is now completely hers.

Another storm casualty is Francis X. Bushman, who fell off the roof while trying to find a bad leak during the big rain. He sustained a knee injury.

Noel Coward has written friends he is heading for Hollywood soon for a vacation—but no work.

Relatives of the late Count Cini, Merle Oberon's great friend, are waging a battle over his estate.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 22—(INS)—"The Sea Around Us," on the top of the list of non-fiction best sellers, has attracted the attention of Howard Hughes. He's taken an option on it, and the plan is to film it with exciting underseas explorations and no human characters.

Howard Hughes

"Kon Tiki," along the same lines, surprised everyone by becoming a box-office joy. Sea stories are extremely popular today.

I couldn't put down "The Cruel Sea" until I'd finished reading it. It's more exciting than Sabatini's wonderful adventure stories about the bounding main. I was hoping some one of our Hollywood producers would buy "The Cruel Sea," but I am told it's been bought by a British company.

Tomorrow morning Rita Hayworth, Glenn Ford and Director Vincent Sherman are having their first official meeting and will go over the completed script of "Affair In Trinidad."

Meanwhile, la princess shoots two dance numbers by herself Friday and Saturday.

Our Hollywood big business brains are talking about Universal-International's gross of $64,783,678 this year, over $10,000,000 more than last year.

The Hollywood reporter pays tribute to Leonard Goldstein, who brought in such money makers as "Ma And Pa Kettle," "Down On The Farm," "Francis Goes To The Races," "Tomahawk," "Up Front," etc.

A bow goes to William Goetz and Leo Spitz, who gave Leonard a producing job out of the blue. He had done little or nothing, but his bosses had confidence in him and today he is top producer on the U-I lot. So often good men are passed by because studio executives are afraid to take a chance.

Chatter in Hollywood:

Their worst enemies got nowhere in their attempts to start a feud between Doris Day and Danny Thomas. Danny thinks Doris is one of the most popular singers of all time and one of the swellest girls he has ever known.

"Doris and I are both much too happy that 'I'll See You In My Dreams' has been such a success, and when I read that I never mentioned her in any interviews I long-distanced her to assure her it wasn't true," Danny told me.

Doris also denies in no uncertain terms that there has ever been any trouble between her and her latest co-star.

I have just had good news from Germany about Peter Lorre, and all his friends will be very happy to hear this, because when Peter left Hollywood he was a sick man.

He's back on his feet again and is directing and starring in his own independent picture in Munich. He's making a science-fiction picture called "Within The Volcano," and it has the terror and horror that made the name Lorre so famous on the screen in America.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Art Jarrett goes east to aid Eleanor Holm, in her legal battle to disprove Billy Rose's contention that Jarrett's divorce from Eleanor was illegal. A million dollar alimony hinges on this testimony.

Final adoption papers have been given Agnes Moorehead for the two-year-old boy she has been caring for, so he is now completely hers.

Another storm casualty is Francis X. Bushman, who fell off the roof while trying to find a bad leak during the big rain. He sustained a knee injury.

Noel Coward has written friends he is heading for Hollywood soon for a vacation—but no work.

Relatives of the late Count Cini, Merle Oberon's great friend, are waging a battle over his estate.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (INS)—The passing show:

An understandably human problem has been neatly solved by airline pilots and crew members assigned to manning the big four-engine jobs which have been converted to coach travel between the coasts.

In order to carry more people at the reduced rates the lines have dug the galleys, lounges and other gear out of their planes. Seats have been narrowed a bit and installed in sets of three and two, instead of two and two. Standard Constellations and DC-6s have been going out of New York with as many as 80 passengers.

This has resulted in heavy traffic jams leading to the two rest rooms. Anyway, some bright pilot who found himself forced to queue up in a long line, when he wished to use the facilities in the rear of his plane, got a brilliant idea.

Now, whenever he wants to, let us say, wash his hands in a hurry and get back to his controls, he simply flips on the "fasten seat belts" light. This clears the aisle immediately. Other pilots and crews quickly caught on.

The Navy Department recently sent a sharp note to Jim Winchester, popular New York Sunday Mirror aviation writer and magazine free-lancer, rejecting a piece Jim had submitted (for clearance) on blimp-detection of submarines.

"This is top secret information and we cannot pass it," the Navy thundered. "Where did you get it?"

The answer was simple. The Navy had sent it to him, in unclassified periodicals.

The U. S. is going to give Europe something new: Culture.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra, one of the world's greatest, will make its first appearance there in Paris, at the Congress for Cultural Freedom. Purpose of the Congress is to focus the attention of the world on the vitality of cultural achievements by free men.

Prominent U. S. authors, philosophers, lecturers, the New York City Ballet Company (directed by George Balanchine), prominent artists and people of the theater also will appear during the Congress, next May.

First time we've ever tried to woo them with genius.

Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, who held together the amazing team of scientists and engineers which produced the atomic bomb, made biting reference in a recent speech at Oyster, N. Y., to the half-hearted efforts of the State Department to spring Associated Press Correspondent Bill Oatis from his Czechoslovakian dungeon.

"In 1904," he declared, "there occurred an incident in United States history not known to many of our citizens today. A naturalized American, Ion Perdicaris, was held for ransom in Morocco by Ahmed Raisuli, a bandit. Theodore Roosevelt and his secretary of state, John Hay, lost little time in handling this outrage. They dispatched five words to the Sultan of Morocco. The brief message could not be misunderstood:

"'Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead.'

"At that time two American warships were steaming for Morocco under orders of the President. Perdicaris was quickly released.

"Theodore Roosevelt's government meant business. No one doubted but that the rights of an American citizen abroad were sacred, and that this nation had the dignity that comes with strength — military and moral — to make certain these rights would be respected.

You'd think champagne ran out of hydrants, but anyway "you can't take it with you" and I wasn't the host, although it did occur to me it might pay to save something for a rainy day. Arthur Krock, the distinguished Washington correspondent and columnist of The New York Times, was among those present. I have known him a long time, since he was in the bush leagues. We exchanged a cordial greeting, and then he said,

"Why I thought you had been dead 20 years." It was supposed to be a joke.

"I thought you had, too," I answered, "until Truman pulled the plug on you on that story about Eisenhower."

"Touche'," he replied. "I deserved it."

Russell Nype was another guest, but he wouldn't sing because he said he had been sick. I danced a couple of times and hit the hay at 2 o'clock. I didn't need a sleeping pill.

The New Mexico senator demanded that the Interior Department "be required to come up here and tell us whether this is a modern, progressive way of handling oil."

"I think," he snorted, "if they did the same thing for the Indians in Montana, it would be terrible."

Chairman O'Mahoney promptly agreed that he "would be disposed" to call upon the Interior Department to come up and report to us both with respect to the handling of these new Indian lands and the system mentioned by Senator Anderson."

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Bank Directors Are Re-Elected

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of The Second National Bank yesterday the following were re-elected directors:

Harry J. Barton, J. Glenn Beall, G. William Bibby, Dr. J. Russell Cook, Charles Z. Heskett, Owen E. Hitchens, Tasker G. Lowndes, John H. Mosner, Henry W. Miller, Joseph M. Naughton, John Schwarzenbach, and Fulcher P. Smith.

The judges of election were Earl Robertson, B. M. Kamens, and James A. Avirett. Emil Schwarzenbach and Carl F. Schmutz had been named previously to serve as proxies.

In submitting his accounting, President Naughton reported the installment loan department, established in June of 1946, made approximately 18,000 loans, totaling nearly $10 million dollars. He stated that another noteworthy development of the past year was the decline in withdrawals and increase in deposits in the savings department.

Earnings after charges were reported at $68,579 and from this amount dividends of $2 per share totaling $32,000 were paid. The previous year dividends totaled $27,000 out of earnings of $58, 05. Stock had a book value of $63.60 per share at the close of 1951.

Naughton, in his account, also said, "The present tax load—on both individuals and business—is at the danger point. Economy in both civilian and defense units of government must prevail. Otherwise the savings of all people and institutions will be destroyed."

The organizational meeting of the directors will be held today to elect officers for the ensuing year.

Sloan Will Speak

Former Judge D. Lindley Sloan will be guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club Thursday at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA. The meeting will mark the 37th anniversary of Kiwanis International.

Permit Granted

The South Cumberland Planing Mill has received a permit from the building engineer to construct a four-car garage with second floor storage. The structure will cost an estimated $1,250.

At last—Diesel economy and hill-leveling performance come to thousands of truckers who have never had any choice but gasoline power in the past!

TODAY America's foremost builder of Diesel trucks smashes the size-weight barrier that up to now has denied the many economies of Diesel power to haulers of medium-weight loads.

Today GMC offers users of equipment in the 19,500 GVW-35,000 GCW range a sensational new Diesel truck-tractor.

It is powered by the first welterweight Diesel truck engine—a smaller, more compact model of the famous General Motors 2-cycle engine that has made GMC America's first-choice Diesel truck.

More Miles per Gallon

Because it is Diesel-powered, this new GMC Model D450-37 will cost you far less to run per mile, far less to maintain per year than any other 2½-tonner you've ever owned. All Diesel experience proves that.

Because it is a 2-cycle Diesel, it is a fast-starting, quick-accelerating, highly responsive truck with plenty of snap in traffic—a truck that will maintain a steady "on time" schedule even on hilly runs.

Fuel economy is automatic thanks to GMC's famous Fuel Modulator. Regardless of throttle pressure this engine never gets more fuel than it needs and makes the most of what it gets. Smooth driving is assured by "easy-turn" recirculating ball-bearing steering—even electric shifting on two-speed axle models.

Nationwide Service

Equally important to the thousands of truckers who can now enjoy the benefits of Diesel power for the first time, this new GMC D450-37 is backed by the nation's largest network of Diesel service stations.

Before you buy another truck, you owe it to yourself to investigate these new GMC welterweight Diesels if you want to cut costs! We will be glad to give you facts and figures that will open your eyes. Why not come in today!

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of The Second National Bank yesterday the following were re-elected directors:

Harry J. Barton, J. Glenn Beall, G. William Bibby, Dr. J. Russell Cook, Charles Z. Heskett, Owen E. Hitchens, Tasker G. Lowndes, John H. Mosner, Henry W. Miller, Joseph M. Naughton, John Schwarzenbach, and Fulcher P. Smith.

The judges of election were Earl Robertson, B. M. Kamens, and James A. Avirett. Emil Schwarzenbach and Carl F. Schmutz had been named previously to serve as proxies.

In submitting his accounting, President Naughton reported the installment loan department, established in June of 1946, made approximately 18,000 loans, totaling nearly $10 million dollars. He stated that another noteworthy development of the past year was the decline in withdrawals and increase in deposits in the savings department.

Earnings after charges were reported at $68,579 and from this amount dividends of $2 per share totaling $32,000 were paid. The previous year dividends totaled $27,000 out of earnings of $58, 05. Stock had a book value of $63.60 per share at the close of 1951.

Naughton, in his account, also said, "The present tax load—on both individuals and business—is at the danger point. Economy in both civilian and defense units of government must prevail. Otherwise the savings of all people and institutions will be destroyed."

The organizational meeting of the directors will be held today to elect officers for the ensuing year.

Allegany High's red-hot Campers made it four in a row last night in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League by trouncing Bruce High's cagers 58-41 in Westernport.

The victory kept the Alco five on top of the six-team circuit with an unblemished record. The Campers have won seven of ten games in overall play. In other games last night Fort Hill trounced Barton 69-52 in a rough contest at Barton and Central tripped Beall, 49-41 at Lonaconing.

Make 8 of 11 Shots

Making an amazing eight of their first 11 shots from the floor Coach Walter L. Bowers' Alco aggregation piled up a 19-6 first quarter lead and were never headed thereafter. Bruce cut the margain to 27-16 at intermission but the Campers came right back to build up their biggest margin of 19 points at the close of the third stanza, 42-23.

Tall, lanky Dave Steele was the scoring gun for Allegany, banging home six fielders and adding three fouls for 15 points. He was followed by Herbert "Smokey" Howe with 10. Ronnie Sisk played an outstanding floor game, sparkling with his rebound work, in addition to contributing eight points to the Campers total.

Doc Berry and Gene Ferguson were best for Bruce which lost its second WMI game in four starts. Berry paced the Westernport scorers with 10 tallies. Bruce converted 17 of 25 foul shots and held John Eversole, Allegany forward who has been averaging 20 points a game in the loop, to six markers.

Call 55 Personals

Steele was the only player ejected via personals, leaving with five minutes remaining to play in the fourth period.

Referees Bob Pence and Eddie Diehl plastered 55 personals on Barton and Fort Hill, ejecting three players in the slam-bang affair. John Shore, who paced the Sentinels to their third straight WMI win with 16 tallies, left in the fourth period along with teammate Jim Farris. Bob Kirk of Barton was tossed out in the third quarter.

The Sentinels were guilty of 33 of the foul calls.

Fort Hill hopped off to an early lead and was never topped outscoring the Braves 28-14 from the field. Barton hooped 24 of 42 fouls with Sonny Kyle connecting for 11 of 19 free tosses. Kyle topped the Braves' scorers with 21 tallies.

The loss was Barton's fourth straight in the league.

Kelly Scores 21 Points

Tommy Kelly collected 10 field goals and 21 points in Central High School's triumph over Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's Mountaineers.

Coach Johnny Meyers' Orange and Black cagers got off to a 15-8 lead at the quarter and stayed in front throughout. The score was 26-21 at the half at 33-28 at the close of the third period.

Brennaman of Beall and Andrews and Ed Thompson of Central were ejected on personal fouls.

Thompson excelled with his floorwork. Arnone and Davis shared scoring honors for Beall with 10 points each.

Bruce at Central are scheduled to tangle in an important county Class "B" contest Friday night at Lonaconing.

Fort Hill Jayvees Win 9th Straight

Fort Hill High's Jayvees easily turned back Barton's junior varsity at Barton last night by the score of 51 to 25 for the Little Sentinels' 9th straight cage victory this season.

Ryan Charged With Assault

Nearly Caused Riot In Garden Jan. 11

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Suspended fight manager Tommy Ryan and his brother were arrested today on an assault charge for punching a referee and a matchmaker at Madison Square Garden January 11.

The state said they nearly started a riot.

Ryan allegedly punched Referee Ray Miller for stopping a fight and making Rocky Castellani, Ryan's man, the victim of a technical knockout.

Then, the state charged, Ryan and his brother punched and kicked matchmaker Al Weill in Castellani's dressing room.

Castellani, the favorite, lost to Ernie Durando when the referee halted the bout at a point where Castellani was ahead on points.

Joe Louis Fails In Phoenix Open

Four Other Negro Golfers Qualify

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 22 (AP)—George Getchell of Omaha, Neb., and Jack Fleck, Davenport, Ia., fired three-under-par 69s today to lead a field of 160 seeking berths in the $10,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

The pair, whose scores were best of the day over the 6,573 yard Arizona Country Club layout, were closely followed by Bob Duden, Portland, Ore., and Harry Todd veteran Dallas, Tex., shotmaker, with sub-par 70s.

Although the tournament committee hasn't announced what score it will take to qualify, four top-flight negro golfers apparently were assured of berths.

They were Ted Rhodes, Nashville, Tenn., who carded a 71; Bill Spiller, Los Angeles, 72; Eural Clark, Los Angeles, 72, and Charles Sifford, Philadelphia, 75.

Joe Louis, former world's heavyweight boxing champion who accompanied the four here, appeared off of the running with an 81.

Rhodes, Sifford and Spiller are professionals, Clark an amateur.

Between 40 and 50 of those playing today are expected to qualify for the tournament proper Thursday. It will be played on the Phoenix Country Club Course.

Bob Goode, Redskins' Fullback, To Report For Induction Today

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 22 (AP)—Starting fullback Bob Goode of the Washington Redskins professional football team will report to his Giddings, Tex., draft board for induction into the armed services tomorrow.

A resident of Austin, Goode passed his pre-induction physical in Alexandria, Va., last December. At 24, he is married but has no children.

Before starting his three-year stint with the Redskins, Goode was an All-Southwest Conference player at Texas A. & M.

Charles Designated

New York Dismisses Matthews As Possible Heavy Challenger

IBC Says Walcott Must Fight Ezzard

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—(AP)—State boxing boss Bob Christenberry today followed up his "fight or else" ultimatum to heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott by designating Ezzard Charles as his logical opponent. At the same time he dismissed Harry (Kid) Matthews as a possible heavyweight challenger as far as New York is concerned.

Yesterday the fast-moving chairman of the State Athletic Commission warned Walcott to agree within 15 days to a title defense and today he announced that Charles had forwarded a formal challenge and a $5,000 forfeit check. Co-manager Jake Mintz handled the details for Charles, the former champion.

This all resulted in statements and counter-statements by Walcott and his manager, Felix Bocchicchio; Jack Hurley, manager of Matthews; Marty Weill, manager of undefeated heavyweight Rocky Marciano, and the International Boxing Club, among others.

Here's what happened today:

Charles Logical Contender

1—Christenberry said Charles was the logical contender; that he did not consider Matthews as a heavyweight challenger and that, in his opinion, Matthews doesn't want to fight light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim.

2—Christenberry said that Charles was universally regarded as the No. 1 contender and deserving of the title shot. That he thought Walcott should make his title defense by late March or early April.

3—Marty Weill said "Marciano will not attempt to get a championship fight with Walcott unless Charles wants to step aside."

4—Bocchicchio said "we may decide to sign for three bouts within 15 days—probably a first bout in March with Matthews on the West Coast and a title defense in June. . . we have a verbal agreement—made under duress—to defend against Charles. . .we will take on one tune-up fight, preferably against Matthews, and I look with favor on signing for a title bout with either Marciano or Charles."

(Bocchicchio didn't explain how Walcott, as heavyweight champion could engage in a tuneup with Matthews. Every time a heavyweight king steps into a ring for a bout he risks his title. There are no over-the-weight non-title shots for heavyweight champs).

5—Walcott told newsmen he was "ready to fight right now against any fighter that the IBC should pick as my opponent."

6—Hurley, in Seattle, predicted Matthews would sign within a few days to meet Walcott.

IBC Has Contract

7—The IBC insisted that it had a solid contract for a return bout between Charles and Walcott. Jim Norris, president of the IBC, said Walcott's manager had never said to him (Norris) that Walcott won't fight Charles. "If they decide to walk out, I'll do all in my power to block Walcott from fighting anyone else."

Deadlines Set For Champs To Defend Titles

March 15 Final Day For Walcott, Maxim

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—The National Boxing Association tonight put out a list of "absolute deadlines" for title defenses by the eight NBA-recognized champions. March 15 is the last day for heavyweight Joe Walcott.

The release said the dates were set up at the association's 1951 convention in Chicago.

Besides Jersey Joe Walcott in the top division, March 15 was fixed for Joey Maxim, light heavyweight, and Kid Gavilan, welterweight.

The NBA said they were given that much time in a move to be "completely fair with the six months rule which x x x is to be strictly enforced." The plan is to vacate any title not defended within that period.

Other deadline dates:

Flyweight: Dado Marino, six months from his defense against Terry Allen on Nov. 1, 1951.

Bantamweight: Vic Toweel, six months from his defense against Luis Romero on Nov. 22, 1951.

Featherweight: Sandy Saddler, six months from his defense against Willie Pep on Sept. 16, 1951.

Lightweight: Jimmy Carter, six months from his defense against Art Aragon, on Nov. 14, 1951.

Middleweight: Ray Robinson, six months from his title acquisition from Randy Turpin on Sept. 12, 1951.

In the case of Kid Gavilan, the title defense must be against Charlie Humez, European champion, NBA said.

Thugs Threaten Senator's Life

Introduced Measure To Outlaw Boxing

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 22 (INS)—A Queens Senator declared today that hoodlums have threatened his life and the lives of his family because he introduced a bill in the New York legislature to outlaw professional boxing and wrestling.

Senator James F. Fitzgerald, St. Albans Democrat, said he had received at least a half a dozen threateing telephone calls.

"They have not only threatened my life," he said, "but those of my wife and daughter. The hoodlums won't stay on the phone long enough for us to trace the calls. But they haven't changed my mind about professional prize fighting. I'm more determined than ever to work for passage of the bill."

Fitzgerald took issue with the "experts" who say his bill is doomed.

"They may receive a big surprise," he said. "I have talked with a lot of decent people in the last week and I was surprised to find that most of them feel the same way I do."

Fitzgerald said the fight picture is "horrible" and that "apparently the boxing commission can't control the hoodlums running the game."

Leary Gets 10 Goals, Vikings Win, 61-48; Jackets Score, 62-41

Keyser High School and Petersburg High School, undefeated in the race for the Potomac Valley Conference championship, kept their records unbelmished by chalking up victories last night at Fort Ashby and Petersburg.

Coach John Shelton's Keyserites made it seven in a row in the 16-team conference by taking the measure of Fort Ashby, 53-36, on the latter's court.

Petersburg's Vikings, coached by Jesse Riggleman, made it six straight by taking a 61-48 battle from Franklin High School.

In the third P. V. C. game of the night, Moorefield High's Yellow Jackets trimmed the Romney High School Pioneers, 62-41, at Moorefield. It was Moorefield's 6th win against three losses. Romney had dropped six and won two in the P. V. C.

Neil Leary paced the Keyser offensive by scoring 10 field goals and a total of 23 points. Joe Swisher helped the cause with seven fielders and 15 tallies. Donald Bennett and Kay Elder led Fort Ashby with 13 and 11 markers.

KHS led at the quarters 19-9, 32-17 and 44-29.

In the preliminary game, Keyser's Jayvees topped Fort Ashby, 30-28.

Vikings' Late Rally Wins

Petersburg rallied in the final period to edge a scrappy Franklin team after the teams had fought to a 41-41 deadlock at the close of the third stanza.

Franklin lost four of its five starters on personal fouls—E. Lambert leaving the game in the third period while Kimble, Koontz and Wimer were ejected in the last quarter.

Koontz, who scored 20 points to pace the Franklin scorers, was banished on five personals five minutes before the final whistle with Petersburg leading 44-41. Franklin played without the services of Delbert Hoover and Scott Hammer, regular center and guard, who were out of action on account of illness.

Larry Landes was high scorer for Petersburg with 17 points. Schaeffer collected 16 and Rodgers 12.

Petersburg's girls, undefeated for three seasons, made it 21 straight by defeating Franklin's sextet, 33-24, in the opener.

The twin bill attracted 700 persons, the largest crowd ever to witness scholastic games in Petersburg.

Moorefield Is Victor

Pat Kern registered 13 field goals and 29 points in Moorefield's victory over the Romney Pioneers.

Coach Johnny Paugh's outfit led throughout, the quarter scores being 19-9, 34-18 and 48-25.

Roger Parker scored 10 points to lead Romney. Maphis garnered nine and Liller and Brown eight each.

Moorefield's junior varsity quint defeated Romney's Jayvees in the first game of the twin bill, 37-27.

Mullaney And Abe Star; Explorers Score 10th Win

A 24-point barrage in the fourth quarter, paced by Marty Mullaney's 11 tallies, gave Coach Art Slocum's LaSalle High cagers a 59-42 decision over Ridgeley High's Blackhawks last night on the SS. Peter and Paul court.

In a ragged, poorly-played contest LaSalle led 14-11, 26-22 and 35-34 at the quarters and didn't draw away from the West Virginians until the final stanza.

Mullaney topped the scorers with 19 points on eight field goals and three fouls, but the Explorer center fared badly at the foul stripe converting only three of 12 tries. Charles Kienhofer, who collected eight of his 11 points in the initial period, and Paul Ackerman contributed 21 tallies to the Explorers' cause in addition to playing good floor games.

Ronald Abe, string-bean center for the Hawks, paced the losers 14 points. Lowell Loy of Ridgeley was the only player ejected on fouls, going out in the fourth period.

The victory was the 10th in 14 games for the Slocummen and marked the ninth time in 10 games Ridgeley has gone down to defeat, five in a row. The lineups:

Call 55 Personals

Steele was the only player ejected via personals, leaving with five minutes remaining to play in the fourth period.

Referees Bob Pence and Eddie Diehl plastered 55 personals on Barton and Fort Hill, ejecting three players in the slam-bang affair. John Shore, who paced the Sentinels to their third straight WMI win with 16 tallies, left in the fourth period along with teammate Farris. Bob Kirk of Barton was tossed out in the third quarter.

The Sentinels were guilty of 33 of the foul calls.

Fort Hill hopped off to an early lead and was never topped outscoring the Braves 28-14 from the field. Barton hooped 24 of 42 fouls with Sonny Kyle connecting for 11 of 19 free tosses. Kyle topped the Braves' scorers with 21 tallies.

Ryan Charged With Assault

Nearly Caused Riot In Garden Jan. 11

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Suspended fight manager Tommy Ryan and his brother were arrested today on an assault charge for punching a referee and a matchmaker at Madison Square Garden January 11.

The state said they nearly started a riot.

Ryan allegedly punched Referee Ray Miller for stopping a fight and making Rocky Castellani, Ryan's man, the victim of a technical knockout.

Then, the state charged, Ryan and his brother punched and kicked matchmaker Al Weill in Castellani's dressing room.

Castellani, the favorite, lost to Ernie Durando when the referee halted the bout at a point where Castellani was ahead on points.

Four Other Negro Golfers Qualify

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 22 (AP)—George Getchell of Omaha, Neb., and Jack Fleck, Davenport, Ia., fired three-under-par 69s today to lead a field of 160 seeking berths in the $10,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

The pair, whose scores were best of the day over the 6,573 yard Arizona Country Club layout, were closely followed by Bob Duden, Portland, Ore., and Harry Todd veteran Dallas, Tex., shotmaker, with sub-par 70s.

Although the tournament committee hasn't announced what score it will take to qualify, four top-flight negro golfers apparently were assured of berths.

They were Ted Rhodes, Nashville, Tenn., who carded a 71; Bill Spiller, Los Angeles, 72; Eural Clark, Los Angeles, 72, and Charles Sifford, Philadelphia, 75.

Joe Louis, former world's heavyweight boxing champion who accompanied the four here, appeared out of the running with an 81.

Rhodes, Sifford and Spiller are professionals, Clark an amateur.

Between 40 and 50 of those playing today are expected to qualify for the tournament proper Thursday. It will be played on the Phoenix Country Club Course.

New York Dismisses Matthews As Possible Heavy Challenger

IBC Says Walcott Must Fight Ezzard

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—(AP)—State boxing boss Bob Christenberry today followed up his "fight or else" ultimatum to heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott by designating Ezzard Charles as his logical opponent. At the same time he dismissed Harry (Kid) Matthews as a possible heavyweight challenger as far as New York is concerned.

Yesterday the fast-moving chairman of the State Athletic Commission warned Walcott to agree within 15 days to a title defense and today he announced that Charles had forwarded a formal challenge and a $5,000 forfeit check. Co-manager Jake Mintz handled the details for Charles, the former champion.

This all resulted in statements and counter-statements by Walcott and his manager, Felix Bocchicchio; Jack Hurley, manager of Matthews; Marty Weill, manager of undefeated heavyweight Rocky Marciano, and the International Boxing Club, among others.

Here's what happened today:

Charles Logical Contender

1—Christenberry said Charles was the logical contender; that he did not consider Matthews as a heavyweight challenger and that, in his opinion, Matthews doesn't want to fight light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim.

2—Christenberry said that Charles was universally regarded as the No. 1 contender and deserving of the title shot. That he thought Walcott should make his title defense by late March or early April.

3—Marty Weill said "Marciano will not attempt to get a championship fight with Walcott unless Charles wants to step aside."

4—Bocchicchio said "we may decide to sign for three bouts within 15 days—probably a first bout in March with Matthews on the West Coast and a title defense in June. . . we have a verbal agreement—made under duress—to defend against Charles. . .we will take on one tune-up fight, preferably against Matthews, and I look with favor on signing for a title bout with either Marciano or Charles."

(Bocchicchio didn't explain how Walcott, as heavyweight champion could engage in a tuneup with Matthews. Every time a heavyweight king steps into a ring for a bout he risks his title. There are no over-the-weight non-title shots for heavyweight champs).

5—Walcott told newsmen he was "ready to fight right now against any fighter that the IBC should pick as my opponent."

6—Hurley, in Seattle, predicted Matthews would sign within a few days to meet Walcott.

IBC Has Contract

7—The IBC insisted that it had a solid contract for a return bout between Charles and Walcott. Jim Norris, president of the IBC, said Walcott's manager had never said to him (Norris) that Walcott won't fight Charles. "If they decide to walk out, I'll do all in my power to block Walcott from fighting anyone else."

Deadlines Set For Champs To Defend Titles

March 15 Final Day For Walcott, Maxim

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—The National Boxing Association tonight put out a list of "absolute deadlines" for title defenses by the eight NBA-recognized champions, March 15 is the last day for heavyweight Joe Walcott.

The release said the dates were set up at the association's 1951 convention in Chicago.

Besides Jersey Joe Walcott in the top division, March 15 was fixed for Joey Maxim, light heavyweight, and Kid Gavilan, welterweight.

The NBA said they were given that much time in a move to be "completely fair with the six months rule which x x x is to be strictly enforced." The plan is to vacate any title not defended within that period.

Other deadline dates:

Flyweight: Dado Marino, six months from his defense against Terry Allen on Nov. 1, 1951.

Bantamweight: Vic Toweel, six months from his defense against Luis Romero on Nov. 22, 1951.

Featherweight: Sandy Saddler, six months from his defense against Willie Pep on Sept. 16, 1951.

Lightweight: Jimmy Carter, six months from his defense against Art Aragon, on Nov. 14, 1951.

Middleweight: Ray Robinson, six months from his title acquisition from Randy Turpin on Sept. 12, 1951.

In the case of Kid Gavilan, the title defense must be against Charlie Humez, European champion, NBA said.

Thugs Threaten Senator's Life

Introduced Measure To Outlaw Boxing

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 22 (INS)—A Queens Senator declared today that hoodlums have threatened his life and the lives of his family because he introduced a bill in the New York legislature to outlaw professional boxing and wrestling.

Senator James F. Fitzgerald, St. Albans Democrat, said he had received at least a half a dozen threateing telephone calls.

"They have not only threatened my life," he said, "but those of my wife and daughter. The hoodlums won't stay on the phone long enough for us to trace the calls. But they haven't changed my mind about professional prize fighting. I'm more determined than ever to work for passage of the bill."

Fitzgerald took issue with the "experts" who say his bill is doomed.

"They may receive a big surprise," he said. "I have talked with a lot of decent people in the last week and I was surprised to find that most of them feel the same way I do."

Fitzgerald said the fight picture is "horrible" and that "apparently the boxing commission can't control the hoodlums running the game."

The Sentinels were guilty of 33 of the foul calls.

Fort Hill hopped off to an early lead and was never topped outscoring the Braves 28-14 from the field. Barton hooped 24 of 42 fouls with Sonny Kyle connecting for 11 of 19 free tosses. Kyle topped the Braves' scorers with 21 tallies.

The loss was Barton's fourth straight in the league.

Ryan Charged With Assault

Nearly Caused Riot In Garden Jan. 11

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Suspended fight manager Tommy Ryan and his brother were arrested today on an assault charge for punching a referee and a matchmaker at Madison Square Garden January 11.

The state said they nearly started a riot.

Ryan allegedly punched Referee Ray Miller for stopping a fight and making Rocky Castellani, Ryan's man, the victim of a technical knockout.

Then, the state charged, Ryan and his brother punched and kicked matchmaker Al Weill in Castellani's dressing room.

Castellani, the favorite, lost to Ernie Durando when the referee halted the bout at a point where Castellani was ahead on points.

Joe Louis Fails In Phoenix Open

Four Other Negro Golfers Qualify

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 22 (AP)—George Getchell of Omaha, Neb., and Jack Fleck, Davenport, Ia., fired three-under-par 69s today to lead a field of 160 seeking berths in the $10,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

The pair, whose scores were best of the day over the 6,573 yard Arizona Country Club layout, were closely followed by Bob Duden, Portland, Ore., and Harry Todd veteran Dallas, Tex., shotmaker, with sub-par 70s.

Although the tournament committee hasn't announced what score it will take to qualify, four top-flight negro golfers apparently were assured of berths.

They were Ted Rhodes, Nashville, Tenn., who carded a 71; Bill Spiller, Los Angeles, 72; Eural Clark, Los Angeles, 72, and Charles Sifford, Philadelphia, 75.

Joe Louis, former world's heavyweight boxing champion who accompanied the four here, appeared off of the running with an 81.

Rhodes, Sifford and Spiller are professionals, Clark an amateur.

Between 40 and 50 of those playing today are expected to qualify for the tournament proper Thursday. It will be played on the Phoenix Country Club Course.

Charles Designated

IBC Says Walcott Must Fight Ezzard

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—(AP)—State boxing boss Bob Christenberry today followed up his "fight or else" ultimatum to heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott by designating Ezzard Charles as his logical opponent. At the same time he dismissed Harry (Kid) Matthews as a possible heavyweight challenger as far as New York is concerned.

Yesterday the fast-moving chairman of the State Athletic Commission warned Walcott to agree within 15 days to a title defense and today he announced that Charles had forwarded a formal challenge and a $5,000 forfeit check. Co-manager Jake Mintz handled the details for Charles, the former champion.

This all resulted in statements and counter-statements by Walcott and his manager, Felix Bocchicchio; Jack Hurley, manager of Matthews; Marty Weill, manager of undefeated heavyweight Rocky Marciano, and the International Boxing Club, among others.

Here's what happened today:

Charles Logical Contender

1—Christenberry said Charles was the logical contender; that he did not consider Matthews as a heavyweight challenger and that, in his opinion, Matthews doesn't want to fight light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim.

2—Christenberry said that Charles was universally regarded as the No. 1 contender and deserving of the title shot. That he thought Walcott should make his title defense by late March or early April.

3—Marty Weill said "Marciano will not attempt to get a championship fight with Walcott unless Charles wants to step aside."

4—Bocchicchio said "we may decide to sign for three bouts within 15 days—probably a first bout in March with Matthews on the West Coast and a title defense in June. . . we have a verbal agreement—made under duress—to defend against Charles. . .we will take on one tune-up fight, preferably against Matthews, and I look with favor on signing for a title bout with either Marciano or Charles."

(Bocchicchio didn't explain how Walcott, as heavyweight champion could engage in a tuneup with Matthews. Every time a heavyweight king steps into a ring for a bout he risks his title. There are no over-the-weight non-title shots for heavyweight champs).

5—Walcott told newsmen he was "ready to fight right now against any fighter that the IBC should pick as my opponent."

6—Hurley, in Seattle, predicted Matthews would sign within a few days to meet Walcott.

IBC Has Contract

7—The IBC insisted that it had a solid contract for a return bout between Charles and Walcott. Jim Norris, president of the IBC, said Walcott's manager had never said to him (Norris) that Walcott won't fight Charles. "If they decide to walk out, I'll do all in my power to block Walcott from fighting anyone else."

Deadlines Set For Champs To Defend Titles

March 15 Final Day For Walcott, Maxim

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—The National Boxing Association tonight put out a list of "absolute deadlines" for title defenses by the eight NBA-recognized champions, March 15 is the last day for heavyweight Joe Walcott.

The release said the dates were set up at the association's 1951 convention in Chicago.

Besides Jersey Joe Walcott in the top division, March 15 was fixed for Joey Maxim, light heavyweight, and Kid Gavilan, welterweight.

The NBA said they were given that much time in a move to be "completely fair with the six months rule which x x x is to be strictly enforced." The plan is to vacate any title not defended within that period.

Other deadline dates:

Flyweight: Dado Marino, six months from his defense against Terry Allen on Nov. 1, 1951.

Bantamweight: Vic Toweel, six months from his defense against Luis Romero on Nov. 22, 1951.

Featherweight: Sandy Saddler, six months from his defense against Willie Pep on Sept. 16, 1951.

Lightweight: Jimmy Carter, six months from his defense against Art Aragon, on Nov. 14, 1951.

Middleweight: Ray Robinson, six months from his title acquisition from Randy Turpin on Sept. 12, 1951.

In the case of Kid Gavilan, the title defense must be against Charlie Humez, European champion, NBA said.

Thugs Threaten Senator's Life

Introduced Measure To Outlaw Boxing

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 22 (INS)—A Queens Senator declared today that hoodlums have threatened his life and the lives of his family because he introduced a bill in the New York legislature to outlaw professional boxing and wrestling.

Senator James F. Fitzgerald, St. Albans Democrat, said he had received at least a half a dozen threateing telephone calls.

"They have not only threatened my life," he said, "but those of my wife and daughter. The hoodlums won't stay on the phone long enough for us to trace the calls. But they haven't changed my mind about professional prize fighting. I'm more determined than ever to work for passage of the bill."

Fitzgerald took issue with the "experts" who say his bill is doomed.

"They may receive a big surprise," he said. "I have talked with a lot of decent people in the last week and I was surprised to find that most of them feel the same way I do."

Fitzgerald said the fight picture is "horrible" and that "apparently the boxing commission can't control the hoodlums running the game."

Last Quarter Rally Defeats Hawks, 59-42

Mullaney And Abe Star; Explorers Score 10th Win

A 24-point barrage in the fourth quarter, paced by Marty Mullaney's 11 tallies, gave Coach Art Slocum's LaSalle High cagers a 59-42 decision over Ridgeley High's Blackhawks last night on the SS. Peter and Paul court.

In a ragged, poorly-played contest LaSalle led 14-11, 26-22 and 35-34 at the quarters and didn't draw away from the West Virginians until the final stanza.

Mullaney topped the scorers with 19 points on eight field goals and three fouls, but the Explorer center fared badly at the foul stripe converting only three of 12 tries. Charles Kienhofer, who collected eight of his 11 points in the initial period, and Paul Ackerman contributed 21 tallies to the Explorers' cause in addition to playing good floor games.

Ronald Abe, string-bean center for the Hawks, paced the losers 14 points. Lowell Loy of Ridgeley was the only player ejected on fouls, going out in the fourth period.

The veitory was the 10th in 14 games for the Slocummen and marked the ninth time in 10 games Ridgeley has gone down to defeat, five in a row. The lineups:

Lemon Will Return Unsigned Contract

LONG BEACH, Calif., Jan. 22 (AP)—Righthander Bob Lemon said today he expects to send his 1952 contract back to the Cleveland Indians—unsigned. But he added hastily "we're not too far apart" in negotiations.

The 34-year-old Lemon, generally recognized as the Indians' top paid moundsman last year, won only 17 while dropping 14 in 1951. It was the first season since 1947 that he hadn't won at least 20 games.

There has been some talk that he may have to take a cut in salary. He earned something like $50,000 last year.

The pitcher was plagued by illness last season.

Lemon Will Return Unsigned Contract

LONG BEACH, Calif., Jan. 22 (AP) —Righthander Bob Lemon said today he expects to send his 1952 contract back to the Cleveland Indians—unsigned. But he added hastily "we're not too far apart" in negotiations.

The 34-year-old Lemon, generally recognized as the Indians' top paid moundsman last year, won only 17 while dropping 14 in 1951. It was the first season since 1947 that he hadn't won at least 20 games.

There has been some talk that he may have to take a cut in salary. He earned something like $50,000 last year.

The pitcher was plagued by illness last season.

Lemon Will Return Unsigned Contract

LONG BEACH, Calif., Jan. 22 (AP)—Righthander Bob Lemon said today he expects to send his 1952 contract back to the Cleveland Indians—unsigned. But he added hastily "we're not too far apart" in negotiations.

The 34-year-old Lemon, generally recognized as the Indians' top paid moundsman last year, won only 17 while dropping 14 in 1951. It was the first season since 1947 that he hadn't won at least 20 games.

There has been some talk that he may have to take a cut in salary. He earned something like $50,000 last year.

The pitcher was plagued by illness last season.

One-Man Drive Against Noise Gains Momentum

Noel Obenshain Presents Petitions

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—Noel Obenshain, a local citizen who is waging a one-man war against what he terms "excessive" blowing of horns by Diesel engines in the town, has informed the Mayor and council that he is going to circulate petitions over the entire community.

At yesterday's meeting Obenshain presented three petitions. One contained the names of 86 persons, five of whom were not residents, who said they were definitely annoyed by the horn blowing of Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Diesel engines and requested the council to take necessary steps to reduce or eliminate the noise.

Another contained the names of those annoyed and not adverse to council action in the matter.

The third had two names of persons who said they were opposed to the council taking action.

Obenshain stated at the three-hour meeting, that there were 55 other residents he contacted who were non-committal.

Obenshain went a step further by presenting a proposed draft of a letter which the council could send to the B. and O. Railroad.

Councilman Garland Cheshire made a motion that the B. and O. be advised of the sentiment of the 86 signers who opposed the horn blowing.

This was voted down by a 3-2 split of the Mayor Allan Hill and the four commissioners.

Obenshain concluded his appearance by declaring that he will solicit the city of 2,654 residents with the petitions even though the project will take him several weeks.

Mayor Hill commented that he is not in favor of doing away with a necessary evil to sacrifice safety.

One-Man Drive Against Noise Gains Momentum

Noel Obenshain Presents Petitions

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—Noel Obenshain, a local citizen who is waging a one-man war against what he terms "excessive" blowing of horns by Diesel engines in the town, has informed the Mayor and council that he is going to circulate petitions over the entire community.

At yesterday's meeting Obenshain presented three petitions. One contained the names of 86 persons, five of whom were not residents, who said they were definitely annoyed by the horn blowing of Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Diesel engines and requested the council to take necessary steps to reduce or eliminate the noise.

Another contained the names of those annoyed and not adverse to council action in the matter.

The third had two names of persons who said they were opposed to the council taking action.

Obenshain stated at the three-hour meeting, that there were 55 other residents he contacted who were non-committal.

Obenshain went a step further by presenting a proposed draft of a letter which the council could send to the B. and O. Railroad.

Councilman Garland Cheshire made a motion that the B. and O. be advised of the sentiment of the 86 signers who opposed the horn blowing.

This was voted down by a 3-2 split of the Mayor Allan Hill and the four commissioners.

Obenshain concluded his appearance by declaring that he will solicit the city of 2,654 residents with the petitions even though the project will take him several weeks.

Donald C. Hott filed his application yesterday for re-election on the Republican ticket. He is finishing his first term in office.

Miss Anna Abramson, of Piedmont, also declared her intentions of running for the office. She is a justice of the peace, having been appointed last year by the court to fill the vacancy caused by the death of George Boyles.

Yesterday, Vernon E. "Pat" Rankin filed his application of candidacy for the attorney position. Rankin was prosecuting attorney for three terms prior to Hott's election.

Judge Ernest A. See filed his notice a couple weeks ago to become candidate for his second eight-year term as judge of the 21st Judicial Circuit. He filed at Charleston.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Progress Report

Educational television—the phrase is still a mockery—has come a long ways in theory if not in practice. A couple of years ago, Federal Communications Commissioner Frieda Hennock first started a campaign to set aside 25 per cent of the not-yet-allocated channels for the use of educators. For this proposal she rolled up, on the seven-man commission, a thumping vote of one (her own).

John Crosby

But time passed. Miss Hennock aroused the sympathy and enthusiasm of publishers, educational outfits and parents for her project; the other commissioners began to thaw; and last March the FCC issued tentative allocations for 1,900 new television stations of which 207 were reserved for educational television if the educators wanted them. A big if. Well, the educators have rallied around in surprising numbers.

Some 500 educational institutions or state and city boards of education have filed "comments," a preliminary step to actual applications for stations. Not all of these will build stations or will even apply for them. (That's more than twice the number of stations the FCC plans to grant the educators, anyhow.) But great progress has been made. New York, New Jersey and Connecticut have filed, not just for a station, but for a network of TV stations, and the New York State Board of Regents will ask the legislature for $3,500,000 to build 11 stations.

There has been some sorry backsliding. Kansas City educators who had filed a request for a station, have now asked that it be withdrawn. Commercial interests which would like the channel for its own use are believed to have torpedoed this educational TV station. Channels in large cities are worth a lot of money. A channel in Chicago now tentatively set aside for education is probably worth about $10,000,000. The hucksters are not going to let such valuable real estate slip away from them easily and the educators and the public had best realize there will be constant pressure from commercial interests to relinquish these channels if they are unused or improperly used.

The FCC is about to issue its final decision on allocations. As things stand now, the educators probably will find themselves with 207 channels open to them—but not forever. If the channels are not used, chances are they will be turned over to commercial interests in a couple of years.

The steps toward making educational television an actuality are three-fold. First, the commission had to be educated to the possibilities; second, the educators had to be convinced they wanted it; third, the public had to be persuaded to support it and then look at it. The first has been accomplished. The second has been approached but far from completely realized. The full support of the public is nowhere in sight.

A recent survey of 258 colleges and 123 public school systems revealed that 57 per cent of the educators believed in educational TV stations, but further investigations revealed that many of them had no intentions of operating one themselves. In other words, they liked the theory but hoped somebody else would do the work. There is a great difference between filing a set of station blueprints along with dreamy prose about their plans and actually building and operating a station. While the building of educational stations is a good year away, the time to start raising the money for it or at least finding out where it is coming from is right now. One city, Wichita, Kansas, has already solved its problems by adopting a $5 personal property tax, all of it earmarked for the construction and operation of an educational TV station. Few other communities have done any thinking about it at all.

Among the community at large, there is far from unanimity of opinion on the wisdom of building exclusively educational stations. Even intelligent, unbiased thinkers like Gilbert Seldes feel that educational TV can't compete with commercial TV and that education's best chance is to pry time, money and know-how from the commercial stations. My own feeling is that the educators will never in this world pry more than a token amount of time from commercial stations. I also feel strongly that education doesn't have to compete with commerce any more than Carnegie Hall has to compete with Radio City Music Hall. Each has its audience. It is, I think, an affront to the American people to say they have to be conned into looking at educational TV by first taking a shot of Milton Berle.

The success or failure of educational TV—until we get some of it—will always be a matter of conjecture. One thing is certain, though. We sure as hell aren't going to find out its merits or demerits without trying it. If educational TV turns out to be impractical, there is plenty of time to turn the channels back to commercial use. But first the educators must have their chance. If they don't grab the opportunity now, there won't be any second chance.

SEE, THEN REMEMBER

BEDROCK requirements for a good cardsman are unfailing observation of everything that occurs and then remembering what has been seen. The fine player also makes significant deductions from the information his eyes and ears deposit in his mind. And the superfine performer then figures out the most efficient way to capitalize on the combination of what he has seen and what he has deduced. Sometimes a very fancy play, sometimes a very simple one, may prove the climax to these processes.

What do you think of that 3-No Trump call by North on the second round? Yes, we take the same view. That worthy protested later that he felt South must have something in hearts when he himself held an honor in each of South's minors. South suspected, however, that North's main idea was an effort to become the declarer because he thought better of his own card-playing than of his partner's. South, however, agreed with him and showed it with his 6-No Trumps. Then North set about to prove both were right.

East's heart A lead, followed by the 4, put the weight on North, who had to take the rest of the tricks. He won that with the Q, then felt his way, after taking good notice of the 4 as apparently a fourth-best. North's first initiative was with five diamond tricks, on which he saw West toss the heart 8, 9 and 10, then the spade 6 when East threw the heart 2. That was read by North as showing East held five hearts at the start, so that West was out of the suit now.

Next the club A dropped the 10 from East, making North feel sure West had the club J-7-5 and spade K-J. He therefore finessed the club 8 against the J. When that worked, the club Q, spade 2 to the A, club K and 9 ended the hand. As it developed, if South had played the slam in either minor, he would have had to make the identical club play to succeed against normal defense.

North's first initiative was with five diamond tricks, on which he saw West toss the heart 8, 9 and 10, then the spade 6 when East threw the heart 2. That was read by North as showing East held five hearts at the start, so that West was out of the suit now.

Radio And Television

Progress Report

Educational television—the phrase is still a mockery—has come a long ways in theory if not in practice. A couple of years ago, Federal Communications Commissioner Frieda Hennock first started a campaign to set aside 25 per cent of the not-yet-allocated channels for the use of educators. For this proposal she rolled up, on the seven-man commission, a thumping vote of one (her own).

John Crosby

But time passed. Miss Hennock aroused the sympathy and enthusiasm of publishers, educational outfits and parents for her project; the other commissioners began to thaw; and last March the FCC issued tentative allocations for 1,900 new television stations of which 207 were reserved for educational television if the educators wanted them. A big if. Well, the educators have rallied around in surprising numbers.

Some 500 educational institutions or state and city boards of education have filed "comments," a preliminary step to actual applications for stations. Not all of these will build stations or will even apply for them. (That's more than twice the number of stations the FCC plans to grant the educators, anyhow.) But great progress has been made. New York, New Jersey and Connecticut have filed, not just for a station, but for a network of TV stations, and the New York State Board of Regents will ask the legislature for $3,500,000 to build 11 stations.

There has been some sorry backsliding. Kansas City educators who had filed a request for a station, have now asked that it be withdrawn. Commercial interests which would like the channel for its own use are believed to have torpedoed this educational TV station. Channels in large cities are worth a lot of money. A channel in Chicago now tentatively set aside for education is probably worth about $10,000,000. The hucksters are not going to let such valuable real estate slip away from them easily and the educators and the public had best realize there will be constant pressure from commercial interests to relinquish these channels if they are unused or improperly used.

The FCC is about to issue its final decision on allocations. As things stand now, the educators probably will find themselves with 207 channels open to them—but not forever. If the channels are not used, chances are they will be turned over to commercial interests in a couple of years.

The steps toward making educational television an actuality are three-fold. First, the commission had to be educated to the possibilities; second, the educators had to be convinced they wanted it; third, the public had to be persuaded to support it and then look at it. The first has been accomplished. The second has been approached but far from completely realized. The full support of the public is nowhere in sight.

A recent survey of 258 colleges and 123 public school systems revealed that 57 per cent of the educators believed in educational TV stations, but further investigations revealed that many of them had no intentions of operating one themselves. In other words, they liked the theory but hoped somebody else would do the work. There is a great difference between filing a set of station blueprints along with dreamy prose about their plans and actually building and operating a station. While the building of educational stations is a good year away, the time to start raising the money for it or at least finding out where it is coming from is right now. One city, Wichita, Kansas, has already solved its problems by adopting a $5 personal property tax, all of it earmarked for the construction and operation of an educational TV station. Few other communities have done any thinking about it at all.

Among the community at large, there is far from unanimity of opinion on the wisdom of building exclusively educational stations. Even intelligent, unbiased thinkers like Gilbert Seldes feel that educational TV can't compete with commercial TV and that education's best chance is to pry time, money and know-how from the commercial stations. My own feeling is that the educators will never in this world pry more than a token amount of time from commercial stations. I also feel strongly that education doesn't have to compete with commerce any more than Carnegie Hall has to compete with Radio City Music Hall. Each has its audience. It is, I think, an affront to the American people to say they have to be conned into looking at educational TV by first taking a shot of Milton Berle.

The success or failure of educational TV—until we get some of it—will always be a matter of conjecture. One thing is certain, though. We sure as hell aren't going to find out its merits or demerits without trying it. If educational TV turns out to be impractical, there is plenty of time to turn the channels back to commercial use. But first the educators must have their chance. If they don't grab the opportunity now, there won't be any second chance.

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

SEE, THEN REMEMBER

BEDROCK requirements for a good cardsman are unfailing observation of everything that occurs and then remembering what has been seen. The fine player also makes significant deductions from the information his eyes and ears deposit in his mind. And the superfine performer then figures out the most efficient way to capitalize on the combination of what he has seen and what he has deduced. Sometimes a very fancy play, sometimes a very simple one, may prove the climax to these processes.

Another New 20-Year High Scored By Stock Market

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Despite the handicap of late profit-taking, the stock market today edged into another new high going back more than 21 years.

Yesterday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks broke through the previous high established last Oct. 15, and today it added another 20 cents to send the average to $102.10, the highest mark since Sept. 17, 1930.

Today's strength appeared to have the same basis as yesterday's—inflationary aspects of government fiscal policy as brought out by President Truman's budget message plus internal strength of the market itself that has provided momentum for the rise.

Standard Oil (NJ) was one of the best performers in the oil division with a gain of three points at 84⅜. It was the 11th most active issue.

wage scales at the Hopewell, Va., plant, which the firm said is to continue dyeing and finishing work "for long established customers."

He pointed out that the union is conscious of cost operations at Amcelle and had pointed out in September, 1951, the top heavy relationship of dyehouse supervisory personnel to production workers.

The union, he said, realizs that the decision to curtail dyeing and finishing operations lies with the company, but that such operations as are to be maintained should in all fairness be continued at Amcelle.

Requests Conference

The company, he said, contends that the advantage in modernity lies with the Hopewell, Va., plant but that the long service of employes at the Amcelle dyehouse obligates the firm to modernize facilities here.

Blackwell referred to speeches made by Harold Blancke, Celanese president, in Cumberland last May and in Baltimore in December.

"We believe", Blackwell said, "that Mr. Blancke should make another address in Cumberland" to explain more fully the reasons behind the proposed abolition of the dyehouse.

The union, Aldridge added, wants the company to disclose "all of the factors" which led to the decision.

"If the union is one of the factors", Aldridge said, we want to know it and we want others to know it."

Will Explain Campaign

Aldridge said the union has been contacted by various groups of the area for information on the dyehouse closing and said union officials, if invited, will be glad to tell what they are trying to achieve in the present dyehouse campaign.

Reiterates Position

Efforts of the union to arrange a top level conference on the dyehouse closing have been unsuccessful.

Harold Blancke, Celanese president yesterday wired Playford Aldridge, Local 1874 president:

"We do not believe that a meeting such as you suggest would serve any useful purpose.

"The decision to close the dyehouse was made only after very careful consideration of every angle. Making of yarns is our first consideration. Most of our employes depend upon this for employment. We cannot continue to compete with our yarn customers for fabric business and expect them to buy yarn from us.

"It is our feeling, therefore, that the welfare of most of our employes at Cumberland will be best served by the proposed change, much as we regret that some must be terminated.

"The company has made an earnest effort to explain to you, the employes and the community the reason behind the decision, only the most biased could fail to appreciate the steps being taken by the company to insure the successful operation of the Amcelle plant.

"The company has spent many millions of dollars since the war in modernizing and is currently spending an additional $4½ million on further improvements.

"If there are any points which may have been overlooked, we suggest that they be taken up with Mr. Givens, Amcelle plant manager."

In a recent speech in Baltimore, Blancke pointed out that over $40,000,000 had been spent on modernization at the Amcelle plant since 1945.

Blancke's telegram was in reply to the following wire sent by Aldridge last week:

"We are writing you with the hope that your public speeches do carry some measure of sincerity, particularly those instances that refer to organized labor.

"Would you please extend to us the courtesy of granting us a short conference relative to the abolition of the dyehouse here at Amcelle. Anytime, any place would be convenient with us."

Nearly 300 Pints Of Blood Donated To Red Cross Unit

The two-day visit of the mobile blood unit from Johnstown, Pa., proved to be "most successful", according to Mrs. W. Lee Witherup, executive-secretary of the Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Despite the inclement weather here yesterday, Mrs. Witherup added, 167 persons gave a pint of blood to the county blood bank program bringing the total number of donors for the two days to nearly 300.

The mobile unit, under supervision of Dr. D. P. Ray, of Johnstown, was located at the home of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Over 50 volunteer workers aided in making the vsiit of the unit a success with city police and firemen assisting in the program. Mrs. Witherup added.

The mobile unit was packed up last night and returned to Johnstown. The next appearance of the unit here in Cumberland will be February 25 and 26 at the Eagles Home. Residents are registering for these dates, Mrs. Witherup continued.

Each donor who gave a pint of blood received a pin and will later be given a card denoting the type blood they have. This information according to Mrs. Witherup, is invaluable to an individual in future emergencies.

Hospitals of Allegany County will be supplied with weekly shipments of blood. Dr. B. Skitarelic is chairman of the local blood program and will forward a quota figure to Johnstown to meet local needs.

Another New 20-Year High Scored By Stock Market

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Despite the handicap of late profit-taking, the stock market today edged into another new high going back more than 21 years.

Yesterday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks broke through the previous high established last Oct. 15, and today it added another 20 cents to send the average to $102.10, the highest mark since Sept. 17, 1930.

Today's strength appeared to have the same basis as yesterday's—inflationary aspects of government fiscal policy as brought out by President Truman's budget message plus internal strength of the market itself that has provided momentum for the rise.

Standard Oil (NJ) was one of the best performers in the oil division with a gain of three points at 84⅜. It was the 11th most active issue.

Topping the list of 15 most active issues was St. Regis Paper up ⅝ at 19⅛. Brokers point out that Humble Oil's new discovery in Alabama about 50 miles north of Pensacoma, Fla. is near large land holdings of St. Regis in Florida.

St. Regis was followed by New York Central off ⅜ at 20⅝, International Telephone up ⅝ at 17½, Sunray Oil up ¼ at 22⅜, and Anaconda Copper up 1¼ at 55⅝.

wage scales at the Hopewell, Va., plant, which the firm said is to continue dyeing and finishing work "for long established customers."

He pointed out that the union is conscious of cost operations at Amcelle and had pointed out in September, 1951, the top heavy relationship of dyehouse supervisory personnel to production workers.

The union, he said, realizs that the decision to curtail dyeing and finishing operations lies with the company, but that such operations as are to be maintained should in all fairness be continued at Amcelle.

Requests Conference

The company, he said, contends that the advantage in modernity lies with the Hopewell, Va., plant but that the long service of employes at the Amcelle dyehouse obligates the firm to modernize facilities here.

Blackwell referred to speeches made by Harold Blancke, Celanese president, in Cumberland last May and in Baltimore in December.

"We believe", Blackwell said, "that Mr. Blancke should make another address in Cumberland" to explain more fully the reasons behind the proposed abolition of the dyehouse.

The union, Aldridge added, wants the company to disclose "all of the factors" which led to the decision.

"If the union is one of the factors", Aldridge said, we want to know it and we want others to know it."

Will Explain Campaign

Aldridge said the union has been contacted by various groups of the area for information on the dyehouse closing and said union officials, if invited, will be glad to tell what they are trying to achieve in the present dyehouse campaign.

Reiterates Position

Efforts of the union to arrange a top level conference on the dyehouse closing have been unsuccessful.

Harold Blancke, Celanese president yesterday wired Playford Aldridge, Local 1874 president:

"We do not believe that a meeting such as you suggest would serve any useful purpose.

"The decision to close the dyehouse was made only after very careful consideration of every angle. Making of yarns is our first consideration. Most of our employes depend upon this for employment. We cannot continue to compete with our yarn customers for fabric business and expect them to buy yarn from us.

"It is our feeling, therefore, that the welfare of most of our employes at Cumberland will be best served by the proposed change, much as we regret that some must be terminated.

"The company has made an earnest effort to explain to you, the employes and the community the reason behind the decision, only the most biased could fail to appreciate the steps being taken by the company to insure the successful operation of the Amcelle plant.

"The company has spent many millions of dollars since the war in modernizing and is currently spending an additional $4½ million on further improvements.

"If there are any points which may have been overlooked, we suggest that they be taken up with Mr. Givens, Amcelle plant manager."

In a recent speech in Baltimore, Blancke pointed out that over $40,000,000 had been spent on modernization at the Amcelle plant since 1945.

Blancke's telegram was in reply to the following wire sent by Aldridge last week:

"We are writing you with the hope that your public speeches do carry some measure of sincerity, particularly those instances that refer to organized labor.

"Would you please extend to us the courtesy of granting us a short conference relative to the abolition of the dyehouse here at Amcelle. Anytime, any place would be convenient with us."

Nearly 300 Pints Of Blood Donated To Red Cross Unit

The two-day visit of the mobile blood unit from Johnstown, Pa., proved to be "most successful", according to Mrs. W. Lee Witherup, executive-secretary of the Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Despite the inclement weather here yesterday, Mrs. Witherup added, 167 persons gave a pint of blood to the county blood bank program bringing the total number of donors for the two days to nearly 300.

The mobile unit, under supervision of Dr. D. P. Ray, of Johnstown, was located at the home of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Over 50 volunteer workers aided in making the vsiit of the unit a success with city police and firemen assisting in the program. Mrs. Witherup added.

The mobile unit was packed up last night and returned to Johnstown. The next appearance of the unit here in Cumberland will be February 25 and 26 at the Eagles Home. Residents are registering for these dates, Mrs. Witherup continued.

Each donor who gave a pint of blood received a pin and will later be given a card denoting the type blood they have. This information according to Mrs. Witherup, is invaluable to an individual in future emergencies.

Hospitals of Allegany County will be supplied with weekly shipments of blood. Dr. B. Skitarelic is chairman of the local blood program and will forward a quota figure to Johnstown to meet local needs.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Another New 20-Year High Scored By Stock Market

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Despite the handicap of late profit-taking, the stock market today edged into another new high going back more than 21 years.

Yesterday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks broke through the previous high established last Oct. 15, and today it added another 20 cents to send the average to $102.10, the highest mark since Sept. 17, 1930.

Today's strength appeared to have the same basis as yesterday's—inflationary aspects of government fiscal policy as brought out by President Truman's budget message plus internal strength of the market itself that has provided momentum for the rise.

Standard Oil (NJ) was one of the best performers in the oil division with a gain of three points at 84⅜. It was the 11th most active issue.

Topping the list of 15 most active issues was St. Regis Paper up ⅝ at 19⅛. Brokers point out that Humble Oil's new discovery in Alabama about 50 miles north of Pensacoma, Fla. is near large land holdings of St. Regis in Florida.

St. Regis was followed by New York Central off ⅜ at 20⅝, International Telephone up ⅝ at 17½, Sunray Oil up ¼ at 22⅜, and Anaconda Copper up 1¼ at 55⅜.

County Commissioners

wage scales at the Hopewell, Va., plant, which the firm said is to continue dyeing and finishing work "for long established customers."

He pointed out that the union is conscious of cost operations at Amcelle and had pointed out in September, 1951, the top heavy relationship of dyehouse supervisory personnel to production workers.

The union, he said, realizs that the decision to curtail dyeing and finishing operations lies with the company, but that such operations as are to be maintained should in all fairness be continued at Amcelle.

Requests Conference

The company, he said, contends that the advantage in modernity lies with the Hopewell, Va., plant but that the long service of employes at the Amcelle dyehouse obligates the firm to modernize facilities here.

Blackwell referred to speeches made by Harold Blancke, Celanese president, in Cumberland last May and in Baltimore in December.

"We believe", Blackwell said, "that Mr. Blancke should make another address in Cumberland" to explain more fully the reasons behind the proposed abolition of the dyehouse.

The union, Aldridge added, wants the company to disclose "all of the factors" which led to the decision.

"If the union is one of the factors", Aldridge said, we want to know it and we want others to know it."

Will Explain Campaign

Aldridge said the union has been contacted by various groups of the area for information on the dyehouse closing and said union officials, if invited, will be glad to tell what they are trying to achieve in the present dyehouse campaign.

Reiterates Position

Efforts of the union to arrange a top level conference on the dyehouse closing have been unsuccessful.

Harold Blancke, Celanese president yesterday wired Playford Aldridge, Local 1874 president:

"We do not believe that a meeting such as you suggest would serve any useful purpose.

"The decision to close the dyehouse was made only after very careful consideration of every angle. Making of yarns is our first consideration. Most of our employes depend upon this for employment. We cannot continue to compete with our yarn customers for fabric business and expect them to buy yarn from us.

"It is our feeling, therefore, that the welfare of most of our employes at Cumberland will be best served by the proposed change, much as we regret that some must be terminated.

"The company has made an earnest effort to explain to you, the employes and the community the reason behind the decision, only the most biased could fail to appreciate the steps being taken by the company to insure the successful operation of the Amcelle plant.

"The company has spent many millions of dollars since the war in modernizing and is currently spending an additional $4½ million on further improvements.

"If there are any points which may have been overlooked, we suggest that they be taken up with Mr. Givens, Amcelle plant manager."

In a recent speech in Baltimore, Blancke pointed out that over $40,000,000 had been spent on modernization at the Amcelle plant since 1945.

Blancke's telegram was in reply to the following wire sent by Aldridge last week:

"We are writing you with the hope that your public speeches do carry some measure of sincerity, particularly those instances that refer to organized labor.

"Would you please extend to us the courtesy of granting us a short conference relative to the abolition of the dyehouse here at Amcelle. Anytime, any place would be convenient with us."

Nearly 300 Pints Of Blood Donated To Red Cross Unit

The two-day visit of the mobile blood unit from Johnstown, Pa., proved to be "most successful", according to Mrs. W. Lee Witherup, executive-secretary of the Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Despite the inclement weather here yesterday, Mrs. Witherup added, 167 persons gave a pint of blood to the county blood bank program bringing the total number of donors for the two days to nearly 300.

The mobile unit, under supervision of Dr. D. P. Ray, of Johnstown, was located at the home of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Over 50 volunteer workers aided in making the vsiit of the unit a success with city police and firemen assisting in the program. Mrs. Witherup added.

The mobile unit was packed up last night and returned to Johnstown. The next appearance of the unit here in Cumberland will be February 25 and 26 at the Eagles Home. Residents are registering for these dates, Mrs. Witherup continued.

Each donor who gave a pint of blood received a pin and will later be given a card denoting the type blood they have. This information according to Mrs. Witherup, is invaluable to an individual in future emergencies.

Hospitals of Allegany County will be supplied with weekly shipments of blood. Dr. B. Skitarelic is chairman of the local blood program and will forward a quota figure to Johnstown to meet local needs.

County Commissioners To Ask Celanese To Reconsider Plan For Closing Amcelle Dyehouse

Blancke Turns Down Conference Request, Reveals $4½ Million Improvement Plan

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners will ask the Celanese Corporation of America to reconsider its decision to discontinue the Amcelle Dyehouse.

William H. Lemmert, president, told officials of Local 1874, Textile Workers of America (CIO), that the Board will be glad to cooperate in efforts to retain the unit at the local plant.

The Board said it will draft a letter to the Celanese Corporation, through H. C. Givens, Jr., Amcelle plant manager, asking that the dyehouse be kept in operation at the corporation's parent plant here.

City Promises Aid

Similar aid on the project was promised by the Mayor and Council of Cumberland following a similar conference Monday morning.

Officials of the Celanese union met yesterday with the county commissioners to present a resume of the union's position on the company's announcement that the dyeing and finishing of fabrics at the Amcelle plant would be discontinued this summer.

Major points in the union's position were presented by Playford Aldridge, local president, and James Blackwell, TWUA publicity director for the South.

Aldridge pointed out that the January 8 announcement that Celanese would discontinue permanently the dying and finishing of fabrics at Amcelle was the first notification or hint the union had of the action.

Would Affect Others

He said the union believes the number of jobs which would be abolished would be 512 and not the about 400 announced by the firm. The additional lost jobs would come from adding eligible to recall furloughed employes and from workers on jobs related to dyeing and finishing operations.

Aldridge told the commissioners that over 2,000 persons actually would be affected adversely from the loss of 500 more jobs, about 11 per cent of the hourly paid working force at the plant.

Want Unit Here

Aldridge said the union is trying to secure additional information on

Jury Deadlocks In Liquor Case Against Alibi

Conflicting Stories Mark Testimony

Apparently confused by conflicting testimony in the case against owners of Alibi Liquor Store, Inc., which operates Al's Chateau at Baltimore and Mechanic Streets, a jury in Allegany County Circuit Court was unable to reach a verdict last night.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris dismissed the "hung" jury about 7:30 o'clock last night after Foreman William M. Dailey, this city, reported that the 12 men were hopelessly deadlocked in this first jury trial of the January term. They had been deliberating about four and one-half hours when excused.

It was reported the jurors were at first virtually agreed on the third count of the indictment, allowing minors to loaf or loiter where alcoholic beverages are served, but was split about evenly on charges of selling and furnishing beer to minors.

Eldred A. Cromwell and his mother, Mrs. Daisy Cromwell, officers of the corporation, were indicted on charges of selling intoxicants to minors and allowing minors to loiter on the premises on November 9, 1951.

The two complaining witnesses were Barbara Haggerty Hensley, 15, of Keyser, W. Va., and Catherine Bonner, 17, of Cresaptown. Both testified they were married, the former in December after the alleged purchase of beer at the Chateau.

The Hinsley girl said a waitress had served her three bottles of beer. The Bonner girl said she was "not certain she had any beer." Both girls said they were joined by Vernon Shirley, 22, of Short Gap, W. Va., about 25 or 30 minutes after they arrived at the establishment. Later they went to Wills Mountain Inn and returned to the hotel about 2:30 or 3 a. m. they stated.

Shirley testified the girls did not purchase nor were they furnished any beer. "All they had was soft drinks and later we went to Wills Mountain Inn", he said.

Cromwell in denying the sale of intoxicants to the girls, said he had instructed his waitresses not to sell to minors. He said he has never sold to anyone, who to his knowledge was a minor.

Mrs. Lois Conners, a waitress at the establishment, told the jury that she remembered the night the two girls came into the place. They sat in a booth and when she asked them what they wanted they requested beer.

"I would not sell to them as I could see they were not old enough," Mrs. Conners testified.

Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., were attorneys for the Cromwells while Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, and William H Geppert, assistant state's attorney, prosecuted.

Missing Handcar Mystery Solved Before It Started

Western Maryland Railway authorities said last night the mystery of the missing handcar had been solved.

Railway agents and State Police went to the railway's abandoned Eckhart branch line Monday after an unidentified woman said boys were riding the machine. They found no handcar.

Charles V. Barncord, special railway agent, said the condition of the rusted track seemed to show no car had moved over it for some time.

Barncord said he believed the car had been removed as scheduled, some time before it "disappeared" Monday.

Weather

Dismal and dreary were the two best suited words for the description of yesterday's weather here in Cumberland. The overcast skies resulted in a feeling of gloom among the residents. At 8 p. m. yesterday the thermometer read 34 degrees and a half-inch of snow and sleet was noted. Precipitation was .29 and humidity was 91 per cent at 6 p. m. Forecast for today is partly cloudy with winds and colder.

Maryland Birth Registration Is High, Riley Says

99.1 Per Cent Average Noted

More than 99 per cent of all babies born in Maryland now receive birth certificates, according to Dr. R. H. Riley, director of the State Department of Health.

Dr. Riley said a recent nationwide survey showed Maryland had a registration completeness of 99.1 per cent in 1950. This figure stood at 97.1 per cent in 1940.

Much of the increase, said Dr. Riley, may be attributed to the hospitals and to physician-attended births. About 95 per cent of all births in the state between 1940 and 1950 are believed to have been medically attended. About 99 per cent of all attended births were reported.

The Department's biggest trouble is in obtaining records of births not attended by a doctor or midwife. The small fraction of unregistered births, Dr. Riley pointed out, consists almost entirely of those not medically attended or those attended by two doctors, each of whom assumes the other has registered the birth.

Many unregistered births come to the attention of the Department at the time of school enrollment, or when a youth applies for a work permit.

Dr. Riley explained that although the state's birth registration system was established in 1898, it was not until about 1912 that records became anywhere near adequate.

He attributed the upsurge in registration largely to increasing demands for birth records for work permits, school enrollment, aid to dependent children, parents' income tax deductions and other purposes.

Dr. Riley also noted that a 1951 law requires parents to report the birth of a child themselves if they do not receive a notice of registration from the department within 10 days.

Delayed birth registration is possible for adults and children more than 12 years of age. Necessary are three documents showing date and place of birth. Two of the documents must show parentage.

Sisk said he likewise will strive to induce new industries to come to Cumberland but at the same time wants to protect those industries already located here.

Roads Clear But New Cold Wave Heads For Area

More Snow Seen Today, Tomorrow

Rising temperatures last night were clearing area streets and highways of a half-inch glaze of snow, sleet and freezing rain, but more cold weather is expected today.

State Police reported Allegany, Garrett and western Washington County roads slippery but reasonably safe. Chains had been advised earlier in the day.

Traffic had for a time been slowed to a crawl over ice-covered Allegany County highways. G. Bates Chaires, district State Roads Commission engineer, said the county was worst hit of the four in his operating area.

Garrett County roads, normally hardest hit by winter storms, were 50 per cent bare all day, and chains were not needed. By last night they were merely wet.

Visibility became a danger factor in many areas last night as the warmer weather brought a dense fog with it. But cooler temperatures early this morning are expected to dispel most of the haze.

Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder said her crews and equipment were ready to begin cindering and salting Cumberland streets as soon as snow or freezing temperatures set in.

City crewmen got going at about 11 a. m. yesterday when a steady sleet turned to snow. Downtown traffic soon was moving at nearly normal pace.

Both city and State Roads crews took a breather last night but kept their equipment ready to move out again early today if necessary.

West Virginia State Police said road conditions in nearby Mineral and Hampshire counties in West Virginia also were improving with the rise in temperatures.

During yesterday's storm, temperatures ranged from a low 22 degrees at Gambrill State Park west of Frederick to 40 at Elkins, W. Va. Two inches of snow fell in Northern Frederick County, and as much as three inches fell in southern West Virginia.

The Weather Bureau's long-range forecast predicts windy, colder weather and snow flurries today and tomorrow, with more snow Friday and Saturday.

Woman Says She's Guilty Of Perjury

Gets Suspended Reformatory Term

Martha Pfister, formerly of Cresaptown, but now living in Burlington, W. Va., yesterday received a suspended sentence from Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday after she pleaded guilty in Allegany County Circuit Court to a perjury charge.

Judge Harris imposed a sentence not to exceed three years in the Maryland Reformatory For Women. He suspended the sentence and released the woman under supervision of the Parole Department provided she keeps the peace and her behavior is good.

The perjury charge arose from conflicting statements the woman made at two different occasions while under oath. Last October 1, testifying before the grand jury, the Pfister woman said that Norman Dee Beglin on June 11, 1951, placed his fingers in her mouth in attempting to fit a dental plate.

As a result of her testimony, the grand jury indicted Beglin on a charge of practicing dentistry without a license. However, on October 26, when she was testifying at Beglin's trial, she asserted that Beglin did not place his fingers in her mouth. Consequently, Beglin was acquitted of the charge.

In another case yesterday, Associate Judge George Henderson found Mary Click guilty of accepting Welfare Board funds under false pretenses. She was paroled to the custody of her son.

Evelyn L. Wilson, 44, George's Creek area, who had pleaded guilty Monday to aiding and abetting her husband in obtaining $130 illegally from the Welfare Board, received a suspended sentence. She was instructed to repay the money at the rate of $3 per month.

Firm Denies Rumors Of Heavy Hiring At Ballistics Lab

A spokesman for Allegany Ballistics Laboratory yesterday announced that the plant is not hiring at the present time.

Rumor has been floating around the area and the plant, he noted, that several hundred persons are to be employed at ABL, but this is not correct.

"In fact," he said, "it is doubtful if we will take on more than 50 or 60 people in all of 1952, and these will be highly skilled technicians, including replacements."

The spokesman for the firm said there is on file at ABL, more than 5,000 applications for work. Few of these are trained or qualified for the type of employment existing at the laboratory.

At the personnel office of ABL, an official said, "it is a shame these unemployed people, who must watch every dime, waste their money for gasoline to drive out here when we can't help them. We only wish we could, but there are no openings."

Major Wall thanked the post and other organizations for cooperation given him and Mrs. Wall in their work here during the last five years.

A dinner followed the meeting.

Admits Simple Assault Upon Policeman

Frostburg Man Gets Suspended Term

Wilbert A. Stevenson, 35-year old manager of the Mountain City Taxi Service in Frostburg, yesterday pleaded guilty in Allegany County Circuit Court to simple assault in an attack last November 24 upon Frostburg Assistant Police Chief Ronald Kreider.

Spectators had crowded into the court room yesterday afternoon, apparently expecting to hear the testimony in the much-discussed case.

However, while the jury was deliberating on another case, Stevenson's attorneys, Earl E. Manges, this city, and Walter Dawson, Oakland, pleaded their client guilty to the fifth count of the indictment. State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher agreed to dismiss the more serious counts of wilful and malicious assault with intent to kill Kreider.

The attorneys then retired to chambers with Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris to inform him of the background in the case.

Judge Harris then sentenced Stevenson to three years in the Maryland House of Correction and suspended the sentence provided that by next week the defendant pays $1,000 to the injured man to cover the cost of his hospitalization and treatment. Judge Harris also stipulated that Stevenson must be of good behavior, refrain from use of liquor, attend church each Sunday and remain under the supervision of a parole officer.

Kreider exhibited a deep scar on the left side of his face when he appeared in court yesterday. Some 34 stitches were required to mend the severe cuts about his face and head. Stevenson suffered a bruised jaw and cut cheek in a fracas which occurred in an alley between the Palace Theatre and Frostburg Department Store.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said that Kreider could assign no reason for the attack upon him. The prosecutor added that Kreider and Stevenson had been friends before the occurrence. Witnesses indicated that Stevenson had been drinking the evening of the assault.

Baker, a resident of Grenville Township, Somerset County, left home May 17, 1947. State Police identified Baker from a pocket watch still in running condition, and decayed clothing.

Judge Finds Keister Guilty In Man's Death

Sentence Will Follow Probe

Gene Gilbert Keister, 24-year-old Cresaptown man, was found guilty yesterday in Circuit Court by Associate Judge George Henderson on a charge of manslaughter by automobile.

Judge Henderson withheld sentencing Keister until after he has had a report from the parole officer on the man's background.

Keister was found guilty in the hit-run death of James Richard "Dude" Long, 52-year-old B. and O. Railroad worker on Christmas night on the Oldtown Road a short distance beyond the Evitts Creek Bridge.

In finding Keister guilty, Judge Henderson said testimony in the case, even that of two girl friends of the accused, was to the effect that a "drinking party" had been in progress during the afternoon and the court stated that the girls admitted he was "under the influence of intoxicants."

When he was on the stand Keister said he "hit something, but could not be sure it was a man." He said he failed to stop because he "was scared."

A defense witness, Clarence Van Horn of Paw, Paw, W. Va., testified he saw Long as the man began crossing the highway about 50 feet in front of his car. Van Horn said he applied his brakes and that at the same time he noticed Keister's car draw abreast of his own machine in trying to pass.

Van Horn said Long was about in the middle of the left lane when his by Keister's car. He said Long was knocked about 45 or 50 feet by the impact.

Burglars Raid Ridgeley Legion Home, Get $75

Office, Lounge Fixtures Wrecked

Burglars ransacked the Ridgeley Legion Home, wrecked office and lounge fixtures and made off with $75 to $80 early yesterday morning.

The raid was discovered by W. S. Moore, maintenance man at the home, when he reported for work at about 7:30 a. m. yesterday.

Archie Lough, finance officer of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, said the money was taken from a juke box and from desk drawers.

Legion members said there was no indication that entry had been forced. This, they said, would indicate someone hid in the building when the stewart locked the doors at midnight Monday, or that a door may not have been securely locked.

The burglars pried open locked filing cabinets and desk drawers, dumped the contents on the floor, wrecked a juke box and several wall boxes, examined the safe but did not open it.

Then they raided the icebox, made sandwiches and left by some unknown escape route.

Ridgeley Police Chief H. L. Henry is investigating, assisted by Cumberland Detective Thomas J. See.

15 Dairies Win Grade A Milk Ratings Here

Health Department Announces Results

Grade A ratings were granted by the Allegany County Health Department yesterday to 15 area dairies which sell milk to this city.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, deputy state health officer, said the gradings for milk sold in Cumberland and vicinity were determined by investigations held between July 1 and December 31.

Pasteurizing plants, all of which won Grade A ratings, are:

Arnold Dairy, Frostburg; Barton Dairy, Pinto; Dairy Dale Dairy, Meyersdale, Pa.; Dashiell Dairy, Midland; Farmers Dairy, Cumberland; Glen Savage Dairy, Mt. Savage.

Happy Hills Dairy, RFD Frostburg; Liberty Dairy, Cumberland; Mason Dairy, Cresaptown; Royale Dairy, Keyser, W. Va.; Turner Dairy, RFD Frostburg, and Queen City Dairy, Cumberland.

Gradings for retail raw milk dealers are: Collins Dairy, Rawlings, Grade B; Pancake Dairy, New Creek, W. Va., Grade A; A. W. Ravenscroft Dairy, Westernport, Grade A, and Frank Ravenscroft Dairy, Westernport, Grade A.

The above dairies process and distribute some 7,000 gallons of milk in the city each day.

This total includes about 30 gallons of raw milk distributed in the city and another 130 gallons of raw milk delivered throughout the county.

The grading of the dairies is made following analyses of periodic tests of milk by the State Health Department and inspections by sanitarians of the farm producers.

All dairy firms also make their own tests of milk as it is received at their plants.

Three More Dogs Shot In Ridgeley; Examination Set

Ridgeley Police Chief H. L. Henry said last night he has killed three more dogs because they showed symptoms of rabies.

So far, said Chief Henry, he has had to destroy nine dogs in the past eight days because they were frothing at the mouth. Several attempted to attack him when he approached them.

Henry said he has sent the head of one dog to the State Health Department in Charleston to determine if the dogs were mad.

Witnesses disagreed with speculation the dogs had been poisoned, he added. Henry warned all dog owners to keep their pets tied or impounded.

Some areas of Virginia reportedly have been afflicted with rabid foxes.

Her husband, Boyd Sponaugle, 509 Baltimore Avenue, said he had obtained a Juvenile Court warrant for her arrest after she vanished January 15. He said no quarrel preceded the disappearance. See, who said he knew Mrs. Sponaugle's whereabouts, added that she had obtained employment.

County Commissioners To Ask Celanese To Reconsider Plan For Closing Amcelle Dyehouse

Blancke Turns Down Conference Request, Reveals $4½ Million Improvement Plan

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners will ask the Celanese Corporation of America to reconsider its decision to discontinue the Amcelle Dyehouse.

William H. Lemmert, president, told officials of Local 1874, Textile Workers of America (CIO), that the Board will be glad to cooperate in efforts to retain the unit at the local plant.

The Board said it will draft a letter to the Celanese Corporation, through H. C. Givens, Jr., Amcelle plant manager, asking that the dyehouse be kept in operation at the corporation's parent plant here.

City Promises Aid

Similar aid on the project was promised by the Mayor and Council of Cumberland following a similar conference Monday morning.

Officials of the Celanese union met yesterday with the county commissioners to present a resume of the union's position on the company's announcement that the dyeing and finishing of fabrics at the Amcelle plant would be discontinued this summer.

Major points in the union's position were presented by Playford Aldridge, local president, and James Blackwell, TWUA publicity director for the South.

Aldridge pointed out that the January 8 announcement that Celanese would discontinue permanently the dying and finishing of fabrics at Amcelle was the first notification or hint the union had of the action.

Would Affect Others

He said the union believes the number of jobs which would be abolished would be 512 and not the about 400 announced by the firm. The additional lost jobs would come from adding eligible to recall furloughed employes and from workers on jobs related to dyeing and finishing operations.

Aldridge told the commissioners that over 2,000 persons actually would be affected adversely from the loss of 500 more jobs, about 11 per cent of the hourly paid working force at the plant.

Want Unit Here

Aldridge said the union is trying to secure additional information on

Jury Deadlocks In Liquor Case Against Alibi

Conflicting Stories Mark Testimony

Apparently confused by conflicting testimony in the case against owners of Alibi Liquor Store, Inc., which operates Al's Chateau at Baltimore and Mechanic Streets, a jury in Allegany County Circuit Court was unable to reach a verdict last night.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris dismissed the "hung" jury about 7:30 o'clock last night after Foreman William M. Dailey, this city, reported that the 12 men were hopelessly deadlocked in this first jury trial of the January term. They had been deliberating about four and one-half hours when excused.

It was reported the jurors were at first virtually agreed on the third count of the indictment, allowing minors to loaf or loiter where alcoholic beverages are served, but was split about evenly on charges of selling and furnishing beer to minors.

Eldred A. Cromwell and his mother, Mrs. Daisy Cromwell, officers of the corporation, were indicted on charges of selling intoxicants to minors and allowing minors to loiter on the premises on November 9, 1951.

The two complaining witnesses were Barbara Haggerty Hensley, 15, of Keyser, W. Va., and Catherine Bonner, 17, of Cresaptown. Both testified they were married, the former in December after the alleged purchase of beer at the Chateau.

The Hinsley girl said a waitress had served her three bottles of beer. The Bonner girl said she was "not certain she had any beer." Both girls said they were joined by Vernon Shirley, 22, of Short Gap, W. Va., about 25 or 30 minutes after they arrived at the establishment. Later they went to Wills Mountain Inn and returned to the hotel about 2:30 or 3 a. m. they stated.

Shirley testified the girls did not purchase nor were they furnished any beer. "All they had was soft drinks and later we went to Wills Mountain Inn", he said.

Cromwell in denying the sale of intoxicants to the girls, said he had instructed his waitresses not to sell to minors. He said he has never sold to anyone, who to his knowledge was a minor.

Mrs. Lois Conners, a waitress at the establishment, told the jury that she remembered the night the two girls came into the place. They sat in a booth and when she asked them what they wanted they requested beer.

"I would not sell to them as I could see they were not old enough," Mrs. Conners testified.

Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., were attorneys for the Cromwells while Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, and William H Geppert, assistant state's attorney, prosecuted.

Missing Handcar Mystery Solved Before It Started

Western Maryland Railway authorities said last night the mystery of the missing handcar had been solved.

Railway agents and State Police went to the railway's abandoned Eckhart branch line Monday after an unidentified woman said boys were riding the machine. They found no handcar.

Charles V. Barncord, special railway agent, said the condition of the rusted track seemed to show no car had moved over it for some time.

Barncord said he believed the car had been removed as scheduled, some time before it "disappeared" Monday.

Weather

Dismal and dreary were the two best suited words for the description of yesterday's weather here in Cumberland. The overcast skies resulted in a feeling of gloom among the residents. The high temperature of the day as recorded by the official weather station at Constitution Park was 34 and the low registered was 29. At 8 p. m. yesterday the thermometer read 34 degrees and a half-inch of snow and sleet was noted. Precipitation was .29 and humidity was 91 per cent at 6 p. m. Forecast for today is partly cloudy with winds and colder.

Maryland Birth Registration Is High, Riley Says

99.1 Per Cent Average Noted

More than 99 per cent of all babies born in Maryland now receive birth certificates, according to Dr. R. H. Riley, director of the State Department of Health.

Dr. Riley said a recent nationwide survey showed Maryland had a registration completeness of 99.1 per cent in 1950. This figure stood at 97.1 per cent in 1940.

Much of the increase, said Dr. Riley, may be attributed to the hospitals and to physician-attended births. About 95 per cent of all births in the state between 1940 and 1950 are believed to have been medically attended. About 99 per cent of all attended births were reported.

The Department's biggest trouble is in obtaining records of births not attended by a doctor or midwife. The small fraction of unregistered births, Dr. Riley pointed out, consists almost entirely of those not medically attended or those attended by two doctors, each of whom assumes the other has registered the birth.

Many unregistered births come to the attention of the Department at the time of school enrollment, or when a youth applies for a work permit.

Dr. Riley explained that although the state's birth registration system was established in 1898, it was not until about 1912 that records became anywhere near adequate.

He attributed the upsurge in registration largely to increasing demands for birth records for work permits, school enrollment, aid to dependent children, parents' income tax deductions and other purposes.

Dr. Riley also noted that a 1951 law requires parents to report the birth of a child themselves if they do not receive a notice of registration from the department within 10 days.

Delayed birth registration is possible for adults and children more than 12 years of age. Necessary are three documents showing date and place of birth. Two of the documents must show parentage.

Stating that if elected he intends to work for the betterment of Cumberland, Sisk said he wants to keep city taxes at a minimum.

He said he will give his support to construction of an overhead highway bridge from Lindnerville to Greene Street; a centrally located parking lot; return to the system of walk lights on Baltimore Street for the better protection of children and elderly persons; improved traffic conditions on Bedford and Frederick streets with the continuation of Frederick Street through to Bedford Road.

Sisk said he likewise will strive to induce new industries to come to Cumberland but at the same time wants to protect those industries already located here.

Roads Clear But New Cold Wave Heads For Area

More Snow Seen Today, Tomorrow

Rising temperatures last night were clearing area streets and highways of a half-inch glaze of snow, sleet and freezing rain, but more cold weather is expected today.

State Police reported Allegany, Garrett and western Washington County roads slippery but reasonably safe. Chains had been advised earlier in the day.

Traffic had for a time been slowed to a crawl over ice-covered Allegany County highways. G. Bates Chaires, district State Roads Commission engineer, said the county was worst hit of the four in his operating area.

Garrett County roads, normally hardest hit by winter storms, were 50 per cent bare all day, and chains were not needed. By last night they were merely wet.

Visibility became a danger factor in many areas last night as the warmer weather brought a dense fog with it. But cooler temperatures early this morning are expected to dispel most of the haze.

Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder said her crews and equipment were ready to begin cindering and salting Cumberland streets as soon as snow or freezing temperatures set in.

City crewmen got going at about 11 a. m. yesterday when a steady sleet turned to snow. Downtown traffic soon was moving at nearly normal pace.

Both city and State Roads crews took a breather last night but kept their equipment ready to move out again early today if necessary.

West Virginia State Police said road conditions in nearby Mineral and Hampshire counties in West Virginia also were improving with the rise in temperatures.

During yesterday's storm, temperatures ranged from a low 22 degrees at Gambrill State Park west of Frederick to 40 at Elkins, W. Va. Two inches of snow fell in Northern Frederick County, and as much as three inches fell in southern West Virginia.

The Weather Bureau's long-range forecast predicts windy, colder weather and snow flurries today and tomorrow, with more snow Friday and Saturday.

Woman Says She's Guilty Of Perjury

Gets Suspended Reformatory Term

Martha Pfister, formerly of Cresaptown, but now living in Burlington, W. Va., yesterday received a suspended sentence from Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday after she pleaded guilty in Allegany County Circuit Court to a perjury charge.

Judge Harris imposed a sentence not to exceed three years in the Maryland Reformatory For Women. He suspended the sentence and released the woman under supervision of the Parole Department provided she keeps the peace and her behavior is good.

The perjury charge arose from conflicting statements the woman made at two different occasions while under oath. Last October 1, testifying before the grand jury, the Pfister woman said that Norman Dee Beglin on June 11, 1951, placed his fingers in her mouth in attempting to fit a dental plate.

As a result of her testimony, the grand jury indicted Beglin on a charge of practicing dentistry without a license. However, on October 26, when she was testifying at Beglin's trial, she asserted that Beglin did not place his fingers in her mouth. Consequently, Beglin was acquitted of the charge.

In another case yesterday, Associate Judge George Henderson found Mary Click guilty of accepting Welfare Board funds under false pretenses. She was paroled to the custody of her son.

Evelyn L. Wilson, 44, George's Creek area, who had pleaded guilty Monday to aiding and abetting her husband in obtaining $130 illegally from the Welfare Board, received a suspended sentence. She was instructed to repay the money at the rate of $3 per month.

Firm Denies Rumors Of Heavy Hiring At Ballistics Lab

Frostburg Man Gets Suspended Term

Wilbert A. Stevenson, 35-year old manager of the Mountain City Taxi Service in Frostburg, yesterday pleaded guilty in Allegany County Circuit Court to simple assault in an attack last November 24 upon Frostburg Assistant Police Chief Ronald Kreider.

Spectators had crowded into the court room yesterday afternoon, apparently expecting to hear the testimony in the much-discussed case.

However, while the jury was deliberating on another case, Stevenson's attorneys, Earl E. Manges, this city, and Walter Dawson, Oakland, pleaded their client guilty to the fifth count of the indictment. State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher agreed to dismiss the more serious counts of wilful and malicious assault with intent to kill Kreider.

The attorneys then retired to chambers with Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris to inform him of the background in the case.

Judge Harris then sentenced Stevenson to three years in the Maryland House of Correction and suspended the sentence provided that by next week the defendant pays $1,000 to the injured man to cover the cost of his hospitalization and treatment. Judge Harris also stipulated that Stevenson must be of good behavior, refrain from use of liquor, attend church each Sunday and remain under the supervision of a parole officer.

Kreider exhibited a deep scar on the left side of his face when he appeared in court yesterday. Some 34 stitches were required to mend the severe cuts about his face and head. Stevenson suffered a bruised jaw and cut cheek in a fracas which occurred in an alley between the Palace Theatre and Frostburg Department Store.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said that Kreider could assign no reason for the attack upon him. The prosecutor added that Kreider and Stevenson had been friends before the occurrence. Witnesses indicated that Stevenson had been drinking the evening of the assault.

Judge Finds Keister Guilty In Man's Death

Sentence Will Follow Probe

Gene Gilbert Keister, 24-year-old Cresaptown man, was found guilty yesterday in Circuit Court by Associate Judge George Henderson on a charge of manslaughter by automobile.

Judge Henderson withheld sentencing Keister until after he has had a report from the parole officer on the man's background.

Keister was found guilty in the hit-run death of James Richard "Dude" Long, 52-year-old B. and O. Railroad worker on Christmas night on the Oldtown Road a short distance beyond the Evitts Creek Bridge.

In finding Keister guilty, Judge Henderson said testimony in the case, even that of two girl friends of the accused, was to the effect that a "drinking party" had been in progress during the afternoon and the court stated that the girls admitted he was "under the influence of intoxicants."

When he was on the stand Keister said he "hit something, but could not be sure it was a man." He said he failed to stop because he "was scared."

A defense witness, Clarence Van Horn of Paw, Paw, W. Va., testified he saw Long as the man began crossing the highway about 50 feet in front of his car. Van Horn said he applied his brakes and that at the same time he noticed Keister's car draw abreast of his own machine in trying to pass.

Van Horn said Long was about in the middle of the left lane when his by Keister's car. He said Long was knocked about 45 or 50 feet by the impact.

Burglars Raid Ridgeley Legion Home, Get $75

Office, Lounge Fixtures Wrecked

Burglars ransacked the Ridgeley Legion Home, wrecked office and lounge fixtures and made off with $75 to $80 early yesterday morning.

The raid was discovered by W. S. Moore, maintenance man at the home, when he reported for work at about 7:30 a. m. yesterday.

Archie Lough, finance officer of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, said the money was taken from a juke box and from desk drawers.

Legion members said there was no indication that entry had been forced. This, they said, would indicate someone hid in the building when the stewart locked the doors at midnight Monday, or that a door may not have been securely locked.

The burglars pried open locked filing cabinets and desk drawers, dumped the contents on the floor, wrecked a juke box and several wall boxes, examined the safe but did not open it.

Then they raided the icebox, made sandwiches and left by some unknown escape route.

Ridgeley Police Chief H. L. Henry is investigating, assisted by Cumberland Detective Thomas J. See.

15 Dairies Win Grade A Milk Ratings Here

Health Department Announces Results

Grade A ratings were granted by the Allegany County Health Department yesterday to 15 area dairies which sell milk to this city.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, deputy state health officer, said the gradings for milk sold in Cumberland and vicinity were determined by investigations held between July 1 and December 31.

Pasteurizing plants, all of which won Grade A ratings, are:

Arnold Dairy, Frostburg; Barton Dairy, Pinto; Dairy Dale Dairy, Meyersdale, Pa.; Dashiell Dairy, Midland; Farmers Dairy, Cumberland; Glen Savage Dairy, Mt. Savage.

Happy Hills Dairy, RFD Frostburg; Liberty Dairy, Cumberland; Mason Dairy, Cresaptown; Royale Dairy, Keyser, W. Va.; Turner Dairy, RFD Frostburg, and Queen City Dairy, Cumberland.

Gradings for retail raw milk dealers are: Collins Dairy, Rawlings, Grade B; Pancake Dairy, New Creek, W. Va., Grade A; A. W. Ravenscroft Dairy, Westernport, Grade A, and Frank Ravenscroft Dairy, Westernport, Grade A.

The above dairies process and distribute some 7,000 gallons of milk in the city each day.

This total includes about 30 gallons of raw milk distributed in the city and another 130 gallons of raw milk delivered throughout the county.

The grading of the dairies is made following analyses of periodic tests of milk by the State Health Department and inspections by sanitarians of the farm producers.

All dairy firms also make their own tests of milk as it is received at their plants.

Three More Dogs Shot In Ridgeley; Examination Set

Ridgeley Police Chief H. L. Henry said last night he has killed three more dogs because they showed symptoms of rabies.

So far, said Chief Henry, he has had to destroy nine dogs in the past eight days because they were frothing at the mouth. Several attempted to attack him when he approached them.

Henry said he has sent the head of one dog to the State Health Department in Charleston to determine if the dogs were mad.

Witnesses disagreed with speculation the dogs had been poisoned, he added. Henry warned all dog owners to keep their pets tied or impounded.

Some areas of Virginia reportedly have been afflicted with rabid foxes.

Her husband, Boyd Sponaugle, 509 Baltimore Avenue, said he had obtained a Juvenile Court warrant for her arrest after she vanished January 15. He said no quarrel preceded the disappearance. See, who said he knew Mrs. Sponaugle's whereabouts, added that she had obtained employment.

County Commissioners To Ask Celanese To Reconsider Plan For Closing Amcelle Dyehouse

Blancke Turns Down Conference Request, Reveals $4½ Million Improvement Plan

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners will ask the Celanese Corporation of America to reconsider its decision to discontinue the Amcelle Dyehouse.

William H. Lemmert, president, told officials of Local 1874, Textile Workers of America (CIO), that the Board will be glad to cooperate in efforts to retain the unit at the local plant.

The Board said it will draft a letter to the Celanese Corporation, through H. C. Givens, Jr., Amcelle plant manager, asking that the dyehouse be kept in operation at the corporation's parent plant here.

City Promises Aid

Similar aid on the project was promised by the Mayor and Council of Cumberland following a similar conference Monday morning.

Officials of the Celanese union met yesterday with the county commissioners to present a resume of the union's position on the company's announcement that the dyeing and finishing of fabrics at the Amcelle plant would be discontinued this summer.

Major points in the union's position were presented by Playford Aldridge, local president, and James Blackwell, TWUA publicity director for the South.

Aldridge pointed out that the January 8 announcement that Celanese would discontinue permanently the dying and finishing of fabrics at Amcelle was the first notification or hint the union had of the action.

Would Affect Others

He said the union believes the number of jobs which would be abolished would be 512 and not the about 400 announced by the firm. The additional lost jobs would come from adding eligible to recall furloughed employes and from workers on jobs related to dyeing and finishing operations.

Aldridge told the commissioners that over 2,000 persons actually would be affected adversely from the loss of 500 more jobs, about 11 per cent of the hourly paid working force at the plant.

Want Unit Here

Aldridge said the union is trying to secure additional information on

Jury Deadlocks In Liquor Case Against Alibi

Conflicting Stories Mark Testimony

Apparently confused by conflicting testimony in the case against owners of Alibi Liquor Store, Inc., which operates Al's Chateau at Baltimore and Mechanic Streets, a jury in Allegany County Circuit Court was unable to reach a verdict last night.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris dismissed the "hung" jury about 7:30 o'clock last night after Foreman William M. Dailey, this city, reported that the 12 men were hopelessly deadlocked in this first jury trial of the January term. They had been deliberating about four and one-half hours when excused.

It was reported the jurors were at first virtually agreed on the third count of the indictment, allowing minors to loaf or loiter where alcoholic beverages are served, but was split about evenly on charges of selling and furnishing beer to minors.

Eldred A. Cromwell and his mother, Mrs. Daisy Cromwell, officers of the corporation, were indicted on charges of selling intoxicants to minors and allowing minors to loiter on the premises on November 9, 1951.

The two complaining witnesses were Barbara Haggerty Hensley, 15, of Keyser, W. Va., and Catherine Bonner, 17, of Cresaptown. Both testified they were married, the former in December after the alleged purchase of beer at the Chateau.

The Hinsley girl said a waitress had served her three bottles of beer. The Bonner girl said she was "not certain she had any beer." Both girls said they were joined by Vernon Shirley, 22, of Short Gap, W. Va., about 25 or 30 minutes after they arrived at the establishment. Later they went to Wills Mountain Inn and returned to the hotel about 2:30 or 3 a. m. they stated.

Shirley testified the girls did not purchase nor were they furnished any beer. "All they had was soft drinks and later we went to Wills Mountain Inn", he said.

Cromwell in denying the sale of intoxicants to the girls, said he had instructed his waitresses not to sell to minors. He said he has never sold to anyone, who to his knowledge was a minor.

Mrs. Lois Conners, a waitress at the establishment, told the jury that she remembered the night the two girls came into the place. They sat in a booth and when she asked them what they wanted they requested beer.

"I would not sell to them as I could see they were not old enough," Mrs. Conners testified.

Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., were attorneys for the Cromwells while Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, and William H Geppert, assistant state's attorney, prosecuted.

Missing Handcar Mystery Solved Before It Started

Western Maryland Railway authorities said last night the mystery of the missing handcar had been solved.

Railway agents and State Police went to the railway's abandoned Eckhart branch line Monday after an unidentified woman said boys were riding the machine. They found no handcar.

Charles V. Barncord, special railway agent, said the condition of the rusted track seemed to show no car had moved over it for some time.

Barncord said he believed the car had been removed as scheduled, some time before it "disappeared" Monday.

Weather

Dismal and dreary were the two best suited words for the description of yesterday's weather here in Cumberland. The overcast skies resulted in a feeling of gloom among the residents. The high temperature of the day as recorded by the official weather station at Constitution Park was 34 and the low registered was 29. At 8 p. m. yesterday the thermometer read 34 degrees and a half-inch of snow and sleet was noted. Precipitation was .29 and humidity was 91 per cent at 6 p. m. Forecast for today is partly cloudy with winds and colder.

Maryland Birth Registration Is High, Riley Says

99.1 Per Cent Average Noted

More than 99 per cent of all babies born in Maryland now receive birth certificates, according to Dr. R. H. Riley, director of the State Department of Health.

Dr. Riley said a recent nationwide survey showed Maryland had a registration completeness of 99.1 per cent in 1950. This figure stood at 97.1 per cent in 1940.

Much of the increase, said Dr. Riley, may be attributed to the hospitals and to physician-attended births. About 95 per cent of all births in the state between 1940 and 1950 are believed to have been medically attended. About 99 per cent of all attended births were reported.

The Department's biggest trouble is in obtaining records of births not attended by a doctor or midwife. The small fraction of unregistered births, Dr. Riley pointed out, consists almost entirely of those not medically attended or those attended by two doctors, each of whom assumes the other has registered the birth.

Many unregistered births come to the attention of the Department at the time of school enrollment, or when a youth applies for a work permit.

Dr. Riley explained that although the state's birth registration system was established in 1898, it was not until about 1912 that records became anywhere near adequate.

He attributed the upsurge in registration largely to increasing demands for birth records for work permits, school enrollment, aid to dependent children, parents' income tax deductions and other purposes.

Dr. Riley also noted that a 1951 law requires parents to report the birth of a child themselves if they do not receive a notice of registration from the department within 10 days.

Delayed birth registration is possible for adults and children more than 12 years of age. Necessary are three documents showing date and place of birth. Two of the documents must show parentage.

KEITH T. SISK

Keith T. Sisk Will Seek Seat On City Council

Eight Candidates Are Now In Field

Keith T. Sisk, 306 Bedford Street, a staff employe of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory of the Hercules Powder Company, announced last night that he is a candidate for City Council subject to the March elections.

Sisk, a native of Ridgeley, W. Va., but a resident of Cumberland for the past 20 years, is making his first attempt for election to public office.

Formerly employed at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, Sisk left there to join the staff at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory seven years ago. He is well known in the area as a photographer.

Independent Platform

In announcing his candidacy, Sisk said he is running on an independent platform determined as a result of his interest in city affairs over a number of years.

Stating that if elected he intends to work for the betterment of Cumberland, Sisk said he wants to keep city taxes at a minimum.

He said he will give his support to construction of an overhead highway bridge from Lindnerville to Greene Street; a centrally located parking lot; return to the system of walk lights on Baltimore Street for the better protection of children and elderly persons; improved traffic conditions on Bedford and Frederick streets with the continuation of Frederick Street through to Bedford Road.

Sisk said he likewise will strive to induce new industries to come to Cumberland but at the same time wants to protect those industries already located here.

Sisk is married to the former Miss Edna Daugherty and they have two children, Craig, 6 years, and Jane, 2 months.

With his announcement Sisk becomes the eighth candidate for City Council. Others are Edgar Reynolds, former street commissioner; William J. Edwards, former water commissioner; William V. Roads Clear But New Cold Wave Heads For Area

Rising temperatures last night were clearing area streets and highways of a half-inch glaze of snow, sleet and freezing rain, but more cold weather is expected today.

State Police reported Allegany, Garrett and western Washington County roads slippery but reasonably safe. Chains had been advised earlier in the day.

Traffic had for a time been slowed to a crawl over ice-covered Allegany County highways. G. Bates Chaires, district State Roads Commission engineer, said the county was worst hit of the four in his operating area.

Garrett County roads, normally hardest hit by winter storms, were 50 per cent bare all day, and chains were not needed. By last night they were merely wet.

Visibility became a danger factor in many areas last night as the warmer weather brought a dense fog with it. But cooler temperatures early this morning are expected to dispel most of the haze.

Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder said her crews and equipment were ready to begin cindering and salting Cumberland streets as soon as snow or freezing temperatures set in.

City crewmen got going at about 11 a. m. yesterday when a steady sleet turned to snow. Downtown traffic soon was moving at nearly normal pace.

Both city and State Roads crews took a breather last night but kept their equipment ready to move out again early today if necessary.

West Virginia State Police said road conditions in nearby Mineral and Hampshire counties in West Virginia also were improving with the rise in temperatures.

During yesterday's storm, temperatures ranged from a low 22 degrees at Gambrill State Park west of Frederick to 40 at Elkins, W. Va. Two inches of snow fell in Northern Frederick County, and as much as three inches fell in southern West Virginia.

The Weather Bureau's long-range forecast predicts windy, colder weather and snow flurries today and tomorrow, with more snow Friday and Saturday.

Woman Says She's Guilty Of Perjury

Gets Suspended Reformatory Term

Martha Pfister, formerly of Cresaptown, but now living in Burlington, W. Va., yesterday received a suspended sentence from Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday after she pleaded guilty in Allegany County Circuit Court to a perjury charge.

Judge Harris imposed a sentence not to exceed three years in the Maryland Reformatory For Women. He suspended the sentence and released the woman under supervision of the Parole Department provided she keeps the peace and her behavior is good.

The perjury charge arose from conflicting statements the woman made at two different occasions while under oath. Last October 1, testifying before the grand jury, the Pfister woman said that Norman Dee Beglin on June 11, 1951, placed his fingers in her mouth in attempting to fit a dental plate.

As a result of her testimony, the grand jury indicted Beglin on a charge of practicing dentistry without a license. However, on October 26, when she was testifying at Beglin's trial, she asserted that Beglin did not place his fingers in her mouth. Consequently, Beglin was acquitted of the charge.

In another case yesterday, Associate Judge George Henderson found Mary Click guilty of accepting Welfare Board funds under false pretenses. She was paroled to the custody of her son.

Evelyn L. Wilson, 44, George's Creek area, who had pleaded guilty Monday to aiding and abetting her husband in obtaining $130 illegally from the Welfare Board, received a suspended sentence. She was instructed to repay the money at the rate of $3 per month.

Firm Denies Rumors Of Heavy Hiring At Ballistics Lab

A spokesman for Allegany Ballistics Laboratory yesterday announced that the plant is not hiring at the present time.

Rumor has been floating around the area and the plant, he noted, that several hundred persons are to be employed at ABL, but this is not correct.

"In fact," he said, "it is doubtful if we will take on more than 50 or 60 people in all of 1952, and these will be highly skilled technicians, including replacements."

The spokesman for the firm said there is on file at ABL, more than 5,000 applications for work. Few of these are trained or qualified for the type of employment existing at the laboratory.

At the personnel office of ABL, an official said, "it is a shame these unemployed people, who must watch every dime, waste their money for gasoline to drive out here when we can't help them. We only wish we could, but there are no openings."

Admits Simple Assault Upon Policeman

Frostburg Man Gets Suspended Term

Wilbert A. Stevenson, 35-year old manager of the Mountain City Taxi Service in Frostburg, yesterday pleaded guilty in Allegany County Circuit Court to simple assault in an attack last November 24 upon Frostburg Assistant Police Chief Ronald Kreider.

Spectators had crowded into the court room yesterday afternoon, apparently expecting to hear the testimony in the much-discussed case.

However, while the jury was deliberating on another case, Stevenson's attorneys, Earl E. Manges, this city, and Walter Dawson, Oakland, pleaded their client guilty to the fifth count of the indictment. State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher agreed to dismiss the more serious counts of wilful and malicious assault with intent to kill Kreider.

The attorneys then retired to chambers with Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris to inform him of the background in the case.

Judge Harris then sentenced Stevenson to three years in the Maryland House of Correction and suspended the sentence provided that by next week the defendant pays $1,000 to the injured man to cover the cost of his hospitalization and treatment. Judge Harris also stipulated that Stevenson must be of good behavior, refrain from use of liquor, attend church each Sunday and remain under the supervision of a parole officer.

Kreider exhibited a deep scar on the left side of his face when he appeared in court yesterday. Some 34 stitches were required to mend the severe cuts about his face and head. Stevenson suffered a bruised jaw and cut cheek in a fracas which occurred in an alley between the Palace Theatre and Frostburg Department Store.

Judge Finds Keister Guilty In Man's Death

Sentence Will Follow Probe

Gene Gilbert Keister, 24-year-old Cresaptown man, was found guilty yesterday in Circuit Court by Associate Judge George Henderson on a charge of manslaughter by automobile.

Judge Henderson withheld sentencing Keister until after he has had a report from the parole officer on the man's background.

Keister was found guilty in the hit-run death of James Richard "Dude" Long, 52-year-old B. and O. Railroad worker on Christmas night on the Oldtown Road a short distance beyond the Evitts Creek Bridge.

In finding Keister guilty, Judge Henderson said testimony in the case, even that of two girl friends of the accused, was to the effect that a "drinking party" had been in progress during the afternoon and the court stated that the girls admitted he was "under the influence of intoxicants."

When he was on the stand Keister said he "hit something, but could not be sure it was a man." He said he failed to stop because he "was scared."

A defense witness, Clarence Van Horn of Paw, Paw, W. Va., testified he saw Long as the man began crossing the highway about 50 feet in front of his car. Van Horn said he applied his brakes and that at the same time he noticed Keister's car draw abreast of his own machine in trying to pass.

Van Horn said Long was about in the middle of the left lane when his by Keister's car. He said Long was knocked about 45 or 50 feet by the impact.

Burglars Raid Ridgeley Legion Home, Get $75

Office, Lounge Fixtures Wrecked

Burglars ransacked the Ridgeley Legion Home, wrecked office and lounge fixtures and made off with $75 to $80 early yesterday morning.

The raid was discovered by W. S. Moore, maintenance man at the home, when he reported for work at about 7:30 a. m. yesterday.

Archie Lough, finance officer of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, said the money was taken from a juke box and from desk drawers.

Legion members said there was no indication that entry had been forced. This, they said, would indicate someone hid in the building when the stewart locked the doors at midnight Monday, or that a door may not have been securely locked.

The burglars pried open locked filing cabinets and desk drawers, dumped the contents on the floor, wrecked a juke box and several wall boxes, examined the safe but did not open it.

Then they raided the icebox, made sandwiches and left by some unknown escape route.

Ridgeley Police Chief H. L. Henry is investigating, assisted by Cumberland Detective Thomas J. See.

15 Dairies Win Grade A Milk Ratings Here

Health Department Announces Results

Grade A ratings were granted by the Allegany County Health Department yesterday to 15 area dairies which sell milk to this city.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, deputy state health officer, said the gradings for milk sold in Cumberland and vicinity were determined by investigations held between July 1 and December 31.

Pasteurizing plants, all of which won Grade A ratings, are:

Arnold Dairy, Frostburg; Barton Dairy, Pinto; Dairy Dale Dairy, Meyersdale, Pa.; Dashiell Dairy, Midland; Farmers Dairy, Cumberland; Glen Savage Dairy, Mt. Savage.

Happy Hills Dairy, RFD Frostburg; Liberty Dairy, Cumberland; Mason Dairy, Cresaptown; Royale Dairy, Keyser, W. Va.; Turner Dairy, RFD Frostburg, and Queen City Dairy, Cumberland.

Gradings for retail raw milk dealers are: Collins Dairy, Rawlings, Grade B; Pancake Dairy, New Creek, W. Va., Grade A; A. W. Ravenscroft Dairy, Westernport, Grade A, and Frank Ravenscroft Dairy, Westernport, Grade A.

The above dairies process and distribute some 7,000 gallons of milk in the city each day.

This total includes about 30 gallons of raw milk distributed in the city and another 130 gallons of raw milk delivered throughout the county.

The grading of the dairies is made following analyses of periodic tests of milk by the State Health Department and inspections by sanitarians of the farm producers.

All dairy firms also make their own tests of milk as it is received at their plants.

Three More Dogs Shot In Ridgeley; Examination Set

Ridgeley Police Chief H. L. Henry said last night he has killed three more dogs because they showed symptoms of rabies.

So far, said Chief Henry, he has had to destroy nine dogs in the past eight days because they were frothing at the mouth. Several attempted to attack him when he approached them.

Henry said he has sent the head of one dog to the State Health Department in Charleston to determine if the dogs were mad.

Witnesses disagreed with speculation the dogs had been poisoned, he added. Henry warned all dog owners to keep their pets tied or impounded.

Some areas of Virginia reportedly have been afflicted with rabid foxes.
